Senate Passes Farm Measure, 93 To 2

Veto Expected If House OKs Present Form

Plan To Hike Price Props By 'Isolating' Surpluses Adopted

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — The Senate passed its mammoth election-year farm bill tonight amid predictions that it will be vetoed by President Eisenhower if it reaches him in its present form.

The measure contains billions of dollars in new benefits for the farmers, whose incomes have been falling off for five years.

But it also carries features which are repugnant to the administration, running counter to the agricultural policy Eisenhower has fought for since 1953.

The final vote was 93-2. Sens. Bush (R-Conn) and Flanders (R-Vt) voted no.

The bill now goes back to the House, where an uncertain fate awaits it. If the House agrees, a Senate-House Conference Committee will be appointed to try to compromise vast and fundamental differences in the legislation passed by the Senate tonight and that approved by the House last May 16.

Soil Bank Proposal

The Senate bill contains a new soil bank proposal under which farmers could receive up to $1,200,000,000 this year by withdrawing land from crop production and devoting some of it to conservation purposes.

This feature aims at pulling 45 to 50 million acres—about one-eighth of all cultivated cropland—out of production in a new attack on the surpluses problem.

A last minute change, approved 50-44 wrote into the bill a plan to boost the price support levels of wheat, cotton and corn by "isolating" vast surpluses of these crops that are now taken into account in figuring parity prices and thus force price levels down.

"Dual Parity" System

A major administration setback in the Senate was the decision authorizing "dual parity" in fixing support levels. Under this, the higher of either old or new parity formulas would be used. Opponents estimated it would cost the taxpayers an additional 400-million-dollars-a-year in farmers' benefits.

Less than an hour before the vote, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) stated flatly there was enough material in it to warrant a veto—"perhaps three or four vetoes."

Aiken was the administration's spokesman during the long debate on the bill.

In its present form, he told the Senate, it would "demoralize our farm economy.

"It would be better to continue under the present law than to adopt the tortured and battered bill which is now before us," Aiken declared.

Ike Has Urged Speed

But, in one of the closing speeches, Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif) expressed hope that the Senate-House conferees will be able to work out "a satisfactory bill" which Eisenhower "in good conscience will feel justified in approving."

The President has asked for the utmost speed in completing a comprehensive farm bill, pointing out that the planting season is almost here—and has even started in the South.

This need for speed may help to solve some of the big differences between House and Senate. The major problem is the House vote to return to the World War II system of supporting basic crops rigidly at 90 per cent of parity.

The administration favors a flexible system under which they can be supported from 75 to 90 per cent, according to supply conditions.

Negro Group Made Car Rides Available To Bus Boycotters

Thousands Spent By Organization, Trial Evidence Discloses

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 19 (AP) — State's attorneys produced testimony today that a newly formed Negro organization spent several thousand dollars to make automobile rides available to Negroes during the boycott against segregated city buses.

The evidence came during the trial of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., first of 90 defendants called to answer for the mass Negro protest.

Only three prosecution witnesses were called the first day. Court recessed until 9 a.m. tomorrow.

King was identified as the president of the Montgomery Improvement Assn. which was organized the same day the boycott started last Dec. 5, and the Baptist minister's signature was on numerous checks introduced as evidence.

Association Officers Tesify

Another clergyman, the Rev. A. W. Wilson, a member of the association's executive committee, said the purpose of the new organization was to improve the "general status of the colored people in Montgomery," and that as far as he knew the association has done nothing besides seek "better treatment" on the buses.

Another witness, Mrs. Erna Dungee, financial secretary of the association, identified bank deposit slips totaling approximately $30,000.

She also identified photostatic copies of checks signed by herself and King and one other officer, totaling approximately $4,800 for payment of gasoline.

Mrs. Dungee said the gasoline was "used to ride colored people, people who wanted to ride."

She also testified that Negroes received regular weekly salaries of $24 as drivers in a motor pool which has provided transportation for the boycotting members of her race.

Indictments Upheld

At one point during the opening day of the first of a series of trials, Circuit Judge Eugene Carter observed that the state had presented sufficient testimony to show that a conspiracy could have existed to boycott Montgomery City Lines, Inc.

The state law under which the mass indictments were returned prohibits a conspiracy or any other agreement to hinder the operation of a lawful business unless there is "just cause or legal excuse" for the agreement.

The grand jury indictments withstood their first court test earlier today when Carter overruled a defense petition attacking them as unconstitutional.

Malenkov Says Soviet One-Man Rule Impossible

LONDON, March 19 (AP)—Soviet ex-Premier Georgi M. Malenkov was quoted as saying tonight that a Stalin dictatorship can never happen again in his country.

He was quoted by Labor party members of Parliament who entertained the deposed Premier at dinner during his official tour of Britain.

Richard Crossman, one of the Laborites, told newsmen later the other guests asked Malenkov whether such a rule could be established again.

Right To Dissent

"He said very, very clearly it could not happen again, that collective government now has been firmly established and that dictatorship could not return," Crossman said.

Another of the Laborites, Sidney Silverman, said:

"We did not ask him (Malenkov) about his association with Stalin or his position in the Soviet hierarchy now, but he gave us the impression he did not like Stalin."

Silverman also quoted Malenkov as saying "collective leadership is now established, along with the right to dissent outside the collective leadership without being branded a traitor to the leadership and party and people."

Russian "Cleaned Up"

Malenkov is visiting Britain as head of a delegation from the Soviet power industry.

Crossman said the Laborites "subjected Mr. Malenkov to a two-hour cross examination."

"He repeatedly said 'we have cleaned up Russia'," Crossman told newsmen. "He tried to impress on us that we need not worry, that they had stopped dictatorship—that they had stopped the wicked things.

"I cannot say how many of us he convinced but he certainly tried hard."

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C., March 19 (AP)—More than 1,800 men and equipment of a reinforced Marine battalion from Camp Lejeune boarded four ships here today prior to embarking tomorrow on a routine training exercise in the Mediterranean area.

Loading of the equipment was completed without incident by 5 p.m. The men then filed aboard the four ships which are to leave tomorrow at 6 a.m. for the exercise, expected to last three to four months.

Margaret To Be Married April 21 At Independence

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—Margaret Truman said today she will marry newspaperman Clifton Daniel in a "very simple ceremony" Saturday, April 21 in a little church at Independence, Mo., where her parents were wed 37 years ago.

The 32-year-old daughter of former President Harry Truman said she will wear a lace and tulle street-length gown of beige—"my favorite color"—and will have only two attendants.

The reception will be at the Truman home in Independence, "for a few very old, very close friends." Miss Truman also disclosed at a news conference that honeymoon plans are still up in the air and "it's up to Mr. Daniel."

The wedding will take place at 4 p.m. in Trinity Episcopal Church.

Miss Truman, who recently said she'd have a hard time finding bridesmaids because most of her friends are married, will have as matrons of honor Mrs. John E. Horton, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Coleman Branton, of Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Horton is the former Drucie Snyder, daughter of John Snyder, an old friend of Truman and his secretary of the Treasury. Mrs. Branton is the former Mary Shaw.

Daniel, 43, assistant foreign news editor for the New York Times, will have a best man and two ushers.

Miss Truman said she could not disclose their names yet, but they will be "his old friends." Daniel did not attend the news conference.

Ike's Foreign Aid Program Facing Slash

President Asks $4.8 Billion, Long-Range Commitment Power

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $4,859,975,000 in new foreign aid money, and authority to make long-range aid commitments.

He may have to settle for less. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the GOP leader in the Senate, frowned on the long-range idea. Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, talked of cutting the money request.

Eisenhower anticipated objections to the size of the sum, which compares with $2,700,000,000 Congress appropriated for the current fiscal year ending June 30. He stressed that "the need is urgent" and emphasized that Russia is still a menace to the world.

"In Asia and the Middle East," Eisenhower's message to Congress said, "serious risk of aggression still exists."

$3 Billion Military Aid

For that part of the world, he asked $1,640,000,000 in military assistance. He put the over-all military total at three billion dollars, including a new $530,000,000 plan for getting advanced missiles and other weapons into Allied hands.

The message also, as expected, asked for presidential authority to make commitments up to 10 years to "assist less developed countries in long term projects important to their development."

Congress traditionally prefers to handle foreign aid on a year-to-year basis and this long-range request, as well as the amount of money, appeared headed for trouble.

Eisenhower said funds for the long-range commitments "would come from appropriations for non-military mutual security, and would not exceed an aggregate of 100 million dollars in any year." Thus the total over 10 years could amount to an even billion dollars.

Richards "Doubtful"

Richards said "I think it was a sound message in principle...as to the $4,900,000,000 over-all figure, it seems to me that's too much. As to how much the figure should be cut, the committee hearings should reveal that."

"As to the long-term commitment money, I am doubtful about that."

Knowland said in a statement: "Except as to specific public works projects that may be presented to and approved by the Congress, I do not look with favor upon commitments for 10 years or other long periods."

He also indicated opposition to voting large sums, saying:

"Our budget is not yet balanced. Our national debt is over 280 billion dollars. Our individual citizens and our free enterprise system are carrying heavy tax burdens."

End To 155-Day Westinghouse Tieup Up To IUE

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—An end to the 155-day Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike hinged today on whether the union would approve a new compromise peace plan.

Prospects appeared good the deal would win approval of the 75-man Westinghouse Conference Board, representing the 30 striking locals of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The conference board has the final say on the settlement, which was worked out over the weekend by union President James B. Carey and Westinghouse Vice President John D. Blasier. Carey was understood to be urging fellow IUE leaders to support the settlement plan.

The peace pact is basically the same as that recommended two weeks ago by a three man panel of government mediators.

Russia Pays U.S. For Plane Shot Down By MIGs

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — Russia has paid the United States $724,947—half the costs involved—for shooting down a Navy patrol bomber in the Bering Sea last June 22, the State Department disclosed today.

That was the amount for which the Soviet Union was billed after Secretary of State Dulles agreed to accept Russia's offer.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said this was the first time Russia or any of its satellites ever had paid for planes knocked down or damaged in various incidents since World War II. The United States has tried unsuccessfully to get compensation in several other cases.

Note Insists Frontier Violated

A Soviet note delivered by the Embassy here last Saturday enclosed the $724,947 check but insisted, as the Russians have all along, that the American plane had violated Soviet frontiers.

The United States, in prodding the Russians for payment in January, said a careful investigation showed that the two-engine Neptune was attacked near St. Lawrence Island, at least 24 nautical miles from the nearest Soviet land. This is midway between Alaska and Russia.

Seven Crewmen Injured

The U.S. note said the plane at no time was any closer to Russian soil but "was attacked without warning by Soviet fighter aircraft believed to be of the MIG-jet type."

Seven of the plane's 11 crewmen were burned or injured when it went down last June 24. The other four were unhurt. The plane crash-landed in flames on the beach of St. Lawrence Island.

The agreement on payment of half the costs was worked out between Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov while they were in San Francisco for the 10th anniversary conference of the United Nations last June.

Red Advance In Asia Slowed, Graham Says

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said today the advance of communism in Asia has been slowed to a walk but Red gains are still being made among young intellectuals, particularly university students.

He told a news conference that dollars alone will never meet the Communist intellectual appeal.

"What we need is an intellectual answer to communism and that answer is Christianity," he said.

Atlantic Storms Cause Injuries To 90 Aboard Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, England, March 19 (AP) — Atlantic storms caused injuries to 90 persons aboard the British liner Queen Mary over the weekend.

On her arrival today, ambulances took six of the injured to Southampton hospitals. Two others were landed and taken to hospitals at Cherbourg, France.

Other passengers and crew members were treated for cuts and bruises in the ship's hospital.

It was estimated that in the five dining halls, 5,000 pieces of crockery were smashed.

"It was bad for four days," said Capt. Donald Sorrell. "There were gales up to 70 miles an hour and waves reached 50 feet."

Greek And Turk Cypriots Clash With 30 Injured

VASILIA, Cyprus, March 19 (AP)—Smoldering resentments exploded into wild rioting today between Greek and Turk Cypriots. More than 30 persons were injured, many of them women and children.

It was the biggest battle thus far between the majority and main minority communities on this British-ruled eastern Mediterranean isle. Greek-origin Cypriots want union with Greece. Their Turk-origin neighbors generally are for continued British rule or, if that ends, a return of the isle to Turkey.

Just how the fighting began today was not clear.

Maddened villagers with sticks, knives and clubs waged the bloody two-hour fight. British security forces were rushed to the town and it took them nearly a half hour to restore peace.

At least 15 Turkish women and children were taken to a hospital at Yrenia, 12 miles west of here.

Authorities imposed an immediate curfew on the village.

Adlai Would Be Satisfied With 55% Minn. Vote

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—Claims and counterclaims from Democratic rivals crackled through last minute political skirmishing in advance of Minnesota's vital presidential primary tomorrow.

Adlai E. Stevenson said he would be satisfied with 60 or even 55 per cent of the Democratic vote. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee figures 30 per cent would add up to victory for him—but that he will "do much better than that."

Outcome Anybody's Guess

What will happen tomorrow is a guess. Each man might claim to be a winner on the basis of identical figures.

The state's 3,868 polling places open at 8 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. No returns are counted until the closing hour. The Weather Bureau expects the skies to be partly cloudy with temperatures ranging up to 32 to 40 degrees.

Kefauver In Washington

Kefauver was back in Washington for the tussle over the farm bill. He repeated there that he has been on the upgrade in Minnesota for a week and that he has a good chance of carrying four or five of the state's nine congressional districts. Each district has two national convention votes.

In effect, it's no contest for President Eisenhower in the Republican primary. Sen. William F. Knowland of California was put on the ballot before the President bid for another term. But he is backing Eisenhower and making no attempt to collect votes.

Negro Brothers Convicted For Attack On Ala. Student

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 19 (AP)—Two Negro brothers were convicted today of assault and battery for an attack on a University of Alabama freshman which they blamed on their bitterness against treatment of Autherine Lucy.

An all-white Circuit Court jury returned the verdict after deliberating 20 minutes, fixing a fine of $500 and recommending "maximum imprisonment."

Judge Reuben Wright then sentenced Arthur Washington, 23, and John Washington, 19, to six months in jail for the Feb. 14 beating of Samuel Perrin Taylor, 19, engineering student.

They were indicted for assault with intent to murder, a felony, after the relatives of Taylor insisted on a jury trial for the Negroes.

Punishment on conviction of assault with intent to murder is 2 to 20 years in prison.

The brothers didn't appeal the verdict. There was no demonstration by about 100 persons in the courtroom.

"Was it whisky that brought on this cowardly assault?" Deputy Solicitor Fred Nicol asked the jury in his final summation. "No, they had partaken of distilled hatred of mankind. It was not distilled by anyone in this state."

Defense Atty. William Allen called Taylor a "victim of circumstances."

"The main provocation," he said, "was the tenseness of the situation here at the university and at Tuscaloosa at that time. There was no malice toward Taylor."

Up To 23-Inch Snowfall Hits 14-State Area

12-Foot Drifts Stop Cars, Isolate Towns; At Least 125 Dead

[By The Associated Press]

The second paralyzing blizzard in 48 hours swept northward over the eastern seaboard last night. On the eve of spring, it smothered most normal activities with up to 23 inches of snow.

Nature's double-fisted assault hit a 14-state area. At least 125 storm-connected deaths were counted. Most of these were in traffic accidents or caused by heart attacks brought on by snow-shoveling.

By states, the death totals were: New York 30; New Jersey 23; Connecticut 11; Rhode Island 10; Massachusetts 18; New Hampshire 1; Maine 5; Pennsylvania 7; Delaware 1; Maryland 3; Virginia 4, Ohio 12. Vermont, West Virginia and the District of Columbia also were hit by the storm but reported no deaths.

In New Jersey's rural counties and on eastern Long Island gale winds lashed the snow into 12-foot drifts. Some communities were virtually isolated for the weekend. A state of emergency was declared in some communities and counties.

Worst Storm Since 1947

The double-header storm, worst in the East since 1947, began to peter out, however, in New York and the lower tier of states late Monday night.

But as it raged north along the jagged New England coast it began to deal heavy blows to coastal New Hampshire and Maine. The snowfall was expected to continue to midday Tuesday there.

The first blizzard whistled up from the South Friday night. Hardly had householders from Virginia to New England dug out their driveways when the second howler destroyed their efforts.

In hamlet and city alike, transportation was paralyzed.

New York's checkerboard of streets and avenues took on the aspect of country lanes.

Great railroad networks reported some delays, but only a few small lines were knocked out. Bus routes were harder to keep open.

Cape Cod, sticking out in the path of the storms like a mammoth crooked finger, suffered the brunt of both storms. More than 100 persons were evacuated at Barnstable because of high tides. The islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket were cut off from the mainland.

Thousands Stranded

The vital processes kept going somehow. Though commercial offices in many cities were mostly dark, there were no bad shortages of urgent necessities.

Commuters and other travelers were stranded by the thousands. Hotel rooms were hard to come by in most cities, as transients stayed put rather than brave the rigors of the road.

Whole busloads of travelers were stalled in New Jersey. Hundreds of refugees who couldn't get home were bedded down in hospitals, restaurants, movie theaters and private homes.

Dozens of highways were blocked by jackknifed trailer trucks and abandoned cars. Travel became next to impossible even on such superhighways as Connecticut's Merritt Parkway and the New Jersey Turnpike.

Suffolk County on eastern Long Island was cut off during most of the second storm. Huge drifts defied the biggest bulldozers. Civil Defense officials declared a state of emergency.

Two TB-Inoculated Guinea Pigs Missing

BATON ROUGE, La., March 19 (AP)—Louisiana State University reported today that two guinea pigs with tuberculosis inoculations have been lost, strayed or stolen.

The animals disappeared from the laboratory of Dr. Charles S. McCleskey, bacteriologist professor, two weeks ago.

J. H. Mattox Jr., LSU public relations director, warned that the guinea pigs may become dangerous to humans in about four weeks since they were inoculated with TB.

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Montgomery Ward & Co. today reported net income of $35,441,046, equal to $5.23 a common share, for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1956.

This compared with net income of $35,232,600, equal to $5.20 a share, in the preceeding fiscal year.

President Asks $4.8 Billion, Long-Range Commitment Power

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $4,859,975,000 in new foreign aid money, and authority to make long-range aid commitments.

He may have to settle for less. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the GOP leader in the Senate, frowned on the long-range idea. Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, talked of cutting the money request.

Eisenhower anticipated objections to the size of the sum, which compares with $2,700,000,000 Congress appropriated for the current fiscal year ending June 30. He stressed that "the need is urgent" and emphasized that Russia is still a menace to the world.

"In Asia and the Middle East," Eisenhower's message to Congress said, "serious risk of aggression still exists."

$3 Billion Military Aid

For that part of the world, he asked $1,640,000,000 in military assistance. He put the over-all military total at three billion dollars, including a new $530,000,000 plan for getting advanced missiles and other weapons into Allied hands.

The message also, as expected, asked for presidential authority to make commitments up to 10 years to "assist less developed countries in long term projects important to their development."

Congress traditionally prefers to handle foreign aid on a year-to-year basis and this long-range request, as well as the amount of money, appeared headed for trouble.

Eisenhower said funds for the long-range commitments "would come from appropriations for non-military mutual security, and would not exceed an aggregate of 100 million dollars in any year." Thus the total over 10 years could amount to an even billion dollars.

Richards "Doubtful"

Richards said "I think it was a sound message in principle...as to the $4,900,000,000 over-all figure, it seems to me that's too much. As to how much the figure should be cut, the committee hearings should reveal that."

"As to the long-term commitment money, I am doubtful about that."

Knowland said in a statement: "Except as to specific public works projects that may be presented to and approved by the Congress, I do not look with favor upon commitments for 10 years or other long periods."

He also indicated opposition to voting large sums, saying:

"Our budget is not yet balanced. Our national debt is over 280 billion dollars. Our individual citizens and our free enterprise system are carrying heavy tax burdens."

End To 155-Day Westinghouse Tieup Up To IUE

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—An end to the 155-day Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike hinged today on whether the union would approve a new compromise peace plan.

Prospects appeared good the deal would win approval of the 75-man Westinghouse Conference Board, representing the 30 striking locals of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The conference board has the final say on the settlement, which was worked out over the weekend by union President James B. Carey and Westinghouse Vice President John D. Blasier. Carey was understood to be urging fellow IUE leaders to support the settlement plan.

The peace pact is basically the same as that recommended two weeks ago by a three man panel of government mediators.

Fatal Trip Unnecessary

JERSEY CITY, N.J. March 19 (AP)—John Ruby, 57, an elevator operator at the main library here, struggled through deep drifts to get to his job today. As he arrived at the library, he collapsed and died of heart attack.

The library was closed because of the storm.

No New York Traffic Problem Here

Parked cars looked like this all over New York City yesterday during a lull in the late winter snowstorm which lambasted the metropolitan area. Here on Carmine Street in the Greenwich Village section of downtown Manhattan, pedestrians make their way along the street as well as the sidewalks in the absence of snowbound vehicular traffic. Russia Pays U.S. For Plane Shot Down By MIGs

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — Russia has paid the United States $724,947—half the costs involved—for shooting down a Navy patrol bomber in the Bering Sea last June 22, the State Department disclosed today.

That was the amount for which the Soviet Union was billed after Secretary of State Dulles agreed to accept Russia's offer.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said this was the first time Russia or any of its satellites ever had paid for planes knocked down or damaged in various incidents since World War II. The United States has tried unsuccessfully to get compensation in several other cases.

Note Insists Frontier Violated

A Soviet note delivered by the Embassy here last Saturday enclosed the $724,947 check but insisted, as the Russians have all along, that the American plane had violated Soviet frontiers.

The United States, in prodding the Russians for payment in January, said a careful investigation showed that the two-engine Neptune was attacked near St. Lawrence Island, at least 24 nautical miles from the nearest Soviet land. This is midway between Alaska and Russia.

Seven Crewmen Injured

The U.S. note said the plane at no time was any closer to Russian soil but "was attacked without warning by Soviet fighter aircraft believed to be of the MIG-jet type."

Seven of the plane's 11 crewmen were burned or injured when it went down last June 24. The other four were unhurt. The plane crash-landed in flames on the beach of St. Lawrence Island.

The agreement on payment of half the costs was worked out between Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov while they were in San Francisco for the 10th anniversary conference of the United Nations last June.

Red Advance In Asia Slowed, Graham Says

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said today the advance of communism in Asia has been slowed to a walk but Red gains are still being made among young intellectuals, particularly university students.

He told a news conference that dollars alone will never meet the Communist intellectual appeal.

"What we need is an intellectual answer to communism and that answer is Christianity," he said.

Atlantic Storms Cause Injuries To 90 Aboard Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, England, March 19 (AP) — Atlantic storms caused injuries to 90 persons aboard the British liner Queen Mary over the weekend.

On her arrival today, ambulances took six of the injured to Southampton hospitals. Two others were landed and taken to hospitals at Cherbourg, France.

Other passengers and crew members were treated for cuts and bruises in the ship's hospital.

It was estimated that in the five dining halls, 5,000 pieces of crockery were smashed.

"It was bad for four days," said Capt. Donald Sorrell. "There were gales up to 70 miles an hour and waves reached 50 feet."

Greek And Turk Cypriots Clash With 30 Injured

VASILIA, Cyprus, March 19 (AP)—Smoldering resentments exploded into wild rioting today between Greek and Turk Cypriots. More than 30 persons were injured, many of them women and children.

It was the biggest battle thus far between the majority and main minority communities on this British-ruled eastern Mediterranean isle. Greek-origin Cypriots want union with Greece. Their Turk-origin neighbors generally are for continued British rule or, if that ends, a return of the isle to Turkey.

Just how the fighting began today was not clear.

Maddened villagers with sticks, knives and clubs waged the bloody two-hour fight. British security forces were rushed to the town and it took them nearly a half hour to restore peace.

At least 15 Turkish women and children were taken to a hospital at Yrenia, 12 miles west of here.

Authorities imposed an immediate curfew on the village.

Adlai Would Be Satisfied With 55% Minn. Vote

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—Claims and counterclaims from Democratic rivals crackled through last minute political skirmishing in advance of Minnesota's vital presidential primary tomorrow.

Adlai E. Stevenson said he would be satisfied with 60 or even 55 per cent of the Democratic vote. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee figures 30 per cent would add up to victory for him—but that he will "do much better than that."

Outcome Anybody's Guess

What will happen tomorrow is a guess. Each man might claim to be a winner on the basis of identical figures.

The state's 3,868 polling places open at 8 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. No returns are counted until the closing hour. The Weather Bureau expects the skies to be partly cloudy with temperatures ranging up to 32 to 40 degrees.

Kefauver In Washington

Kefauver was back in Washington for the tussle over the farm bill. He repeated there that he has been on the upgrade in Minnesota for a week and that he has a good chance of carrying four or five of the state's nine congressional districts. Each district has two national convention votes.

In effect, it's no contest for President Eisenhower in the Republican primary. Sen. William F. Knowland of California was put on the ballot before the President bid for another term. But he is backing Eisenhower and making no attempt to collect votes.

Negro Brothers Convicted For Attack On Ala. Student

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 19 (AP)—Two Negro brothers were convicted today of assault and battery for an attack on a University of Alabama freshman which they blamed on their bitterness against treatment of Autherine Lucy.

An all-white Circuit Court jury returned the verdict after deliberating 20 minutes, fixing a fine of $500 and recommending "maximum imprisonment."

Judge Reuben Wright then sentenced Arthur Washington, 23, and John Washington, 19, to six months in jail for the Feb. 14 beating of Samuel Perrin Taylor, 19, engineering student.

They were indicted for assault with intent to murder, a felony, after the relatives of Taylor insisted on a jury trial for the Negroes.

Punishment on conviction of assault with intent to murder is 2 to 20 years in prison.

The brothers didn't appeal the verdict. There was no demonstration by about 100 persons in the courtroom.

"Was it whisky that brought on this cowardly assault?" Deputy Solicitor Fred Nicol asked the jury in his final summation. "No, they had partaken of distilled hatred of mankind. It was not distilled by anyone in this state."

Defense Atty. William Allen called Taylor a "victim of circumstances."

"The main provocation," he said, "was the tenseness of the situation here at the university and at Tuscaloosa at that time. There was no malice toward Taylor."

Up To 23-Inch Snowfall Hits 14-State Area

12-Foot Drifts Stop Cars, Isolate Towns; At Least 125 Dead

[By The Associated Press]

The second paralyzing blizzard in 48 hours swept northward over the eastern seaboard last night. On the eve of spring, it smothered most normal activities with up to 23 inches of snow.

Nature's double-fisted assault hit a 14-state area. At least 125 storm-connected deaths were counted. Most of these were in traffic accidents or caused by heart attacks brought on by snow-shoveling.

By states, the death totals were: New York 30; New Jersey 23; Connecticut 11; Rhode Island 10; Massachusetts 18; New Hampshire 1; Maine 5; Pennsylvania 7; Delaware 1; Maryland 3; Virginia 4, Ohio 12. Vermont, West Virginia and the District of Columbia also were hit by the storm but reported no deaths.

In New Jersey's rural counties and on eastern Long Island gale winds lashed the snow into 12-foot drifts. Some communities were virtually isolated for the weekend. A state of emergency was declared in some communities and counties.

Worst Storm Since 1947

The double-header storm, worst in the East since 1947, began to peter out, however, in New York and the lower tier of states late Monday night.

But as it raged north along the jagged New England coast it began to deal heavy blows to coastal New Hampshire and Maine. The snowfall was expected to continue to midday Tuesday there.

The first blizzard whistled up from the South Friday night. Hardly had householders from Virginia to New England dug out their driveways when the second howler destroyed their efforts.

In hamlet and city alike, transportation was paralyzed.

New York's checkerboard of streets and avenues took on the aspect of country lanes.

Great railroad networks reported some delays, but only a few small lines were knocked out. Bus routes were harder to keep open.

Cape Cod, sticking out in the path of the storms like a mammoth crooked finger, suffered the brunt of both storms. More than 100 persons were evacuated at Barnstable because of high tides. The islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket were cut off from the mainland.

Thousands Stranded

The vital processes kept going somehow. Though commercial offices in many cities were mostly dark, there were no bad shortages of urgent necessities.

Commuters and other travelers were stranded by the thousands. Hotel rooms were hard to come by in most cities, as transients stayed put rather than brave the rigors of the road.

Whole busloads of travelers were stalled in New Jersey. Hundreds of refugees who couldn't get home were bedded down in hospitals, restaurants, movie theaters and private homes.

Dozens of highways were blocked by jackknifed trailer trucks and abandoned cars. Travel became next to impossible even on such superhighways as Connecticut's Merritt Parkway and the New Jersey Turnpike.

Suffolk County on eastern Long Island was cut off during most of the second storm. Huge drifts defied the biggest bulldozers. Civil Defense officials declared a state of emergency.

Two TB-Inoculated Guinea Pigs Missing

BATON ROUGE, La., March 19 (AP)—Louisiana State University reported today that two guinea pigs with tuberculosis inoculations have been lost, strayed or stolen.

The animals disappeared from the laboratory of Dr. Charles S. McCleskey, bacteriologist professor, two weeks ago.

J. H. Mattox Jr., LSU public relations director, warned that the guinea pigs may become dangerous to humans in about four weeks since they were inoculated with TB.

This compared with net income of $35,232,600, equal to $5.20 a share, in the preceeding fiscal year.

U. S., Russia, Canada Study Anglo-French Disarmament Plan

LONDON, March 19 (AP)—A comprehensive British-French disarmament plan is being studied by Russia, the United States and Canada tonight. First reaction from American negotiators here appeared generally favorable.

The plan was submitted earlier today at the opening of new talks by the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee. It was referred immediately to Washington. Details of the proposals remained secret.

The American delegation, led by Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's adviser on disarmament matters, seemed friendly to the plan. But they withheld full approval, suggesting some points needed clarification.

Andrei A. Gromyko, a Russian first deputy foreign minister and head of the Soviet delegation, listened attentively as the British-French proposals were read by Jules Moch, head of the French negotiators.

Gromyko expressed no opinion after Moch finished. He said merely that he needed time to study the plan. It was drawn up in considerable detail.

But there was an atmosphere of cautious optimism after negotiators finished their two-hour session in Lancaster House, an ornate mansion near Buckingham Palace.

The meeting, 69th in a series held by the subcommittee in the past three years, was at least superficially harmonious.

American sources explained the general ideas of the British-French proposals were outlined to U. S. delegation members during preliminary talks last week with Britain, France and Canada.

In the final draft presented by Moch, however, there was new matter of some substance and referral to Washington was considered essential.

There will be no session tomorrow. The next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. By then the American delegation hopes to have guidance from Washington and Moscow also may have made suggestions.

Alleged $70,000 Offer To Demos May Be Probed

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del) said today he is asking for a Senate investigation of an alleged $70,000 gift offer to the 1948 Democratic campaign fund by a man trying to quash "a one-million-dollar tax case."

"It is alleged," Williams said in a Senate speech based on a series of articles by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "that the finance director of the Democratic National Committee, Mr. S. Acey Carraway, to whom the offer was made, did intercede with the Department of Justice in an attempt to stop prosecution."

He did not say whether the attempt was successful.

Williams told a reporter later he was asking the special committee on lobbying and campaign contributions, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), to go "fully" into the case.

He said the Post-Dispatch stories described the $70,000 offer as having come from Joseph Mitchell, business man of Mobile, Ala., and St. Louis, Mo. The money was said to have been needed by the Democratic committee to pay for two national broadcasts by former President Truman late in the 1948 presidential campaign.

Mitchell was quoted in the stories as denying he ever made any contribution to the Democratic National Committee. Carraway was quoted as saying that if the alleged contribution ever went into the committee funds, it did not go through him.

More Open Red Activities This Year Seen By Hoover

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the American Communist party expects to come out of hiding to some degree this year.

The party plans to reduce its underground operations, Hoover said, "with the expectation that they will be able to come out into a more open activity by reason of the general political atmosphere created as a result of the Geneva conference, and what they characterize as a growing understanding of communism in this country."

At the Big Four conference in Geneva last July the Russians made a big pitch for better relations with the West. Western officials have put it down as Soviet peace propaganda because no actual concessions have been made by the Soviets.

Hoover made his statement to a secret session of the House Appropriations subcommittee on Feb. 1. The transcript was made public today.

The FBI chief said that during the coming year the Communist party proposes "to tactically exploit the Geneva four-power conference with a background effort to defeat the Internal Security Act of 1950, the Smith Act, and other anti-Communist legislation."

"The party has set aside a fund to conduct an intensive crusade which will last four to six months to achieve this objective," he added.

Captain Of Picket Line Doesn't Let Snow Stop Him

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., March 19 (AP) — Although most workers couldn't get to their offices and plants even if they wanted to, Max Rabinowitz was taking no chances today.

Max is the picket line captain at the struck Westinghouse lamp division plant here.

At 5:30 a.m. he waded from his Irvington home, took two buses, walked two miles when the second bus bogged down in drifts, and arrived here at 7:10 a.m. to take up picket duties-all alone.

U.S. Milk Production Due To Break Record

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today milk production is on the way to a new record this year—possibly reaching 127 billion pounds compared with 123½ billion last year.

Production during the first two months of 1956 was 7 per cent greater than a year earlier, but one-fourth of the increase was due to the extra day in February this year.

Largely because of lower feed prices, returns to dairymen were said to be more favorable than a year ago. The department said this improvement is likely to lead to an increase in the number of cows as well as a continued larger average output for each cow.

Top Reds Press Anti-Stalin Drive

MOSCOW, March 19 (AP)—Two of the Soviet Union's first deputy premiers took the stump today to push the Soviet Union's spiralling campaign to destroy the Stalin myth.

It was the first time such high ranking officials have taken a personal role in the vast re-education drive decreed recently by the Soviet party and government.

First Deputy Premier Anastase Mikoyan spoke at the Kasny proletariat factory and First Deputy Premier Mikhail Pervukhin toured the Vladimir Ilyitch plant. These are two of Moscow's biggest heavy industry factories, employing about 50,000 workers each.

The announcement of their appearances was made by the Soviet news agency Tass. It said the two leaders led "discussions of the directives of the 20th Congress of the Communist party."

The chief directive of the recent congress ordered the party's Central Committee to prevent the return of one-man rule in Russia such as prevailed during the last 20 years of Stalin's life.

Mikoyan bitterly attacked Stalin's writings on Communist theory and economics at the congress. It is generally believed here that Mikoyan, party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense minister, are the leading figures behind the new campaign.

The Civil Works administration program, during the depression of the 1930s, is said to have cost federal, state and local governments an estimated $860,000,000.

College Suspends Prof Who Invoked Fifth Amendment

CARLISLE, Pa., March 19 (AP) — Dickinson College today suspended Dr. Laurent R. Lavallee as an assistant professor of economics. Lavallee invoked the Fifth Amendment while testifying before the House Unamerican Activities Committee last month.

Dr. William W. Edel, president of the college, announced the suspension and said Lavallee would be given a hearing before the executive committee of the college board of trustees "as soon as possible."

Edel explained that a faculty member can be removed only through action by the board. He said reasons for the suspension will be brought out at the hearing.

Lavallee invoked the Fifth Amendment which provides against self - incrimination when questioned on what the committee said were reported Communist activities from 1942 to 1944 when Lavallee was a member of the war labor board in Denver, Colo.

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Like Finnegan and his railroad train, negotiations between the Baltimore Transit Co. and its AFL-CIO employes union have been on again, off again, on again for some time. Tonight they were off again.

Captain Of Picket Line Doesn't Let Snow Stop Him

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., March 19 (AP) — Although most workers couldn't get to their offices and plants even if they wanted to, Max Rabinowitz was taking no chances today.

Max is the picket line captain at the struck Westinghouse lamp division plant here.

At 5:30 a.m. he waded from his Irvington home, took two buses, walked two miles when the second bus bogged down in drifts, and arrived here at 7:10 a.m. to take up picket duties all alone.

U.S. Milk Production Due To Break Record

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today milk production is on the way to a new record this year—possibly reaching 127 billion pounds compared with 123½ billion last year.

Production during the first two months of 1956 was 7 per cent greater than a year earlier, but one-fourth of the increase was due to the extra day in February this year.

Largely because of lower feed prices, returns to dairymen were said to be more favorable than a year ago. The department said this improvement is likely to lead to an increase in the number of cows as well as a continued larger average output for each cow.

Top Reds Press Anti-Stalin Drive

MOSCOW, March 19 (AP)—Two of the Soviet Union's first deputy premiers took the stump today to push the Soviet Union's spiralling campaign to destroy the Stalin myth.

It was the first time such high ranking officials have taken a personal role in the vast re-education drive decreed recently by the Soviet party and government.

First Deputy Premier Anastase Mikoyan spoke at the Kasny proletariat factory and First Deputy Premier Mikhail Pervukhin toured the Vladimir Ilyitch plant. These are two of Moscow's biggest heavy industry factories, employing about 50,000 workers each.

The announcement of their appearances was made by the Soviet news agency Tass. It said the two leaders led "discussions of the directives of the 20th Congress of the Communist party."

The chief directive of the recent congress ordered the party's Central Committee to prevent the return of one-man rule in Russia such as prevailed during the last 20 years of Stalin's life.

Mikoyan bitterly attacked Stalin's writings on Communist theory and economics at the congress. It is generally believed here that Mikoyan, party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense minister, are the leading figures behind the new campaign.

The Civil Works administration program, during the depression of the 1930s, is said to have cost federal, state and local governments an estimated $860,000,000.

College Suspends Prof Who Invoked Fifth Amendment

CARLISLE, Pa., March 19 (AP) — Dickinson College today suspended Dr. Laurent R. Lavallee as an assistant professor of economics. Lavallee invoked the Fifth Amendment while testifying before the House Unamerican Activities Committee last month.

Dr. William W. Edel, president of the college, announced the suspension and said Lavallee would be given a hearing before the executive committee of the college board of trustees "as soon as possible."

Edel explained that a faculty member can be removed only through action by the board. He said reasons for the suspension will be brought out at the hearing.

Lavallee invoked the Fifth Amendment which provides against self-incrimination when questioned on what the committee said were reported Communist activities from 1942 to 1944 when Lavallee was a member of the war labor board in Denver, Colo.

Teakwood Gift For Ike

U.S. Surgeon In Moscow

MOSCOW, March 19 (AP) — Dr. Morton I. Berson, a plastic surgeon of the Wickersham Hospital in New York, arrived here today to lecture at the Moscow Medical School. He is the first American doctor ever invited to speak at the university.

More Open Red Activities This Year Seen By Hoover

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says the American Communist party expects to come out of hiding to some degree this year.

The party plans to reduce its underground operations, Hoover said, "with the expectation that they will be able to come out into a more open activity by reason of the general political atmosphere created as a result of the Geneva conference, and what they characterize as a growing understanding of communism in this country."

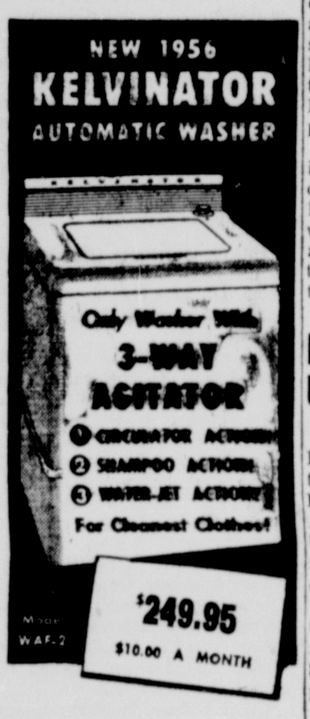

At the Big Four conference in Geneva last July the Russians made a big pitch for better relations with the West. Western officials have put it down as Soviet peace propaganda because no actual concessions have been made by the Soviets.

Hoover made his statement to a secret session of the House Appropriations subcommittee on Feb. 1. The transcript was made public today.

The FBI chief said that during the coming year the Communist party proposes "to tactically exploit the Geneva four-power conference with a background effort to defeat the Internal Security Act of 1950, the Smith Act, and other anti-Communist legislation."

"The party has set aside a fund to conduct an intensive crusade which will last four to six months to achieve this objective," he added.

THIS is the one that measures BIG—by any yardstick you choose . . .

BIG in solid pounds and honest inches . . .

BIG in high-compression horsepower . . .

BIG, best of all, in the way it makes small money talk.

For this strapping beauty is the 1956 Buick SPECIAL—biggest package of high-fashion luxury and high-stepping performance ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

What that boils down to is just this:

You can call this brawny Buick your own for only a few dollars more than the price of the well-known smaller cars—for even less than some models of those very same cars. And the price we proudly print here backs up that statement.

But low price, alone, doesn't explain why Buick outsells every other car in America except the two well-known smaller ones.

The big reason, you will find, is because Buick gives you so much more pure automobile for the money.

You'll find it in the bigger thrill you get from commanding the agile might of Buick's big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine.

You'll find it in the greater smoothness of Buick's superb new ride—in the utter serenity of Buick's new handling ease—in the bigger satisfaction of Buick size and roominess and steadiness and styling.

You'll find it, too, in the fact that here you can get the matchless smoothness of the world's most modern transmission. For, at your option, you can also have the new double-action take-off—and the extra gas-saving mileage—of Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow†.

So, how about it? Will you come in real soon? We've got the facts and the figures—and the car—to prove everything we've told you—waiting for you.

NEW AUTO INSURANCE COVERAGE PAYS
ALL INJURED PERSONS...REGARDLESS OF WHO'S AT FAULT...
EVEN IF THE OTHER FELLOW IS NOT INSURED!

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION is what this new coverage is called. It pays the injured person (that includes you or those you injure) under a completely new method of recovery. If you're protected by Alternative Compensation, every injured party can . . .

- Accept prompt settlement within the limits of this coverage no matter who is to blame, RATHER THAN . . .
- Follow through with a court action under the laws of negligence, and risk losing the lawsuit.

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION works for you in two important ways: It protects you against the embarrassment and legal headaches of a lawsuit against you by a person injured in an accident involving your car . . . and if you are injured, you will receive prompt payment no matter what the circumstances of the accident—even if it was caused by an uninsured driver or by a "hit and run" driver. This same protection is available to anyone in your family (living with you).

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION can fill a dangerous gap in your auto insurance. And you can add it to your present Nationwide auto liability policy now. If you're not one of our policyholders, it will be worth your while to find out about our top protection and equally fine claim service. With a Nationwide auto policy, you can now add Alternative Compensation, for broader coverage than ever before!

HOW MUCH DOES A. C. PAY? Benefit payments are quite reasonable, and cover medical expenses, monthly disability payments and a death benefit.

Medical expense benefits run as high as $2,000 per accident . . . disability benefits (up to 180 days) are $5.00 a day for persons over 18, and $2.50 a day for those under 18 . . . with a death benefit (within one year) of $4,000 for persons over 18 and $2,000 for those under 18

These benefits are an alternative to the usual system of obtaining a settlement. The injured person can choose to accept them and begin receiving payments at once, or can file a regular claim under the laws of negligence, with the risk of losing the case in court.

WHERE DOES A. C. WORK? While Maryland and Delaware drivers only are eligible for this important coverage, it protects you anywhere you drive in the 48 states, all territorial possessions and Canada

WHY IS A. C. A NATIONWIDE COVERAGE? Because we keep closely attuned to our policyholders' real life needs. Through our POLICYHOLDER ADVISORY COMMITTEES, the folks who make up Nationwide Insurance have a say in its affairs. Because so many of our coverages result from policyholders' ideas, we are often ahead of the industry in offering the public newer coverages at our traditionally lower rates.

Alternative Compensation is one of many completely new coverages by Nationwide Insurance to help more and more people obtain better security for themselves at rates they can afford.

NEW AUTO INSURANCE COVERAGE PAYS
ALL INJURED PERSONS...REGARDLESS OF WHO'S AT FAULT...
EVEN IF THE OTHER FELLOW IS NOT INSURED!

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION is what this new coverage is called. It pays the injured person (that includes you or those you injure) under a completely new method of recovery. If you're protected by Alternative Compensation, every injured party can . . .
• Accept prompt settlement within the limits of this coverage no matter who is to blame, RATHER THAN . . .
• Follow through with a court action under the laws of negligence, and risk losing the lawsuit.

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION works for you in two important ways: It protects you against the embarrassment and legal headaches of a lawsuit against you by a person injured in an accident involving your car . . . and if you are injured, you will receive prompt payment no matter what the circumstances of the accident—even if it was caused by an uninsured driver or by a "hit and run" driver. This same protection is available to anyone in your family (living with you).

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION can fill a dangerous gap in your auto insurance. And you can add it to your present Nationwide auto liability policy now. If you're not one of our policyholders, it will be worth your while to find out about our top protection and equally fine claim service. With a Nationwide auto policy, you can now add Alternative Compensation, for broader coverage than ever before!

HOW MUCH DOES A. C. PAY? Benefit payments are quite reasonable, and cover medical expenses, monthly disability payments and a death benefit.

Medical expense benefits run as high as $2,000 per accident . . . disability benefits (up to 180 days) are $5.00 a day for persons over 18, and $2.50 a day for those under 18 . . . with a death benefit (within one year) of $4,000 for persons over 18 and $2,000 for those under 18

These benefits are an alternative to the usual system of obtaining a settlement. The injured person can choose to accept them and begin receiving payments at once, or can file a regular claim under the laws of negligence, with the risk of losing the case in court.

WHERE DOES A. C. WORK? While Maryland and Delaware drivers only are eligible for this important coverage, it protects you anywhere you drive in the 48 states, all territorial possessions and Canada.

WHY IS A. C. A NATIONWIDE COVERAGE? Because we keep closely attuned to our policyholders' real life needs. Through our POLICYHOLDER ADVISORY COMMITTEES, the folks who make up Nationwide Insurance have a say in its affairs. Because so many of our coverages result from policyholders' ideas, we are often ahead of the industry in offering the public newer coverages at our traditionally lower rates.

Alternative Compensation is one of many completely new coverages by Nationwide Insurance to help more and more people obtain better security for themselves at rates they can afford.

Maryland Warmup Seen After Weekend Of Storms

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland expected to thaw out Tuesday—the first day of spring—after a one-two punch of weekend storms that piled up 15 inches of snow in some sections.

Roads in some areas, particularly in the central and northern sections, still were expected to be hazardous early Tuesday after a night of sub-freezing temperatures.

But the weatherman promised fair weather Tuesday with milder temperatures in the afternoon to put thermometers in the high 30s and low 40s.

After the weekend of storms the roads commission reported chains were needed generally from Garrett County eastward across the northern part of the state into Harford and Cecil Counties in the northeast.

All main roads were open. On Monday at noon Baltimore lifted restrictions on vehicles without chains or snow tires.

But the weatherman said Monday night lows in the teens and 20s probably would keep roads in hazardous condition in the north and central sections.

Aside from drifts which piled up to 4 feet in Frederick County, the deepest accumulation of snow was reported at Foxville, in Washington County on the Frederick County line. It got 9 inches from the first storm and 6 more with the second wintry blast.

Frostburg in northern Allegany had more than 13 inches, Oakland in Garrett County had 13, Cumberland had 9, Hagerstown 7 and Frederick 5.

State Police at Conowingo reported a foot of snow.

In the Baltimore area the fall ranged from 2 inches to the south to about 12 inches around Towson. The central Baltimore area got 6 inches.

State Police at Waterloo reported about 5 inches in that area and about 2 inches at Rockville. On the Eastern Shore in upper Dorchester County, 1 to 2 inches of snow was reported. Some secondary roads west of Vienna were closed as a result of the snow, the roads commission said.

Sybert Rules On Suspension Of Md. Employe

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP)—The attorney general has ruled that a Maryland classified employe who receives a disciplinary suspension of 30 days or less has no right to appeal to the State Commissioner of Personnel unless the employe's automatic annual salary increase is involved.

In the future, all such cases not involving the loss of the employe's annual fixed salary raise will become final upon the decision of the individual department head.

The opinion by Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert and Alexander Harvey, assistant attorney general, said "... the commission has no power to investigate or review a suspension made by the appointing authority of 30 days or less."

Russell S. Davis, State commissioner of personnel, declined comment on the ruling. He said 67 of the 92 classified employes who received work suspensions last year lost their annual pay increase.

State employes may receive suspensions for such offenses as insubordination, abuse of the sick leave system or any unwarranted absences. The different "appointing authorities" or department heads, may recommend that the employe lose his annual raise in addition to normal pay for the period of the actual suspension.

However, if the department head recommends loss of the annual fixed increment, then the case must go before the commissioner of personnel.

If an employe is merely suspended for a period of less than 30 days, with no recommendation concerning his annual raise, the department head's action is final. Or, if the suspended employe has reached the maximum salary scale and therefore would have no annual increase coming, he would have no appeal.

All suspensions of more than 30 days are taken automatically before the personnel commissioner.

Tydings Names Frederick County Campaign Chiefs

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Former Democratic Sen. Millard E. Tydings announced today that William M. Storm and James M. McSherry have been named co-chairmen of the Tydings for Senate campaign in Frederick County.

Storm is a past state commander of the American Legion and former State's attorney of Frederick County. McSherry is a past secretary of the Frederick County Junior Chamber of Commerce. The 35-year-old Frederick attorney is a leader of the county's Young Democrats and is active in the Knights of Columbus, Elks and Catholic War Veterans.

Tydings, defeated in 1950 by Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler after serving 24 years in the Senate, is one of five men seeking the Democratic nomination in the May 7 primary.

School Closed As Fire Hazard

ANNAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—Anne Arundel County has closed its school for handicapped children at Millersville as a fire hazard, Superintendent David S. Jenkins announced today.

Dr. Jenkins said the three-story frame building was closed as of last Friday. He said the 35 pupils enrolled there, victims of cerebral palsy, will be taught at their homes until after Easter when he hopes the school can be relocated.

Harry Klasmeier, chief of the county's Fire Prevention Bureau, had said the school building was vulnerable to flash fires and recommended that it be abandoned.

Dr. Jenkins said in view of this report, which also listed several 2-room frame school buildings as substandard, he could not accept the "great responsibility" for anything which might happen at the school.

He said organization of the school, with its three teachers and assistants, will remain intact and that they will visit children at their homes throughout the county to instruct them "as best they can" until other arrangements are made.

Airport Expansion Receives Priority

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 19 (AP)—Mayor Winslow H. Burhans said today the north-south throughway for which the city was set to spend $450,000 will have to wait while the city expands its airport.

Burhans said the city's share in the first phase of the runway expansion will be $400,000. The Civil Aeronautics Authority is being asked to match that figure. The expansion job, which was requested by the Fairchild Aircraft Corp., will cost about 1 million dollars.

The airport's east-west runway is to be extended to facilitate the land of jet aircraft.

The throughway would carry U. S. 11 around Hagerstown area.

Accused Rapist To Receive Hearing

FERNDALE, Md., March 19 (AP)—Fred Maney, 23, faces a hearing in mountain road magistrate's court tomorrow night on charges of raping a 15-year-old Baltimore girl.

The girl, who told Anne Arundel County police she lives near Maney's home in Baltimore, said he assaulted her in a wooded area near Severna Park after he and his 18-year-old brother forced her and two other girls go get in a car with them.

She said the brothers stopped to buy beer on their drive into the county and forced the girls to drink some of it.

Nebraska GOP Urges Nixon Renomination

LINCOLN, Neb. March 19 (AP)—Nebraska Republican leaders today shouted approval of a resolution urging the renomination of Vice President Richard Nixon.

Three hundred delegates gave unanimous approval to the resolution during the party's preprimary convention here.

The convention preceded the GOP's traditional statewide party rally, Founders Day, at which Nixon was to have been the chief speaker. He canceled his appearance to remain in Washington in connection with pending farm legislation.

Russian Arms Progress Could 'Surprise' U.S., Burke Declares

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, warned today that the Russians are making rapid progress in nuclear weapons and guided missiles which could "surprise" this nation.

"Many of their new developments have surprised us in the past," Burke said. "We could be surprised again."

Urging that the United States maintain the "most powerful, modern Navy that science can devise," Adm. Burke said, "there is no question but that the Communists recognize the importance of sea communications to the Free World.

"They have been engaged in an unprecedented naval building program since World War II. They have allocated critical materials to this program — critical steel, electronic equipment, fire control equipment, and manpower—which they could ill afford unless they considered this project extremely important."

He said they have a powerful submarine fleet which is still growing. "They are building new cruisers, new destroyers at a very rapid rate. They are expanding their naval aviation, they are expanding their overall air capability to attack and destroy vital shipping.

"This," Adm. Burke added, "is the isolate part of their basic military strategy of isolate and destroy, divide and conquer."

He said the threat to United States control of the seas is growing but the Navy is "not standing idle." While maintaining readiness today and standing guard in the trouble areas of the world, Burke told the Baltimore Executives Club, the Navy also is "moving rapidly and confidently into the nuclear-missile age" of tomorrow.

"We are shifting to nuclear power as fast as we can." The Navy operations chief also said the Navy soon will be operating supersonic planes from new attack carriers of the Forrestal class.

He called the new Seamaster, multi-jet seaplane bomber which the Glenn L. Martin Co. is building here for the Navy, a plane with "tremendous possibilities."

Lecture For Police

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 19 (AP)—One of a series of lectures being given in Maryland for police and dealing with civil rights will be held in Hagerstown March 26 under the sponsorship of Maryland Law Enforcement Officers, Inc.

Sabotage Delays Traffic Reform

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Sabotage is threatening to delay Henry Barnes' traffic reform program.

The traffic director said today lie detectors would be used in an effort to find out who:

Filled a traffic light control box with mud.

Cut wires in a new and complex signal control device.

Smashed gauges and cut belts on paint machines.

Smeared glass beads and dirt over a freshly-painted department truck, then swiped the paint.

Barnes said the sabotage came after an epidemic of thievery at the department shop in which somebody took radios, tubes, heavy jacks and other tools.

Cop Who Lost Leg Awarded $100,000

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP) — Patrolman Joseph J. Rettalliata, Jr. who lost a leg in an accident while on traffic duty, was awarded $100,000 in a settlement approved today by Judge Michael J. Manley.

Retalliata is being assigned other duties in the police department.

The injuries which resulted in amputation of his right leg occurred Sept. 10, 1954. The officer had stopped a motorist and was standing between a police car and the motorist's vehicle when a trailer truck collided with the rear of the patrol car. The patrolman was crushed between the two vehicles.

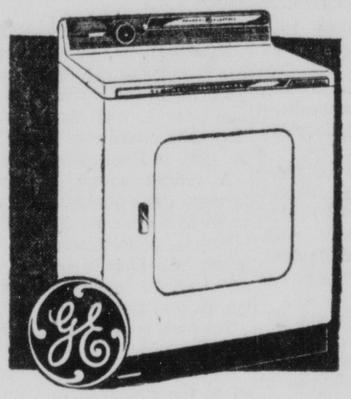

The settlement involved Buch Express, Inc., and James T. Racine, truck driver.

Russian Arms Progress Could 'Surprise' U.S., Burke Declares

BALTIMORE, March 19 (AP)—Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, warned today that the Russians are making rapid progress in nuclear weapons and guided missiles which could "surprise" this nation.

"Many of their new developments have surprised us in the past," Burke said. "We could be surprised again."

Urging that the United States maintain the "most powerful, modern Navy that science can devise," Adm. Burke said, "there is no question but that the Communists recognize the importance of sea communications to the Free World.

"They have been engaged in an unprecedented naval building program since World War II. They have allocated critical materials to this program — critical steel, electronic equipment, fire control equipment, and manpower—which they could ill afford unless they considered this project extremely important."

He said they have a powerful submarine fleet which is still growing. "They are building new cruisers, new destroyers at a very rapid rate. They are expanding their naval aviation, they are expanding their overall air capability to attack and destroy vital shipping.

"This," Adm. Burke added, "is the isolate part of their basic military strategy of isolate and destroy, divide and conquer."

He said the threat to United States control of the seas is growing but the Navy is "not standing idle." While maintaining readiness today and standing guard in the trouble areas of the world, Burke told the Baltimore Executives Club, the Navy also is "moving rapidly and confidently into the nuclear-missile age" of tomorrow.

"We are shifting to nuclear power as fast as we can." The Navy operations chief also said the Navy soon will be operating supersonic planes from new attack carriers of the Forrestal class.

He called the new Seamaster, multi-jet seaplane bomber which the Glenn L. Martin Co. is building here for the Navy, a plane with "tremendous possibilities."

The traffic director said today lie detectors would be used in an effort to find out who:

Filled a traffic light control box with mud.

Cut wires in a new and complex signal control device.

City Studies Proposal On South End Rec Area

The Mayor and Council took a look at the proposed recreation area in Southview Addition yesterday and came up with the question: Is the amount of money asked for the 21 acres of land out of line?

Without making a decision, although it appears a majority of council favors the recreation area, council decided to call in the appraisers, Howard M. Spiker and James W. Beacham, next Monday to answer questions concerning selling price asked by the 147 landowners in the Addition.

The area would be purchased from funds in the $150,000 recreation bond issue. Yesterday's general discussion started out with Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz asking recreation director Robert E. Pence about the bond issue's standing. Pence said about $7,000 had been spent for recreation improvements leaving $143,000.

Buchholtz then said it must be remembered that council has authorized capital improvements to four playgrounds — North End, Lamont Street, Mapleside and Thomas S. Post — which would cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. Pence said the improvements would more likely cost $25,000.

Using Pence's figure, Buchholtz reminded council that would leave $118,000 in the issue.

School Board May Aid

It was pointed out that the Allegany County Board of Education might share in the purchase price of Southview since space for a junior high school is included in the proposed plans. Asked how much, Pence said $20,000 which would cut the present estimated cost to $58,000.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum pointed out it will cost another $40,000 to $50,000 to improve the recreation area as planned.

Those figures would bring city costs to between $100,000 and $108,000 for the rec area.

Buchholtz questioned why value of the land in the proposed rec area should increase $18,000 and recalled that original estimates on its cost were $58,000. He said, in his opinion, the land was worth in the neighborhood of $25,000 and the asking price appears to be $50,000 more than its worth.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said the price is "completely out of line" but City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said the figure might be "out of line but not completely." He pointed out increasing land values, taxes paid on the properties and other matters which he said could best be answered by appraisers during the meeting next Monday after the regular council meeting.

Cites Tax Assessment

Buchholtz said if the land in Southview is worth that much, the county assessor "should go down there and re-assess them right away. We're not getting that much on the tax books."

Buchholtz said he believed the area a wonderful plan but urged Pence to keep in mind that West Side has to have a playground. In fact, he said, "we can't talk one, since we really need two."

Pence pointed out that not only West Side needs play space but East Side, too. The East Side School playground will be lost because it is needed for the Crosstown Expressway. Both are major problems, he added.

The question of acquiring the State Armory when a new one is constructed on city-donated land in Constitution Park, was aired. There has been some talk of using $50,000 from the rec bond issue to acquire the Armory which would be used for a civic center. This move is opposed by recreation planners.

Buchholtz said that in addition to the cost, repairs, supervision and maintenance in the future, should be kept in mind.

"I am in favor of the Armory but not in favor of paying $50,000 for it," Buchholtz said, adding he believed some plan should be worked out with the federal and state governments whereby the city be given the Armory or allowed to lease it for $1 a year.

Finan suggested a possibility which met with general approval: He said it might be possible that the American Legion here would buy the Armory site for a home and give the city option if it should ever relinquish it. It might be arranged for the city to hold recreation activities there on certain days and the Armory would also be used for conventions.

Finan added, however, that there is a lot to be worked out on such a plan.

Pence said that the bond issue is for recreation and the armory is not as important.

Board Approved Plan

Last week the Recreation Board approved South View Addition as a recreation center and submitted a report asking the city to acquire and develop the 21-acre site in the Mapleside area. The board also urged the city to use its powers of condemnation to see if the land could be purchased at a reasonable price.

In addition, the report recommended the acquisition by the city the undeveloped land Ridgedale Reservoir for recreational purposes and pointed out the possibility of securing land adjacent to Stitcher Field for future recreation development.

The money to be used for the purchase and development of the land would come from the $150,000 recreation bond issue, according to the recommendation.

The proposed Southview Addition rec area is bordered by Quebec and Blackiston Avenues, Wempe Drive and Second Street. In addition to a site for a proposed junior high school with cafeteria and gymnasium, it would include: Areas for court games, small children's area, wading pool, athletic field, archery, croquet sites, baseball and softball field area, an amphitheatre, site for clock golf, horseshoe courts, picnic area and council ring, parking facilities, bleachers and be landscaped.

But it's no work for this lovely lady. For she's at the wheel of a 1956 Cadillac—and here is the world's gentlest resting place for feminine hands.

In fact, even the most difficult of driving maneuvers seldom require anything beyond the merest gesture of a hand on the wheel . . . and the lightest touch of a toe on the accelerator.

And not only is she always at her ease—but at her loveliest as well.

Seldom, indeed, is a woman seen under more flattering circumstances than she is in the "car of cars"—calm, serene and rested . . . and surrounded by Cadillac's great luxury and beauty.

And how proud and happy she is! For imagine, if you can, the priceless joy of owning and driving a motor car recognized everywhere as the "Standard of the World"!

To any lady reading this advertisement, we offer this simple suggestion. Come in soon . . . and see for yourself.

And to any gentleman who might be listening in—well, perhaps there is a lady whom you would like to see always at her ease—and at her loveliest—and at her proudest.

The magic formula is waiting for you in our showroom—and we'll be delighted to assist in the transformation at any time.

P.S.: We have some special news about cost and delivery that you will find difficult to resist. Better come in while the facts are so favorable.

St. Michael's Church Lists Schedule For Holy Week

FROSTBURG — The solemn services of Holy Week will begin Palm Sunday at St. Michael's Catholic Church. Palm will be distributed at the door of the church before the 10:15 a. m. high mass. The blessing of the palms will precede the mass the parishioners holding the branches as the blessing takes place.

A solemn procession will follow the blessing of the palms, parish spokesmen explaining the blessing is abbreviated and a new emphasis placed on the procession. The Senior Choir will present the musical program at the mass.

The principal services of Holy Week will now be held in the evening instead of during the morning hours, as was formerly the custom. The revised schedule for Holy Week follows:

Holy Thursday, at 8 p. m., mass commemorating the Last Supper will be celebrated and communion will be distributed. The procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament to the repository altar will follow. Adoration before the altar will be continued during the night, with the men of the parish keeping the hours of adoration. Adoration will be held all day on Good Friday also.

On Good Friday, the service will begin at 6 p. m. and will include readings, prayers, adoration of the cross and a communion service. The reception of the Holy Eucharist at the Good Friday service is the first time since the sixteenth century that the faithful will be allowed to receive communion on Good Friday and marks one of the greatest changes in the rubrics of the church service.

The Easter vigil service will begin at 11 p. m. Holy Saturday and include the blessings of the new fire, paschal candle and holy water, followed by a high mass at midnight at which the Senior Choir will sing.

The eucharistic fasts will begin at 5:30 p. m. Thursday and 3:30 p. m. Friday. The ordinary regulations will apply Saturday since holy communion will be received after midnight. The Lenten fast will be in effect until midnight Saturday.

Psychology Of Business Relations Course Opens

KEYSER — Advance inquiries on the part of area businessmen and companies indicate keen interest in the Psychology of Business Relations course which begins today at Potomac State College.

The four-weeks course being sponsored by the Keyser Chamber of Commerce will meet on successive Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m., in Room 220, of the Science Hall. Registration will take place this evening.

John O. Maiden, head of the college psychology department, will be instructor for the course which is being geared to the needs of employers in both large and small business concerns.

The significance, techniques and pitfalls of "Interviews and Ratings" will be treated at the opening session. The history of measurements, testing, special factors and occupational significance on "intelligence" will be discussed at the second meeting, March 27.

The third meeting, Tuesday, April 3, will have as its subject "Grievances," with the discussion to be on kinds and types, preventions, satisfaction and the "problem employe."

"Recognizing the Person In Your Personnel" is the significant topic of the final evening's program, Tuesday, April 10. F. T. Bell, personnel director of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, will be in charge of this session. With him will be Walter Hedrick, personnel director of Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and William Lawrence, personnel director of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Cumberland plant.

Also present will be some employes of both the Celanese and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Companies, so that problems may be discussed from the point of view of both employer and employe.

Some of the more interesting aspects of the subject to be discussed that evening will be a true case history on "Why an able young employe became a union leader rather than a leader in management;" "Some of the reasons for the trend toward reduction in the number of workers per supervisor;" "Why does the worker go first to his union leader with his troubles?" "Lack of recognition of the good worker — preoccupation with the problem employe in a large industry," and "Summarization of the advantages of being a small businessman or employer."

A $10 fee will be charged for the complete course, and the course is open to both men and women. No particular educational requirements are necessary for enrolling in the course.

German Refugee Family Sees Dream Come True

FROSTBURG — A three-year dream has been realized by a refugee family which has started a new life at Meadow Mountain Inn on Route 40.

Erich and Helena Podleiski along with their sons, Hans Jergan, 7, and Hans Dieter, 5, landed in New York just a week ago and have already had a taste of good American life.

They left Bremerhaven, Germany, by boat February 29 and landed in New York last Monday. They were put on a train bound for Cumberland where they were met by their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. John Prichard of Frostburg.

Podleiski, a baker, will work at the Inn, learning the business from the kitchen out, under the direction of the Prichards.

Already they are astonished at the abundance of food here. Prichard said when he offered the children eggs for breakfast. Mrs. Podleiski wanted to refuse because of the expense. In Germany they paid more for one egg than Prichard paid for a dozen.

When interviewed about their life in Germany, the Podleiski's said life was a struggle there. Working in a steel mill for a wage of 140 marks a week, well over half of it went for food. When rent, gas, and electricity was paid, very little was left for clothing and other necessities.

For the interview it was necessary to have an interpreter as the family speaks very little English. Mrs. Ruth Livingstone of Frostburg who came to this country from Germany after World War II, as the bride of William Livingston, Grant Street, who was with the occupational forces after the war, served in that capacity.

Podleiski said that during the war he was a member of the German army and was taken prisoner by the French and was held in a prison camp at Valenciennes, France for four years. After two attempts he escaped and made his way back to Germany through Belgium. Returning to relatives he learned that he had been reported dead.

Making his living as well as he could in Hagen-Westfallen, about 30 miles from Dusseldorf, Podeleiski was married in 1948. Moving to Holzminder, Hans Jergan was born in 1949. In 1951, the family moved back to Hagen where they resided until coming to this country. Mrs. Podleiski made all of her clothing, the children's and most of her husband's because of the high prices of ready made wear.

Dieter was born in 1952 and shortly after he was a year old the family made application to come to the United States but couldn't enter unless they had a sponsor. After a wait of two years arrangements were made for the Prichards to sponsor a family, then another year passed before their dream came true.

As there were but two contestants in this event, it was completed at the afternoon session.

Their respective parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cowherd and Mr. and Mrs. Forest W. Bowman, all of Petersburg.

Second place went to the Franklin High School team, which drew the negative side of the argument. Mary Shay Reynolds, a junior and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Reynolds, Franklin, and Elizabeth Probst, a senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Probst, Moyers, were the contestants.

A total of 23 contestants participated in the events, with the following high schools represented: Franklin, Keyser, Moorefield, Paw Paw, Petersburg, Piedmont, Ridgeley and Romney. Weather conditions prevented the Martinsburg group from attending.

Miss Flora Jean Fost and a committee of college students, headed by Nila Kinzer and Janice Mills, entertained the contestants, coaches and high school principals at an informal party in Reynolds Hall.

Visitors were guests of the college at dinner in the dining room of Davis Hall prior to the evening's finals, for which President E. E. Church presided as chairman.

St. Michael's Church Lists Schedule For Holy Week

FROSTBURG — The solemn services of Holy Week will begin Palm Sunday at St. Michael's Catholic Church. Palm will be distributed at the door of the church before the 10:15 a. m. high mass. The blessing of the palms will precede the mass the parishioners holding the branches as the blessing takes place.

A solemn procession will follow the blessing of the palms, parish spokesmen explaining the blessing is abbreviated and a new emphasis placed on the procession. The Senior Choir will present the musical program at the mass.

The principal services of Holy Week will now be held in the evening instead of during the morning hours, as was formerly the custom. The revised schedule for Holy Week follows:

Holy Thursday, at 8 p. m., mass commemorating the Last Supper will be celebrated and communion will be distributed. The procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament to the repository altar will follow. Adoration before the altar will be continued during the night, with the men of the parish keeping the hours of adoration. Adoration will be held all day on Good Friday also.

On Good Friday, the service will begin at 6 p. m. and will include readings, prayers, adoration of the cross and a communion service. The reception of the Holy Eucharist at the Good Friday service is the first time since the sixteenth century that the faithful will be allowed to receive communion on Good Friday and marks one of the greatest changes in the rubrics of the church service.

The Easter vigil service will begin at 11 p. m. Holy Saturday and include the blessings of the new fire, paschal candle and holy water, followed by a high mass at midnight at which the Senior Choir will sing.

The eucharistic fasts will begin at 5:30 p. m. Thursday and 3:30 p. m. Friday. The ordinary regulations will apply Saturday since holy communion will be received after midnight. The Lenten fast will be in effect until midnight Saturday.

Confessions during Holy Week will be heard on Monday and Tuesday from 5 until 6 p. m.; on Wednesday, from 4 to 6 and 7:30 to 9:00 p. m., and on Saturday from 5 to 6 and 7:30 to 9:00 p. m. and by special appointment.

Psychology Of Business Relations Course Opens

KEYSER — Advance inquiries on the part of area businessmen and companies indicate keen interest in the Psychology of Business Relations course which begins today at Potomac State College.

The four-weeks course being sponsored by the Keyser Chamber of Commerce will meet on successive Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m., in Room 220, of the Science Hall. Registration will take place this evening.

John O. Maiden, head of the college psychology department, will be instructor for the course which is being geared to the needs of employers in both large and small business concerns.

The significance, techniques and pitfalls of "Interviews and Ratings" will be treated at the opening session. The history of measurements, testing, special factors and occupational significance on "intelligence" will be discussed at the second meeting, March 27.

The third meeting, Tuesday, April 3, will have as its subject "Grievances," with the discussion to be on kinds and types, preventions, satisfaction and the "problem employe."

"Recognizing the Person In Your Personnel" is the significant topic of the final evening's program, Tuesday, April 10. F. T. Bell, personnel director of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, will be in charge of this session. With him will be Walter Hedrick, personnel director of Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and William Lawrence, personnel director of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Cumberland plant.

Also present will be some employes of both the Celanese and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Companies, so that problems may be discussed from the point of view of both employer and employe.

Some of the more interesting aspects of the subject to be discussed that evening will be a true case history on "Why an able young employe became a union leader rather than a leader in management;" "Some of the reasons for the trend toward reduction in the number of workers per supervisor;" "Why does the worker go first to his union leader with his troubles?" "Lack of recognition of the good worker — preoccupation with the problem employe in a large industry," and "Summarization of the advantages of being a small businessman or employer."

A $10 fee will be charged for the complete course, and the course is open to both men and women. No particular educational requirements are necessary for enrolling in the course.

Ghoulish COD Racket Noted By Post Office

A warning to the general public has been issued by the United States Post Office Department, to beware of a racket, which has been increasing in volume, involving unordered COD parcels.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said "the swindlers watch obituary columns in newspapers, and then mail inexpensive Bibles, religious articles and the like, at exorbitant prices, COD to the name of the deceased person. The operators of this racket know that the bereaved family, thinking the deceased ordered the article, usually pays for the package."

The Postmaster General points out that the prices charged for the COD article is usually highly exorbitant and terms the practice "a ghoulish racket." He urged any persons who receive such COD packages to notify their postmaster immediately.

Some of these shipments are made COD by express or other method of shipping rather than the mails. However, since the COD payment is sent through the mails, this places the matter under the jurisdiction of the Post Office, Summerfield explained. Such shipments should also be reported immediately.

All instances in which the U.S. mail is in any way involved will be promptly investigated by postal inspectors, Summerfield promised.

Ghoulish COD Racket Noted By Post Office

A warning to the general public has been issued by the United States Post Office Department, to beware of a racket, which has been increasing in volume, involving unordered COD parcels.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said "the swindlers watch obituary columns in newspapers, and then mail inexpensive Bibles, religious articles and the like, at exorbitant prices, COD to the name of the deceased person. The operators of this racket know that the bereaved family, thinking the deceased ordered the article, usually pays for the package."

The Postmaster General points out that the prices charged for the COD article is usually highly exorbitant and terms the practice "a ghoulish racket." He urged any persons who receive such COD packages to notify their postmaster immediately.

Some of these shipments are made COD by express or other method of shipping rather than the mails. However, since the COD payment is sent through the mails, this places the matter under the jurisdiction of the Post Office, Summerfield explained. Such shipments should also be reported immediately.

All instances in which the U.S. mail is in any way involved will be promptly investigated by postal inspectors, Summerfield promised.

Man's Body Remains Unidentified Here

The body of a man who was dead when brought to Sacred Heart Hospital Sunday remains unidentified here, County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said.

Lilya explained he hoped to receive some definite word today about the man's fingerprints from the Maryland Penitentiary and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The body is thought to be that of a man about 40 years old and apparently a resident of Baltimore. It was brought to the hospital by two Flintstone area men and an autopsy indicated the man had died of natural causes.

Thieves Take $27 From Candy Store

Jack Sensabaugh reported yesterday to City Police that someone had entered his candy store at 231 Virginia Avenue, taking two cartons of cigarets and $27 from the cash register. The culprits overlooked an additional $60 in the register.

Sensabaugh told authorities he and his wife locked up the building about 9:15 p.m. Sunday to go to a movie. He said he returned to the store about 1:30 Monday morning to clean up and discovered the cord to the electric cash register had been plugged into a wall socket.

Sensabaugh said he checked and found three $5 bills, two $1 bills and two $5 rolls of quarters missing as well as the cartons of cigarets.

The commission also reported that 16 Maryland counties—Allegany among them—got through last S-D Day without a single fatality. Others were Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Dorchester, Kent, Harford, Queen Anne, St. Mary's Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester.

The National Anthem Has An Anniversary

Twenty-five years ago this month the United States Congress was embroiled in one of the most vociferous and yet humorous debates ever to be heard in its revered and customarily staid chambers. Those who were spectators at the time must have been flabbergasted, for they heard their government representatives argue for days, not about taxes, tariffs or trade, but about the merits of a poem.

One after another, would-be poets took the floor to expound loudly, if not loquaciously, the various verses of the poem, "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

After the verses had been repeated often enough that most of the Congressmen must have known them by heart, the tune was taken apart note by note. After such remarks as "warlike," "beyond the range of patriots," and "written in honor of an event of no importance in American history," the resolution which would immortalize this song was put up to a vote and passed.

This resolution officially designated the song, known for some years past as "The Star-Spangled Banner," the national anthem.

But this act of Congress merely gave official title to a song the people had long accepted as their favorite national song. Ever since its modest inception in 1814 when Maryland's Francis Scott Key wrote on the back of an envelope the exultation and pride he felt at seeing the American flag still flying over Fort McHenry in Baltimore harbor, the words—and later song—were an inspiration to American patriots.

Within 24 hours after they were written, the words had been published in widely-circulated handbills, and hailed widely by the citizenry. In a short time the words were added to a popular tavern song, "To Anacreona In Heaven," and the new song became a favorite overnight. By the Civil War between the States era it had become the leading national song and from then on was the piece most often played by military and other bands at ceremonies.

Finally, in 1931, after prolonged discussion of poetry, Congress belatedly adopted "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the nation's foremost song. The song is worthy of the honor unquestionably.

These Days

The Nixon Victory

The Nixon write-in vote in the New Hampshire primaries established two facts:

1. The Republican Party still exists as a political organism dependent upon grass-root decisions;

2. That Republicans regard Nixon as a Republican and not as a political eunuch.

This may sound complex but I point it up because it is not unusual for more than 22,000 persons in a state like New Hampshire to have written anybody's name on the ballot unless word had gone forth that was a test of party strength. Democrats, New Dealers, A.D.A.ers and similar persons may oppose this or that Republican in speeches, in newspaper articles and in whispering campaigns, but they cannot vote in most primaries and they cannot be delegates to a party convention. They will have their opportunity in the general election to vote for or against anybody, but it is not the right of outsiders to determine what a party should do. The attempt, on the part of some politicians to denature the Republican Party by making it include everybody, even those opposed to the party, violates the two-party system which is of the essence of American politics.

It is like the suggestion I heard the other day that if the Republicans cannot get a Republican other than Richard Nixon, they might try a Democrat, like Senator Clinton Anderson. I do not take that seriously, as I am sure a responsible man, such as Senator Anderson is, would not take such a proposition seriously. But even the mention of this idea shows the demoralizing influence of non-partisanship which is the only platform upon which amateurs can operate. The New Hampshire primary proves that the non-partisans or bi-partisans have not yet taken over the Republican Party.

Another factor that must be noted in the New Hampshire primaries is that the partisan write-in vote for Nixon was a direct repudiation of the President's assistant, Sherman Adams, who was once Governor of that state and who is a political opponent of Senator Styles Bridges who is a firm supporter of Richard Nixon.

Adams does not openly oppose Nixon because he never does anything openly, but in conservative Republican circles, where he has long been regarded as the devil in the Eisenhower inner group, he has been suspected of cooking up the anti-Nixon dumping scheme.

It is altogether possible that this is an incorrect assumption and that Sherman Adams has had nothing to do with this stupid attempt to do to Nixon what Roosevelt did to Henry Wallace. But it goes to show how Republicans feel that whenever anything goes wrong, they attribute it to Sherman Adams. At any rate, in New Hampshire that was a factor in the situation and the voters up there enjoyed showing Sherm that so far as they were concerned he could get no support in his home state. The Nixon write-in vote was a great victory for Senator Styles Bridges.

The Nixon situation basically involves the existence of the Republican Party as a political organ that flows from the grass-roots up to the leadership or whether it is a vote-gathering mechanism that is rigidly controlled by the technicians in the White House. As there can traditionally be no opposition to President Eisenhower who must be supported for a second term, ordinarily this would be a dull year for partisans who would have to take Eisenhower and Nixon for granted. It was not believed that the President would dump Nixon because of their close relations, but when the President had his heart attack, the schemers got busy, on the assumption that whoever had a heart attack must sooner or later die. It is also true that even without a heart attack, it is possible to die in office, but there is a better chance if one has suffered from this kind of ailment.

So the interested parties began to scheme for the Vice Presidency. The vulgarity, the indeceny of gambling on the possibilities of another person's death, particularly by close associates, was beyond belief but it happened and in New Hampshire the schemers were kicked in the pants as they deserved to be. Even many who are not enthusiastic about Nixon resent the viciousness of the attacks on him. And that, one hopes, settles that.

Harbinger Of Spring?

Harry Truman Faces Tough Decision; Rep. Barden Angers Committeemen

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Ex-President Truman has faced a lot of problems in his day, but he now faces the most difficult of all. Perhaps not since the Potsdam Conference has he been so worried.

After Potsdam, of course, he had to make the soul-tormenting decision to drop the atom bomb over Hiroshima. Later he had to make a decision regarding the Berlin air-lift; another regarding the Marshall Plan; also aid to Greece and Turkey; plus the question of whether he should run again in 1948, when various Democratic leaders were trying to draft Eisenhower instead.

Harry rose to all these occasions with considerable promptitude and courage. He did not waver, did not appoint any of the commissions now so numerous in Washington.

Today, however, things are tougher. The most difficult decision of all time is at Harry's doorstep.

Margaret wants a small family wedding — only a few friends invited.

But Mrs. Truman wants to see her one and only child married the right way. She wants a big formal wedding. And Harry, torn between the two women he loves most, is in a quandary. He may even do what Eisenhower has done so many times — appoint a commission to decide.

NOTE — The New York Times staff never guessed it, but when Mr. Truman visited the editorial offices of that newspaper in January, he did so not because he was interested in the Times, but because he wanted to see the desk where his prospective son-in-law worked. He made Clifton Daniel, assistant foreign editor of the Times and Margaret's fiance, take him down to the Times to show him where he worked.

Bristling Democrats

The hackles bristled on the necks of 11 Democratic Congressmen at a closed-door, highly secret meeting in the office of Congressman Graham Barden, Democrat of New Bern, N. C.

Barden is the courtly Carolinian, chairman of the House Education and Labor committee who began life as a school teacher but is now bitterly opposed to aid to education. He has become one of the most reactionary members of Congress.

Barden is so reactionary that he has held not one meeting of his Education and Labor Committee since Congress convened in January, instead rules the committee with his own iron hand. Though he took time to arrange a nice committee junket to Puerto Rico, he will not take one hour to call a regular meeting.

What forced this impromptu meeting of Democrats only in Barden's private office, was the fact that he had hired a recognized labor-baiter, James M. Brewbaker, as counsel of the committee — a committee which is entrusted with liberalizing the Taft-Hartley Act, broadening wage-hour laws and passing federal aid to education.

Yet without consulting a single member of the committee, Barden had hired a "labor adviser" who had spent 11 years working for the anti-labor National Association of Manufacturers and later formed his own anti-labor outfit, the Association of Industrial Mobilization.

Glowering Democrats

Eleven glowering Democrats, therefore, gathered in Barden's office. Barden, in turn, matched their glowers.

"We should wash our linen within the confines of our own committee," he said, frowning at Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt, who had issued a press statement criticizing the Brewbaker appointment.

"I don't agree," replied Roosevelt. He went on to point out that when the committee chairman appointed an anti-labor counsel without calling a meeting and without consulting other Congressmen, he had every right to express his view publicly and emphatically.

Two Southern Democrats did not bristle. They defended Barden.

"We should stay with the chairman," insisted Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama. "The committee granted him the authority to hire the counsel and I will stay with him on his choice."

Representative Phil Landrum of Georgia nodded agreement.

The other Democrats did not agree. And for three hours they expressed their views in no uncertain terms. Those who protested Barden's highhanded operation were: Kelley of Pennsylvania, Bailey of West Virginia, Perkins of Kentucky, Wier of Minnesota, Metcalf of Montana, Chudoff of Pennsylvania, Green of Oregon, McDowell of Delaware, Thompson of New Jersey, and Udall of Arizona.

"I never dreamed anyone would question his integrity," Barden protested, referring to Brewbaker.

Professional Labor-Baiting

The courtly Carolinian was being naive. For Brewbaker has gone about as far as possible to go in professional labor-baiting. After 11 years wtih the NAM, he established his own Association of Industrial Mobilization which advertised to industry that for $1,000 a year it would supply them with so-called industry "research studies."

What these "research studies" actually were was disclosed in Brewbaker's trustee memorandum No. 4, which promised that Brewbaker's organization "would prepare educational material designed to inform the American people of those activities of organized groups which, if carried to excess, will destroy free collective bargaining and eventually free competitive private enterprise."

Brewbaker's first study was "union political expenditures," based on material from the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

However, business groups didn't seem interested enough to pay $1,000 a year from this labor-baiting service, and Brewbaker was available for another job. Congressman Barden obliged by giving him a key post where he could pass on labor laws for the entire United States.

Security More Important Than Individual Rights

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The basic principle that the safety of the state—the nation and all its people—is more important to protect than the doubtful right of an individual to a government job has just received its strongest endorsement by the Parliament of Great Britain.

For centuries England has been held up as a model defender of human rights, but various critics there and elsewhere in Europe have in recent years been scoffing at the loyalty and security programs of the United States Government.

Now with a condition and not just a theory staring them in the face, a Conference of Privy Councillors, appointed by the Prime Minister, has adopted a report which is an aftermath of the cases of Burgess and MacLean who turned traitor while occupying important posts in the British Foreign Office.

There have been in Britain, as in America, misguided comments by so-called "liberals" against the action of government departments in taking into account "guilt" by association," and much furor has been raised here about the alleged neglect of "due process of law"—a phrase used in the Constitution.

But what these critics mean by "due process" is that everybody suspected of subversive activity or of possibly becoming a security risk in a government department must be given the same procedures as in a court trial. This would include the right to cross-examine witnesses and to force public disclosure of confidential informants. As Chairman Francis Walter of the House Committee of Un-American Activities said the other day, this would be a convenient way for the Communists to find out how they were being detected.

The latest British official report, however, declares it is necessary to conceal sources of information sometimes and that security risks cannot be handled on the basis of "standards which would be accepted in a court of law." The full text of the report itself is withheld as "not in the public interest to publish" and only an "official summary" is revealed, which says in part:

"The Conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favor of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a Communist or a Communist sympathizer may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature.

"The Conference recognize that some of the measures which the state is driven to take to protect its security are in some respects alien to our traditional practices. Thus, in order not to imperil sources of information, decisions have sometimes to be taken without revealing full details of the supporting evidence. Again, it is sometimes necessary to refuse to employ a man on secret duties, or in those cases where no alternative work can be found for him in the public service, to refuse to employ him at all, because after the fullest investigation doubts about his reliability remain, even although nothing may have been proved against him on standards which would be accepted in a court of law."

In the main the report says that while the present arrangements are not unsound, "certain recommendations" are necessary "to strengthen the system in some respects." There follows some important observations:

"The Conference recognize that today great importance must be paid to character defects as factors tending to make a man unreliable or expose him to blackmail, or influence by foreign agents. There is a duty on departments to inform themselves of serious failings such as drunkenness, addiction to drugs, homosexuality or any loose living that may seriously affect a man's reliability . . .

" . . . In individual cases and in certain sections of the public service, a serious character defect may appropriately be the determining factor in a decision to dismiss a particular individual or to transfer him to other work . . ."

This very subject now is before the Supreme Court of the United States for a ruling in some key cases, so it's interesting to see how a high tribunal in Britain has dealt with the same problem. In fact the wording of the British Parliamentary report, while not as comprehensive as the existing executive order of the President and the directive of the Secretary of Defense, actually parallels them both.

It certainly makes one wonder what kind of jurisprudence the two judges of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco applied recently when they said the U. S. Coast Guard couldn't keep a seaman off a ship—if they suspected him of being a security risk—until complicated legal procedures were carried out. Yet criticism properly visited upon these judges for subordinating the national safety to the rights of an individual has been denounced by phony "liberals" as a sublimation of the state in line with Hitler doctrine. They should examine the British Parliament's report to get the latest word about protection of all the people against the machinations of the few.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

"She ran the gamut of human emotions from A to B."

Anytime a gag is credited to more than six people you know it was written by "The Bug."

A lot of my stuff escaped through speeches at dinners and banquets and wisecracking in restaurants.

Along with the Virginia judge (Grace Kelly's uncle) and a character named Claud Duggenfield, better known as Bill Fields, I was a Philadelphia saloon comic.

Not one of them could ever trace the exact time when the transition took place, but all of us naturally drifted toward New York where they paid you for it.

When I came to New York literature was in the hands of a small group in the Algonquin, each one equipped with Roget's Thesaurus and a Japanese back-scratcher.

Everything I said was gobbled up and distributed where it would do them most good. This was so apparent that Bobby Edwards, troubador, village knockabout and editor of "The Quill," asked in 1919, 37 years ago: "Why the conspiracy of silence against Bugs Baer?"

It has never been lifted except in plays by my contemporaries — Damon Runyon, Ben de Casseres, Ring Lardner, O. O. McIntyre, Irvin Cobb and Will Rogers, not one of whom ever lunched at the Algonquin.

"She ran the gamut of human emotions from A to B" was written about Ethel Barrymore in "The Twelve Pound Look."

New Operation May Change Concept Of Vertigo

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Meniere's Disease makes a person feel dizzier than 10 martinis on an empty stomach. Occasionally the victim acts as if he were inebriated and may be arrested for drunkenness. The vertigo of this ear condition is not continuous; it exists only during the attacks.

The bouts develop suddenly and may subside within a few minutes, only to recur at intervals varying from a few minutes to many years. Some sufferers feel unsteady and veer to right or left, bumping into a lamppost or parked car. They complain of a sensation of objects moving through space from side to side or up and down.

When the eyes are closed, the individual floats through air. Now and then the afflicted person falls to the ground as though struck by a club. Ear noises also occur during the attack. They are continuous or intermittent and sound like roaring surf or a high pitched whistle.

In addition, characteristic deafness plagues the patient. He hears but the sounds are so distorted he is unable to recognize their meaning. The disease stems from the delicate balancing center in the ear.

Dr. Julius Lempert, who originated the fenestration operation for deafness from otosclerosis, recently has operated upon the labyrinth in an attempt to eliminate giddiness in patients with severe Meniere's disease. He found the walls of the labyrinth studded with tiny blisters (herpes) resembling fever blisters or cold sores.

This is the first report on such work and if confirmed, there is a good possibility that many changes in the treatment of this disorder will be instituted. Up to now, most authorities were of the opinion that the vestibular apparatus became swollen because of changes in circulation.

The tiny blood vessels in this area were thought to be influenced by emotional disturbances, fatigue, changes in weather, toxic substances, and hypersensitivity to certain foods. Treatment was aimed at improving circulation through the use of drugs that acted directly on the nerves controlling the flow of blood through these vessels.

Atropine, for example, terminated the attack in 15 to 20 minutes. Somewhat similar results were obtained with epinephrine, bentamine. Between acute attacks, heat and vasodilating drugs like nicotinic acid were used to improve circulation and a low salt diet were advocated to minimize swelling. But the observations of Dr. Lempert may change our concept of the disease.

Kindness Of Mr. Finley

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The National Gallery of Art is only incidentally located on Constitution Avenue; it is not local but national, as its name implies. The true address of this vast pink marble treasure house is really not Washington, D. C., but simply the United States of America.

These fairly obvious facts are worth pointing out at the moment because David Edward Finley is now retiring from the National Gallery directorship. The Almighty made the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon. The Capitol, the White House and our other man-made landscape features are owed to scores of hands and minds. But David Finley, the real creator of the National Gallery, has added a new and major feature to the American landscape almost single-handed.

Gave Himself

There is a good deal of confusion on this point, no doubt. The National Gallery is often called the Mellon Gallery; and it is certainly true that Andrew W. Mellon generously spent something like 50 million dollars buying pictures for and endowing and building the great gallery. But where Mellon gave money, Finley gave himself, which was rather more important in the long run.

On first acquaintance, to be sure, you would not suppose that David Finley is the sort of man who could matter quite a lot more, all by himself, than 50 million dollars. He is a short, slender fellow of decidedly avian appearance, with the almost exhaustingly good manners of an old-fashioned South Carolinian. He never speaks an unkind word or does an unkind thing. He is an enthusiastic gardener, but you feel he is even polite to the weeds as he uproots them. He goes to church, sits on the vestry, and is loyal to old friends. Altogether, you would say, a complete epitome of all the milder virtues.

But David Finley's beautiful manners and mild appearance mask a steely determination and a happy ruthlessness that would not be entirely out of place in the Kremlin. He has never wanted much, rather luckily, for himself But when Finley wants something for the National Gallery, iron men are twisted into knots; strong men blanch and stand aside; and obstinate men do not know what has hit them.

Bill Passed Unanimously

There was the occasion, for example, when the Pennsylvanians were being small-minded about keeping Joseph A. Widener's incomparable pictures at home in Philadelphia. The Pennsylvania legislature passed a special estate-tax bill designed to prevent Widener from giving his pictures to Finley. Finley got President Roosevelt to ask Congress for another special bill to allow the U. S. Treasury to pay the tax. The entire Pennsylvania congressional delegation was alerted to defeat this bill of Finley's. There were 30 of them. There was only one Finley. But Finley managed to whisk through his bill by unanimous consent when all 30 Pennsylvanians were absent-mindedly looking the other way.

Or there was the other occasion when David Finley arranged to kidnap a Michelangelo out of Italy. That story cannot quite be told, even today. But it can be said that the Finley kidnaping, or rather picture-naping scheme would surely have worked, if a key American participant had not been too fearful of being stoned in the street by enraged Italian art-lovers. To this day, Finley shakes his head over such poltronnery and want of patriotism.

But while the Finley drama has had its iron scenes, the sympathetic scenes have been far more common. Finley has an unusual gift of sympathy (except for anyone who wants something the National Gallery ought to have); and it was this special gift of his, one suspects, that made Andrew Mellon, aging, a little chilly and isolated by his fantastic wealth, choose out David Finley for his man Friday among all the young officials of the Treasury who might have filled the post.

Mellon it was who first conceived the notion of giving an art gallery to the nation. But it was Finley, very certainly, who decided that the gallery must be fit to stand comparison with the Louvre and the Prado, the National Gallery of London, the Hermitage in Moscow and Pitti in Florence. And it was Finley who made the great scheme for a national treasure house into the dominating interest of Mellon's later years.

Only One Defeat

How the Soviets sold the Gallery the masterpieces of art they inherited from Catherine the Great; how the mignificent Kress collection, the splendid pictures of Chester Dale, and many more came to the Gallery, all this should of course be told.

But the truth is that except for J. P. Morgan's lovely Ghirlandaio portrait that went to Switzerland, almost nothing that the Gallery should have had and could have had has failed to find its way there somehow.

"Mr. Morgan," says Finley, still visibly distressed after 20 years, "was in much too much of a hurry to sell to Baron Thyssen." But this one defeat can surely be forgiven in David Finley's long record of splendid triumph on our behalf.

The National Anthem Has An Anniversary

Twenty-five years ago this month the United States Congress was embroiled in one of the most vociferous and yet humorous debates ever to be heard in its revered and customarily staid chambers. Those who were spectators at the time must have been flabbergasted, for they heard their government representatives argue for days, not about taxes, tariffs or trade, but about the merits of a poem.

One after another, would-be poets took the floor to expound loudly, if not loquaciously, the various verses of the poem, "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

After the verses had been repeated often enough that most of the Congressmen must have known them by heart, the tune was taken apart note by note. After such remarks as "warlike," "beyond the range of patriots," and "written in honor of an event of no importance in American history," the resolution which would immortalize this song was put up to a vote and passed.

This resolution officially designated the song, known for some years past as "The Star-Spangled Banner," the national anthem.

But this act of Congress merely gave official title to a song the people had long accepted as their favorite national song. Ever since its modest inception in 1814 when Maryland's Francis Scott Key wrote on the back of an envelope the exultation and pride he felt at seeing the American flag still flying over Fort McHenry in Baltimore harbor, the words—and later song—were an inspiration to American patriots.

Within 24 hours after they were written, the words had been published in widely-circulated handbills, and hailed widely by the citizenry. In a short time the words were added to a popular tavern song, "To Anacreona In Heaven," and the new song became a favorite overnight. By the Civil War between the States era it had become the leading national song and from then on was the piece most often played by military and other bands at ceremonies.

Finally, in 1931, after prolonged discussion of poetry, Congress belatedly adopted "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the nation's foremost song. The song is worthy of the honor unquestionably.

These Days

The Nixon Victory

The Nixon write-in vote in the New Hampshire primaries established two facts:

1. The Republican Party still exists as a political organism dependent upon grass-root decisions;

2. That Republicans regard Nixon as a Republican and not as a political eunuch.

This may sound complex but I point it up because it is not unusual for more than 22,000 persons in a state like New Hampshire to have written anybody's name on the ballot unless word had gone forth that was a test of party strength. Democrats, New Dealers, A.D.A.ers and similar persons may oppose this or that Republican in speeches, in newspaper articles and in whispering campaigns, but they cannot vote in most primaries and they cannot be delegates to a party convention. They will have their opportunity in the general election to vote for or against anybody, but it is not the right of outsiders to determine what a party should do. The attempt, on the part of some politicians to denature the Republican Party by making it include everybody, even those opposed to the party, violates the two-party system which is of the essence of American politics.

It is like the suggestion I heard the other day that if the Republicans cannot get a Republican other than Richard Nixon, they might try a Democrat, like Senator Clinton Anderson. I do not take that seriously, as I am sure a responsible man, such as Senator Anderson is, would not take such a proposition seriously. But even the mention of this idea shows the demoralizing influence of non-partisanship which is the only platform upon which amateurs can operate. The New Hampshire primary proves that the non-partisans or bi-partisans have not yet taken over the Republican Party.

Another factor that must be noted in the New Hampshire primaries is that the partisan write-in vote for Nixon was a direct repudiation of the President's assistant, Sherman Adams, who was once Governor of that state and who is a political opponent of Senator Styles Bridges who is a firm supporter of Richard Nixon.

Adams does not openly oppose Nixon because he never does anything openly, but in conservative Republican circles, where he has long been regarded as the devil in the Eisenhower inner group, he has been suspected of cooking up the anti-Nixon dumping scheme.

It is altogether possible that this is an incorrect assumption and that Sherman Adams has had nothing to do with this stupid attempt to do to Nixon what Roosevelt did to Henry Wallace. But it goes to show how Republicans feel that whenever anything goes wrong, they attribute it to Sherman Adams. At any rate, in New Hampshire that was a factor in the situation and the voters up there enjoyed showing Sherm that so far as they were concerned he could get no support in his home state. The Nixon write-in vote was a great victory for Senator Styles Bridges.

The Nixon situation basically involves the existence of the Republican Party as a political organ that flows from the grass-roots up to the leadership or whether it is a vote-gathering mechanism that is rigidly controlled by the technicians in the White House. As there can traditionally be no opposition to President Eisenhower who must be supported for a second term, ordinarily this would be a dull year for partisans who would have to take Eisenhower and Nixon for granted. It was not believed that the President would dump Nixon because of their close relations, but when the President had his heart attack, the schemers got busy, on the assumption that whoever had a heart attack must sooner or later die. It is also true that even without a heart attack, it is possible to die in office, but there is a better chance if one has suffered from this kind of ailment.

So the interested parties began to scheme for the Vice Presidency. The vulgarity, the indeceny of gambling on the possibilities of another person's death, particularly by close associates, was beyond belief but it happened and in New Hampshire the schemers were kicked in the pants as they deserved to be. Even many who are not enthusiastic about Nixon resent the viciousness of the attacks on him. And that, one hopes, settles that.

Harbinger Of Spring?

Harry Truman Faces Tough Decision; Rep. Barden Angers Committeemen

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Ex-President Truman has faced a lot of problems in his day, but he now faces the most difficult of all. Perhaps not since the Potsdam Conference has he been so worried.

After Potsdam, of course, he had to make the soul-tormenting decision to drop the atom bomb over Hiroshima. Later he had to make a decision regarding the Berlin air-lift; another regarding the Marshall Plan; also aid to Greece and Turkey; plus the question of whether he should run again in 1948, when various Democratic leaders were trying to draft Eisenhower instead.

Harry rose to all these occasions with considerable promptitude and courage. He did not waver, did not appoint any of the commissions now so numerous in Washington.

Today, however, things are tougher. The most difficult decision of all time is at Harry's doorstep.

Margaret wants a small family wedding — only a few friends invited.

But Mrs. Truman wants to see her one and only child married the right way. She wants a big formal wedding. And Harry, torn between the two women he loves most, is in a quandary. He may even do what Eisenhower has done so many times — appoint a commission to decide.

NOTE — The New York Times staff never guessed it, but when Mr. Truman visited the editorial offices of that newspaper in January, he did so not because he was interested in the Times, but because he wanted to see the desk where his prospective son-in-law worked. He made Clifton Daniel, assistant foreign editor of the Times and Margaret's fiance, take him down to the Times to show him where he worked.

Bristling Democrats

The hackles bristled on the necks of 11 Democratic Congressmen at a closed-door, highly secret meeting in the office of Congressman Graham Barden, Democrat of New Bern, N. C.

Barden is the courtly Carolinian, chairman of the House Education and Labor committee who began life as a school teacher but is now bitterly opposed to aid to education. He has become one of the most reactionary members of Congress.

Barden is so reactionary that he has held not one meeting of his Education and Labor Committee since Congress convened in January, instead rules the committee with his own iron hand. Though he took time to arrange a nice committee junket to Puerto Rico, he will not take one hour to call a regular meeting.

What forced this impromptu meeting of Democrats only in Barden's private office, was the fact that he had hired a recognized labor-baiter, James M. Brewbaker, as counsel of the committee — a committee which is entrusted with liberalizing the Taft-Hartley Act, broadening wage-hour laws and passing federal aid to education.

Yet without consulting a single member of the committee, Barden had hired a "labor adviser" who had spent 11 years working for the anti-labor National Association of Manufacturers and later formed his own anti-labor outfit, the Association of Industrial Mobilization.

Glowering Democrats

Eleven glowering Democrats, therefore, gathered in Barden's office. Barden, in turn, matched their glowers.

"We should wash our linen within the confines of our own committee," he said, frowning at Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt, who had issued a press statement criticizing the Brewbaker appointment.

"I don't agree," replied Roosevelt. He went on to point out that when the committee chairman appointed an anti-labor counsel without calling a meeting and without consulting other Congressmen, he had every right to express his view publicly and emphatically.

Two Southern Democrats did not bristle. They defended Barden.

"We should stay with the chairman," insisted Rep. Carl Elliott of Alabama. "The committee granted him the authority to hire the counsel and I will stay with him on his choice."

Representative Phil Landrum of Georgia nodded agreement.

The other Democrats did not agree. And for three hours they expressed their views in no uncertain terms. Those who protested Barden's highhanded operation were: Kelley of Pennsylvania, Bailey of West Virginia, Perkins of Kentucky, Wier of Minnesota, Metcalf of Montana, Chudoff of Pennsylvania, Green of Oregon, McDowell of Delaware, Thompson of New Jersey, and Udall of Arizona.

"I never dreamed anyone would question his integrity," Barden protested, referring to Brewbaker.

Professional Labor-Baiting

The courtly Carolinian was being naive. For Brewbaker has gone about as far as possible to go in professional labor-baiting. After 11 years wtih the NAM, he established his own Association of Industrial Mobilization which advertised to industry that for $1,000 a year it would supply them with so-called industry "research studies."

What these "research studies" actually were was disclosed in Brewbaker's trustee memorandum No. 4, which promised that Brewbaker's organization "would prepare educational material designed to inform the American people of those activities of organized groups which, if carried to excess, will destroy free collective bargaining and eventually free competitive private enterprise."

Brewbaker's first study was "union political expenditures," based on material from the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

However, business groups didn't seem interested enough to pay $1,000 a year from this labor-baiting service, and Brewbaker was available for another job. Congressman Barden obliged by giving him a key post where he could pass on labor laws for the entire United States.

Security More Important Than Individual Rights

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The basic principle that the safety of the state—the nation and all its people—is more important to protect than the doubtful right of an individual to a government job has just received its strongest endorsement by the Parliament of Great Britain.

For centuries England has been held up as a model defender of human rights, but various critics there and elsewhere in Europe have in recent years been scoffing at the loyalty and security programs of the United States Government.

Now with a condition and not just a theory staring them in the face, a Conference of Privy Councillors, appointed by the Prime Minister, has adopted a report which is an aftermath of the cases of Burgess and MacLean who turned traitor while occupying important posts in the British Foreign Office.

There have been in Britain, as in America, misguided comments by so-called "liberals" against the action of government departments in taking into account "guilt" by association," and much furor has been raised here about the alleged neglect of "due process of law"—a phrase used in the Constitution.

But what these critics mean by "due process" is that everybody suspected of subversive activity or of possibly becoming a security risk in a government department must be given the same procedures as in a court trial. This would include the right to cross-examine witnesses and to force public disclosure of confidential informants. As Chairman Francis Walter of the House Committee of Un-American Activities said the other day, this would be a convenient way for the Communists to find out how they were being detected.

The latest British official report, however, declares it is necessary to conceal sources of information sometimes and that security risks cannot be handled on the basis of "standards which would be accepted in a court of law." The full text of the report itself is withheld as "not in the public interest to publish" and only an "official summary" is revealed, which says in part:

"The Conference is of the opinion that in deciding these difficult and often borderline cases, it is right to continue the practice of tilting the balance in favor of offering greater protection to the security of the state rather than in the direction of safeguarding the rights of the individual. They recommend that an individual who is living with a wife or husband who is a Communist or a Communist sympathizer may, for that reason alone, have to be moved from secret work, and that the same principle should be applied in other cases of a like nature.

"The Conference recognize that some of the measures which the state is driven to take to protect its security are in some respects alien to our traditional practices. Thus, in order not to imperil sources of information, decisions have sometimes to be taken without revealing full details of the supporting evidence. Again, it is sometimes necessary to refuse to employ a man on secret duties, or in those cases where no alternative work can be found for him in the public service, to refuse to employ him at all, because after the fullest investigation doubts about his reliability remain, even although nothing may have been proved against him on standards which would be accepted in a court of law."

In the main the report says that while the present arrangements are not unsound, "certain recommendations" are necessary "to strengthen the system in some respects." There follows some important observations:

"The Conference recognize that today great importance must be paid to character defects as factors tending to make a man unreliable or expose him to blackmail, or influence by foreign agents. There is a duty on departments to inform themselves of serious failings such as drunkenness, addiction to drugs, homosexuality or any loose living that may seriously affect a man's reliability . . .

" . . . In individual cases and in certain sections of the public service, a serious character defect may appropriately be the determining factor in a decision to dismiss a particular individual or to transfer him to other work . . ."

This very subject now is before the Supreme Court of the United States for a ruling in some key cases, so it's interesting to see how a high tribunal in Britain has dealt with the same problem. In fact the wording of the British Parliamentary report, while not as comprehensive as the existing executive order of the President and the directive of the Secretary of Defense, actually parallels them both.

It certainly makes one wonder what kind of jurisprudence the two judges of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco applied recently when they said the U. S. Coast Guard couldn't keep a seaman off a ship—if they suspected him of being a security risk—until complicated legal procedures were carried out. Yet criticism properly visited upon these judges for subordinating the national safety to the rights of an individual has been denounced by phony "liberals" as a sublimation of the state in line with Hitler doctrine. They should examine the British Parliament's report to get the latest word about protection of all the people against the machinations of the few.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

"She ran the gamut of human emotions from A to B."

Anytime a gag is credited to more than six people you know it was written by "The Bug."

A lot of my stuff escaped through speeches at dinners and banquets and wisecracking in restaurants.

Along with the Virginia judge (Grace Kelly's uncle) and a character named Claud Duggenfield, better known as Bill Fields, I was a Philadelphia saloon comic.

Not one of them could ever trace the exact time when the transition took place, but all of us naturally drifted toward New York where they paid you for it.

When I came to New York literature was in the hands of a small group in the Algonquin, each one equipped with Roget's Thesaurus and a Japanese back-scratcher.

Everything I said was gobbled up and distributed where it would do them most good. This was so apparent that Bobby Edwards, troubador, village knockabout and editor of "The Quill," asked in 1919, 37 years ago: "Why the conspiracy of silence against Bugs Baer?"

It has never been lifted except in plays by my contemporaries — Damon Runyon, Ben de Casseres, Ring Lardner, O. O. McIntyre, Irvin Cobb and Will Rogers, not one of whom ever lunched at the Algonquin.

"She ran the gamut of human emotions from A to B" was written about Ethel Barrymore in "The Twelve Pound Look."

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Meniere's Disease makes a person feel dizzier than 10 martinis on an empty stomach. Occasionally the victim acts as if he were inebriated and may be arrested for drunkenness. The vertigo of this ear condition is not continuous; it exists only during the attacks.

The bouts develop suddenly and may subside within a few minutes, only to recur at intervals varying from a few minutes to many years. Some sufferers feel unsteady and veer to right or left, bumping into a lamppost or parked car. They complain of a sensation of objects moving through space from side to side or up and down.

When the eyes are closed, the individual floats through air. Now and then the afflicted person falls to the ground as though struck by a club. Ear noises also occur during the attack. They are continuous or intermittent and sound like roaring surf or a high pitched whistle.

In addition, characteristic deafness plagues the patient. He hears but the sounds are so distorted he is unable to recognize their meaning. The disease stems from the delicate balancing center in the ear.

But while the Finley drama has had its iron scenes, the sympathetic scenes have been far more common. Finley has an unusual gift of sympathy (except for anyone who wants something the National Gallery ought to have); and it was this special gift of his, one suspects, that made Andrew Mellon, aging, a little chilly and isolated by his fantastic wealth, choose out David Finley for his man Friday among all the young officials of the Treasury who might have filled the post.

Mellon it was who first conceived the notion of giving an art gallery to the nation. But it was Finley, very certainly, who decided that the gallery must be fit to stand comparison with the Louvre and the Prado, the National Gallery of London, the Hermitage in Moscow and Pitti in Florence. And it was Finley who made the great scheme for a national treasure house into the dominating interest of Mellon a later years.

Only One Defeat

How the Soviets sold the Gallery the masterpieces of art they inherited from Catherine the Great; how the mignificent Kress collection, the splendid pictures of Chester Dale, and many more came to the Gallery, all this should of course be told.

But the truth is that except for J. P. Morgan's lovely Ghirlandaio portrait that went to Switzerland, almost nothing that the Gallery should have had and could have had has failed to find its way there somehow.

"Mr. Morgan," says Finley, still visibly distressed after 20 years, "was in much too much of a hurry to sell to Baron Thyssen." But this one defeat can surely be forgiven in David Finley's long record of splendid triumph on our behalf.

The U. S. Navy reveals development of a super-gun which test fires a missile the size of a golf ball at the speed of 7,000 miles an hour. That'd be a pretty hot drive for even a fellow like Sam Snead.

JIM CLINGAN is headed south and is slated to report to the Columbus (Ga.) Club of the South Atlantic League which opens spring training tomorrow at Thomasville, Ga.

The local righthanded twirler wound up the 1955 season at York, Pa., but was shifted to the Sally League club by the Baltimore Orioles when the Piedmont League went boom.

The former Allegany High athlete has pitched in the Eastern Shore League, Tobacco State League, Ohio-Indiana League, Pony League, Western League, Piedmont League and posted a 53-16 record while hurling for teams in the armed services.

GENE STAIR, of Ellerslie, takes off for Huntsville, Texas, this weekend where he will go into spring training with the Waco Club of the Big State League.

Stair is an outfielder and the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Gene belted the ball at a .376 clip with Phoenix in the Class C Arizona-Texas League last season and hit safely in 25 consecutive games.

In 1949 he was signed by Joe Brehany, one-time resident of Nikep, when the latter was scouting for the Buccos. Joe is now an ivory hunter for the Detroit Tigers and lives at Aliquippa, Pa.

Stair has played in the Western League, North Carolina State League and the Provincial League of Canada. He was in the army in 1952 and 1953.

LENA STYLES, 55, who caught Lefty Grove when the Lonaconing southpaw was pitching for Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles in the 1920's died the other day at Huntsville, Ala., following an illness of nine months.

Styles and Ben Egan shared the catching chores in those days when Jack Dunn's teams won seven straight International League pennants. George Earnshaw and Jack Bentley were pitchers on the same team and among the other players were Fritz Maisel, Joe Boley, Max Bishop and Merwin Jacobson.

Groves recalled that Styles came to the Orioles from the Philadelphia A's. Lefty also remembered that Styles played with the Orioles when they met the Frostburg Demons in an exhibition game in the Mountain City.

Lena was William Graves Styles and played in the majors with the A's and Cincinnati Reds. He quit baseball in 1935.

To Boxing Fan:

Marciano was not the heavyweight champion when he stopped Joe Louis in the 8th round at New York, Oct. 26, 1951.

Rocky did not win the title until Sept. 23, 1952 when he dethroned Jersey Joe Walcott.

Louis, now 41, lost the heavyweight title to Ezzard Charles in 15 rounds at New York, Sept. 27, 1950.

CHARLES DONLEY, Pittsburgh regional executive of the Sports Car Club of America, reports the sports car races to be held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport Sunday, May 20, have been sanctioned as a "national" affair for the second straight year.

The Steel Cities Region of the SCCA again will co-sponsor the event with the Cumberland Lions Club as a charity affair. As usual, it will be the opening of the sports car racing season in the northeast.

PAUL "BUBBLES" THOMPSON, of Midland, Md., leaped high into the air to snag a 20-yard pass for a touchdown as George Washington's varsity dropped a 14-7 decision to the Alumni Saturday as the Colonials closed spring football practice.

The pass was thrown by lefty Ray Looney and climaxed a 47-yard drive in the third period. The Alumni pushed over two touchdowns in the final quarter to win the game.

CARL HARTMAN, former Ridgeley High and Alderson-Broaddus College basketball star, established a new record for free-throw proficiency in the National Industrial Basketball League this season when he sank 62 of 71 attempts from the 15-foot line for an 87.3 mark.

Hartman played for the Goodyear Wingfoots of Akron, Ohio, the highest scoring team in the league. The Wingfoots averaged a record 79 points a game.

The Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Okla., won the league championship.

Hartman finished 15th in scoring with 266 points in 24 games.

EDDIE CRESCENZE, coach of the Oxon Hill High School quint, that lost out to Valley High in the finals of the state Class "B" basketball tourney at College Park Saturday, starred for Charley Doyle's Queen City Brewers in 1948 when the locals copped four out of seven games from Westvaco to bag the Bi-State Baseball League championship.

Queen City finished the regular season in fourth place and knocked off the Amvets before taking Westvaco in the playoffs.

"Woody" Woodson posted four straight wins over the Papermakers in the title series.

Crescenze was a third sacker and played brilliantly at the hot corner for the Queen City aggregation.

DO YOU KNOW the average length of a thoroughbred race horse measures eight feet when standing still and about ten feet when extended, that is running.

If a horse wins by "two lengths," that's about 20 feet.

A SMALL FORTUNE is being paid to the Maryland state treasury on uncashed mutuel tickets under the law which makes cashable tickets worthless three years after their sale.

A total of $73,967.10 is now due the state on 1952 tickets which racing fans lost or failed to cash.

Uncashed tickets from the mile tracks amount to $46,862, minor tracks, including Cumberland, $9,672.20, and harness tracks $17,432.40.

ACCORDING to a report of the Maryland Racing Commission, breakage (the odd pennies which accumulate when the mutuel prices are calculated) amounted to $1,310,274.50 on the state's three major tracks last year. This amount is shared by the tracks and the state.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Jack Fleck, National Open champion from Davenport, Iowa, and Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., tied with four under par 68s today in opening round play of the Seminole Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament.

Nocero Gets Nod In St. Nick Bout

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Brooklyn's Rinzi Nocero scored effectively with punches to the head of wide open Said Khelfa of Algeria tonight to win a unanimous 10-round decision at St. Nicholas Arena. Nocero weighed 164, Khelfa 169½.

The two subbed for featherweights Miguel Berrios and Bobby Bell in the television feature. Berrios was forced out by a bad cold and matchmaker Tex Sullivan could not find another featherweight to oppose Bell on short notice.

The votes, all for Nocero, were: Referee Barney Felix 6-3-1, Judge Leo Birnbaum 7-2-1, and Judge Frank Fullam 8-2. The AP card had Nocero ahead 7-3.

Basketball Rules Appear Satisfactory

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Satisfaction over present basketball playing rules is the general feeling among the nation's coaches as they began arriving in Chicago today for a series of annual meetings.

The National Assn. of Basketball Coaches will open its 30th annual convention for three days Thursday. Paul Hinkle of Butler University is chairman of the National Basketball Rules Committee.

The National Basketball Committee will meet Saturday and Sunday. It is made up of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., National Federation of High Schools, Y.M.C.A., Canadians and the A.A.U.

H. V. Porter of Chicago, secretary of the group, said that returns from 20,000 questionnaires "indicate a high degree of satisfaction with the current penalty rules."

Byrne Set Records

NEW YORK (AP)—Pitcher Tommy Byrne of the Yankees holds two team records—ones that he would rather forget. He holds the club mark for most bases on balls allowed in one season—179 in 1949. Another record is most home runs permitted in one season—23 in 1950.

TAMPA, Fla., March 19 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, manned chiefly by "B" team graduates, today yielded eight runs in the ninth inning to the Kansas City Athletics but still managed to win 14-13.

Among 23 hits the Sox collected was Sammy Esposito's single to score Jim Rivera, a pinch runner for Jim Marshall, for the decisive margin.

The Sox clouted Bobby Shantz and Walt Craddock for a 13-5 lead entering the ninth. A rally against Mike Fornieles, led by veteran Enos Slaughter's two doubles in the inning good for three runs, tied the score 13-13.

Piedmont High School's basketball squad will leave Friday morning for Morgantown where Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions play Pax High School of Fayette County in a semi-final round game of the West Virginia Class "B" championship tourney on Friday at 1 p. m. in the West Virginia University field house.

The Piedmont party will comprise about 25 persons, including the coaches, managers, 12 players and six cheer leaders.

Two years ago Pax defeated Piedmont in the Class "B" championship game. In 1953, Piedmont advanced to the state semi-finals and lost out to Hundred High School. Concord Training School defeated Hundred for the championship.

Piedmont goes to Morgantown with a 12-game winning streak and a 21-5 record. Pax has won 18 and lost six.

Here's how the teams lineup for the state semi-finals on Friday:

1 p. m., Class B—Pax (18-6) vs. Piedmont (21-5).

2:45 p. m., Class A—Parkersburg (17-9) vs. Morgantown (21-1).

6:30 p. m., Class B—Barrackville (20-3) vs. Huntington Marshall (18-7).

8:15 p. m., Class A—Mullens (22-3) vs. East Bank (20-5).

Piedmont High School will be seeking its ninth trophy of the basketball season at Morgantown. The Lions have won the Cumberland Times-News Trophy, the Potomac Valley Conference trophy, Mineral County League trophy, sectional, regional and area trophies and the cheer leaders won a trophy in the area event last week. Coach Ed Seaman's Piedmont Junior High cagers bagged the other trophy by winning the PVC Junior High tourney.

Santee Trial Is Postponed

Justice Will Hear Wes' Case Today

NEW YORK, March 19 (INS) — Wes Santee and his attorney, Charles P. Grimes, were snowbound on Long Island today, forcing postponement of the track star's attempt to upset his lifetime suspension by the Amateur Athletic Union.

New York Supreme Court Justice Walter A. Lynch put over until tomorrow afternoon his trial of Santee's motion for a permanent injunction against the AAU ban.

Santee and AAU officials had been expected to testify today in connection with the contention of America's fastest miler that the AAU executive committee had no authority to suspend him for allegedly accepting excessive expenses.

The Marine lieutenant and former University of Kansas runner has appeared in three "token" mile races since his Feb. 19 suspension as the result of a temporary restraining order issued by the court.

Syracuse Beats Celtics, 101-98

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 19 (AP) —The Syracuse Nationals hung on for a series-squaring victory over the Boston Celtics tonight 101-98 in their best-of-3 opening playoff round in the National Basketball Assn. With the series tied 1-1, the deciding contest will be played Wednesday night in Boston.

Although Bob Cousy again had a brilliant night, racking up 28 points to go with the 29 he scored Saturday, his teammates in Boston's big three—Bill Sharman and Ed MacCauly—weren't in their usual form. Sharman got only eight points, and MacCauley three.

John Kerr paced the ats with 23 points.

Double Trouble

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—It is difficult to explain how a team can score a pile of runs in one game of a double header and then very little in the second contest.

Folks hereabouts are still trying to figure this one: In a 1945 Southern Assn. twin bill the New Orleans Pelicans won the opening game 32-0, then dropped the nightcap 2-1.

At Beall he succeeded Edward Finzel who gave up baseball coaching but will remain as basketball and soccer mentor.

Brooklyn St. Francis Tops Niagara, 74-72, In Overtime Battle

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Louisville's tall, speedy Cardinals overcame Duquesne's determined slow-down as Charley Tyra led a second half spurt and knocked the defending champions out of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament 84-72 tonight. The victory for second-seeded Louisville followed St. Francis' 74-72 overtime upset of fourth-seeded Niagara.

St. Francis, the smallest school in the tournament, plays the winner of tomorrow's meeting between top-seeded Dayton and Xavier (Ohio). Louisville meets the Seton Hall-St. Joseph's winner in the semi-finals Thursday.

Louisville and Duquesne treated some 6,250 snow-bound fans in Madison Square Garden to a whistle-tooting concert by the referees as they made 15 fouls apiece in the first half and a total of 44 altogether.

After falling 11 points behind early in the game, the Dukes began playing a careful ball-possession game that brought them within one point of the Cards after seven minutes of the second half.

Then the 6 foot 8 Tyra began to find the range. The Cards reeled off seven points in a row, then eight more. Tyra hit four field goals in this spurt before he fouled out after scoring 17 points.

Duquesne's All-America Si Green turned in a desperate fine all-around performance in an effort to pull off the second upset of the evening. But he accumulated four fouls in the first half and had to play cautiously in the second half. He came out high man with 24 points, but wasn't as effective on defense.

Niagara, alternately had enough to melt the deep snow outside, then cold enough to freeze the garden rink, sank its first 10 shots from the floor in the first half, then missed the first 10 in a miserable second half shooting performance. That would have been the story of the game but for a late Niagara spurt that sent the game into overtime and set the stage for a successful St. Francis freeze.

Five minutes after the start, Niagara was 14 points ahead and at the intermission the Purple Eagles still were 7 in front although Fox already had begun his good work.

Fox, who is "only" 6-3 but outjumps the bigger boys, came in late in the first period to help Al Inniss match the rebounding of Niagara's Tom Hemans and Alex Ellis, and his appearance made all the difference in the world. From there on, St. Francis was able to control the game.

Within five minutes after the second half started, St. Francis had cut Niagara's margin to three points and at the 11-minute mark the Terriers tied it up on a goal by Les Yellin.

The Brooklynites forged slowly ahead with Inniss, their 6 6 sophomore star who scored 18 points, performing brilliantly.

Lakers Rout Hawks, 133-75

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)— The Minneapolis Lakers blistered the St. Louis Hawks with a 133-75 defeat tonight to crack two National Basketball Assn. records and square the Western Division playoff series at a game apiece.

The 58-point slaughter marked the most decisive margin in NBA annals and was engineered by all 10 Lakers, who set another loop mark by all hitting in double figures. Dugie Martin tallied 19 points to lead the victory.

Podres Passes Exam, Assigned To Bainbridge

World Series Hero Inducted Into Navy

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Johnny Podres, the young miner's son who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their first World Series championship last fall, became just another of Uncle Sam's sailor boys today.

JOHN PODRES DODGERS

Once declared unfit because of a back ailment, the 23-year-old left - hander passed his induction physical examination at New York's Armed Services Building and immediately was assigned to the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Center for basic training.

Bainbridge has produced some potent sports teams in the past.

An hour and a half after the induction by Maj. Edward N. Kaplan, Podres was hustled to the naval induction center on Broadway to take his formal vows.

Johnny, in fine spirits, said he would spend the night at the barracks at Brooklyn Navy Yard and probably report to Bainbridge tomorrow.

"I've got to spend my time in service the same as anybody else," the stocky, blond youth from Witherbee, N.Y., said, declining to enter into the controversy stirred up by Ted Williams over draft boards.

Williams, Boston Red Sox star who was called back to duty five years ago after serving in World War II, said Podres was a victim of the draft because of his World Series fame. Williams called draft boards and selective service officials "gutless."

Podres, who has been working out with the Dodgers at their Vero Beach, Fla., camp, looked fit and tanned. He wore a dark gray suit, blue overcoat, loafer sandals and no hat.

"I hope I get to play some baseball while in service," he commented. "I'd certainly like to keep in shape."

JIM CLINGAN is headed south and is slated to report to the Columbus (Ga.) Club of the South Atlantic League which opens spring training tomorrow at Thomasville, Ga.

The local righthanded twirler wound up the 1955 season at York, Pa., but was shifted to the Sally League club by the Baltimore Orioles when the Piedmont League went boom.

The former Allegany High athlete has pitched in the Eastern Shore League, Tobacco State League, Ohio-Indiana League, Pony League, Western League, Piedmont League and posted a 53-16 record while hurling for teams in the armed services.

GENE STAIR, of Ellerslie, takes off for Huntsville, Texas, this weekend where he will go into spring training with the Waco Club of the Big State League.

Stair is an outfielder and the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Gene belted the ball at a .376 clip with Phoenix in the Class C Arizona-Texas League last season and hit safely in 25 consecutive games.

In 1949 he was signed by Joe Brehany, one-time resident of Nikep, when the latter was scouting for the Buccos. Joe is now an ivory hunter for the Detroit Tigers and lives at Aliquippa, Pa.

Stair has played in the Western League, North Carolina State League and the Provincial League of Canada. He was in the army in 1952 and 1953.

LENA STYLES, 55, who caught Lefty Grove when the Lonaconing southpaw was pitching for Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles in the 1920's died the other day at Huntsville, Ala., following an illness of nine months.

Styles and Ben Egan shared the catching chores in those days when Jack Dunn's teams won seven straight International League pennants. George Earnshaw and Jack Bentley were pitchers on the same team and among the other players were Fritz Maisel, Joe Boley, Max Bishop and Merwin Jacobson.

Groves recalled that Styles came to the Orioles from the Philadelphia A's. Lefty also remembered that Styles played with the Orioles when they met the Frostburg Demons in an exhibition game in the Mountain City.

Lena was William Graves Styles and played in the majors with the A's and Cincinnati Reds. He quit baseball in 1935.

To Boxing Fan:

Marciano was not the heavyweight champion when he stopped Joe Louis in the 8th round at New York, Oct. 26, 1951.

Rocky did not win the title until Sept. 23, 1952 when he dethroned Jersey Joe Walcott.

Louis, now 41, lost the heavyweight title to Ezzard Charles in 15 rounds at New York, Sept. 27, 1950.

CHARLES DONLEY, Pittsburgh regional executive of the Sports Car Club of America, reports the sports car races to be held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport Sunday, May 20, have been sanctioned as a "national" affair for the second straight year.

The Steel Cities Region of the SCCA again will co-sponsor the event with the Cumberland Lions Club as a charity affair. As usual, it will be the opening of the sports car racing season in the northeast.

PAUL "BUBBLES" THOMPSON, of Midland, Md., leaped high into the air to snag a 20-yard pass for a touchdown as George Washington's varsity dropped a 14-7 decision to the Alumni Saturday as the Colonials closed spring football practice.

The pass was thrown by lefty Ray Looney and climaxed a 47-yard drive in the third period. The Alumni pushed over two touchdowns in the final quarter to win the game.

CARL HARTMAN, former Ridgeley High and Alderson-Broaddus College basketball star, established a new record for free-throw proficiency in the National Industrial Basketball League this season when he sank 62 of 71 attempts from the 15-foot line for an 87.3 mark.

Hartman played for the Goodyear Wingfoots of Akron, Ohio, the highest scoring team in the league. The Wingfoots averaged a record 79 points a game.

The Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Okla., won the league championship.

Hartman finished 15th in scoring with 266 points in 24 games.

EDDIE CRESCENZE, coach of the Oxon Hill High School quint, that lost out to Valley High in the finals of the state Class "B" basketball tourney at College Park Saturday, starred for Charley Doyle's Queen City Brewers in 1948 when the locals copped four out of seven games from Westvaco to bag the Bi-State Baseball League championship.

Queen City finished the regular season in fourth place and knocked off the Amvets before taking Westvaco in the playoffs.

"Woody" Woodson posted four straight wins over the Papermakers in the title series.

Crescenze was a third sacker and played brilliantly at the hot corner for the Queen City aggregation.

DO YOU KNOW the average length of a thoroughbred race horse measures eight feet when standing still and about ten feet when extended, that is running.

If a horse wins by "two lengths," that's about 20 feet.

A SMALL FORTUNE is being paid to the Maryland state treasury on uncashed mutuel tickets under the law which makes cashable tickets worthless three years after their sale.

A total of $73,967.10 is now due the state on 1952 tickets which racing fans lost or failed to cash.

Uncashed tickets from the mile tracks amount to $46,862, minor tracks, including Cumberland, $9,672.20, and harness tracks $17,432.40.

ACCORDING to a report of the Maryland Racing Commission, breakage (the odd pennies which accumulate when the mutuel prices are calculated) amounted to $1,310,274.50 on the state's three major tracks last year. This amount is shared by the tracks and the state.

Nocero Gets Nod In St. Nick Bout

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Brooklyn's Rinzi Nocero scored effectively with punches to the head of wide open Said Khelfa of Algeria tonight to win a unanimous 10-round decision at St. Nicholas Arena. Nocero weighed 164, Khelfa 169½.

The two subbed for featherweights Miguel Berrios and Bobby Bell in the television feature. Berrios was forced out by a bad cold and matchmaker Tex Sullivan could not find another featherweight to oppose Bell on short notice.

The votes, all for Nocero, were: Referee Barney Felix 6-3-1, Judge Leo Birnbaum 7-2-1, and Judge Frank Fullam 8-2. The AP card had Nocero ahead 7-3.

Basketball Rules Appear Satisfactory

CHICAGO, March 19 (AP)—Satisfaction over present basketball playing rules is the general feeling among the nation's coaches as they began arriving in Chicago today for a series of annual meetings.

The National Assn. of Basketball Coaches will open its 30th annual convention for three days Thursday. Paul Hinkle of Butler University is chairman of the National Basketball Rules Committee.

The National Basketball Committee will meet Saturday and Sunday. It is made up of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., National Federation of High Schools, Y.M.C.A., Canadians and the A.A.U.

H. V. Porter of Chicago, secretary of the group, said that returns from 20,000 questionnaires "indicate a high degree of satisfaction with the current penalty rules."

Byrne Set Records

NEW YORK (AP)—Pitcher Tommy Byrne of the Yankees holds two team records—ones that he would rather forget. He holds the club mark for most bases on balls allowed in one season—179 in 1949. Another record is most home runs permitted in one season—23 in 1950.

TAMPA, Fla., March 19 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, manned chiefly by "B" team graduates, today yielded eight runs in the ninth inning to the Kansas City Athletics but still managed to win 14-13.

Among 23 hits the Sox collected was Sammy Esposito's single to score Jim Rivera, a pinch runner for Jim Marshall, for the decisive margin.

The Sox clouted Bobby Shantz and Walt Craddock for a 13-5 lead entering the ninth. A rally against Mike Fornieles, led by veteran Enos Slaughter's two doubles in the inning good for three runs, tied the score 13-13.

Coach Ed Seaman's Piedmont Junior High cagers bagged the other trophy by winning the PVC Junior High tourney.

Santee Trial Is Postponed

Justice Will Hear Wes' Case Today

NEW YORK, March 19 (INS) — Wes Santee and his attorney, Charles P. Grimes, were snowbound on Long Island today, forcing postponement of the track star's attempt to upset his lifetime suspension by the Amateur Athletic Union.

New York Supreme Court Justice Walter A. Lynch put over until tomorrow afternoon his trial of Santee's motion for a permanent injunction against the AAU ban.

Santee and AAU officials had been expected to testify today in connection with the contention of America's fastest miler that the AAU executive committee had no authority to suspend him for allegedly accepting excessive expenses.

The Marine lieutenant and former University of Kansas runner has appeared in three "token" mile races since his Feb. 19 suspension as the result of a temporary restraining order issued by the court.

Syracuse Beats Celtics, 101-98

SYRACUSE, N.Y., March 19 (AP) —The Syracuse Nationals hung on for a series-squaring victory over the Boston Celtics tonight 101-98 in their best-of-3 opening playoff round in the National Basketball Assn. With the series tied 1-1, the deciding contest will be played Wednesday night in Boston.

Although Bob Cousy again had a brilliant night, racking up 28 points to go with the 29 he scored Saturday, his teammates in Boston's big three—Bill Sharman and Ed MaCauly—weren't in their usual form. Sharman got only eight points, and MaCauley three.

John Kerr paced the ats with 23 points.

Double Trouble

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—It is difficult to explain how a team can score a pile of runs in one game of a double header and then very little in the second contest.

Folks hereabouts are still trying to figure this one: In a 1945 Southern Assn. twin bill the New Orleans Pelicans won the opening game 32-0, then dropped the nightcap 2-1.

BEALL COACH — Melvin Brown, a member of the Beall High School faculty for the past two years, is the Frostburg school's baseball coach in the Bi-State Conference which opens its season on April 11. Brown had successes as baseball mentor at Kitzmiller High School in Garrett county in 1950 and 1951 when his teams won 15 games and lost six. He taught at Mt. Savage before coming to Beall. At Beall he succeeded Edward Finzel who gave up baseball coaching but will remain as basketball and soccer mentor.

Dukes Beaten By Louisville Cards, 84-72

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Louisville's tall, speedy Cardinals overcame Duquesne's determined slow-down as Charley Tyra led a second half spurt and knocked the defending champions out of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament 84-72 tonight. The victory for second-seeded Louisville followed St. Francis' 74-72 overtime upset of fourth-seeded Niagara.

St. Francis, the smallest school in the tournament, plays the winner of tomorrow's meeting between top-seeded Dayton and Xavier (Ohio). Louisville meets the Seton Hall-St. Joseph's winner in the semi-finals Thursday.

Louisville and Duquesne treated some 6,250 snow-bound fans in Madison Square Garden to a whistle-tooting concert by the referees as they made 15 fouls apiece in the first half and a total of 44 altogether.

After falling 11 points behind early in the game, the Dukes began playing a careful ball-possession game that brought them within one point of the Cards after seven minutes of the second half.

Then the 6 foot 8 Tyra began to find the range. The Cards reeled off seven points in a row, then eight more. Tyra hit four field goals in this spurt before he fouled out after scoring 17 points.

Duquesne's All-America Si Green turned in a desperate fine all-around performance in an effort to pull off the second upset of the evening. But he accumulated four fouls in the first half and had to play cautiously in the second half. He came out high man with 24 points, but wasn't as effective on defense.

Niagara, alternately had enough to melt the deep snow outside, then cold enough to freeze the garden rink, sank its first 10 shots from the floor in the first half, then missed the first 10 in a miserable second half shooting performance. That would have been the story of the game but for a late Niagara spurt that sent the game into overtime and set the stage for a successful St. Francis freeze.

Five minutes after the start, Niagara was 14 points ahead and at the intermission the Purple Eagles still were 7 in front although Fox already had begun his good work.

Fox, who is "only" 6-3 but outjumps the bigger boys, came in late in the first period to help Al Inniss match the rebounding of Niagara's Tom Hemans and Alex Ellis, and his appearance made all the difference in the world. From there on, St. Francis was able to control the game.

Within five minutes after the second half started, St. Francis had cut Niagara's margin to three points and at the 11-minute mark the Terriers tied it up on a goal by Les Yellin.

The Brooklynites forged slowly ahead with Inniss, their 6 6 sophomore star who scored 18 points, performing brilliantly.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 19 (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers blistered the St. Louis Hawks with a 133-75 defeat tonight to crack two National Basketball Assn. records and square the Western Division playoff series at a game apiece.

The 58-point slaughter marked the most decisive margin in NBA annals and was engineered by all 10 Lakers, who set another loop mark by all hitting in double figures. Dugie Martin tallied 19 points to lead the victory.

Podres Passes Exam, Assigned To Bainbridge

World Series Hero Inducted Into Navy

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP) — Johnny Podres, the young miner's son who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their first World Series championship last fall, became just another of Uncle Sam's sailor boys today.

JOHN PODRES
DODGERS

Once declared unfit because of a back ailment, the 23-year-old left - hander passed his induction physical examination at New York's Armed Services Building and immediately was assigned to the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Center for basic training.

Bainbridge has produced some potent sports teams in the past.

An hour and a half after the induction by Maj. Edward N. Kaplan, Podres was hustled to the naval induction center on Broadway to take his formal vows.

Johnny, in fine spirits, said he would spend the night at the barracks at Brooklyn Navy Yard and probably report to Bainbridge tomorrow.

"I've got to spend my time in service the same as anybody else," the stocky, blond youth from Witherbee, N.Y., said, declining to enter into the controversy stirred up by Ted Williams over draft boards.

Williams, Boston Red Sox star who was called back to duty five years ago after serving in World War II, said Podres was a victim of the draft because of his World Series fame. Williams called draft boards and selective service officials "gutless."

Podres, who has been working out with the Dodgers at their Vero Beach, Fla., camp, looked fit and tanned. He wore a dark gray suit, blue overcoat, loafer sandals and no hat.

"I hope I get to play some baseball while in service," he commented. "I'd certainly like to keep in shape."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 19—(INS)—In all the to-do over rights to the Holy Land, specifically the terrible threat of war between Israel and the Arab world, Christian claims to at least the sacred places that would lie in the path of such a war are generally forgotten.

Each side rejects the Pope's idea that the U.N. place Jerusalem under the Trusteeship Council and take steps to protect the Holy Places elsewhere in Palestine.

Christ was born, reared, preached, died, was buried and rose again on land now under dispute by representatives of the two other great faiths of mankind. But difficulties in preserving the shrines of Christianity are not new. The land that knew His sandal knew also the boots of Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, Egyptians, Crusaders, Arabs again, Turks, and the British.

"We need a little of the spirit of the Crusaders," Father Ralph Gorman, editor of "The Sign," writes in the current issue. "They raised their swords in defense of the Holy Places. We can at least raise our voices. . ."

Cheer up! Time Magazine reveals that a Harvard senior named Richard Friedberg has solved this problem: Does each non-recursive, recursively enumerable set have the property that every recursively enumerable set is recursive in it?

Open the door for Richard.

Bill Sparks, D.S.M., former Royal Marine, is in this country bashfully drumming up business for the showing in the U.S. of the most popular motion pictured now playing in England, "Cockelshell Heroes." It's partly about Bill, a smiling man who wears the rough woolens of the English working man. Bill is a plastic moulder these days, which must seem rather tame to him when he thinks of the action which won him his medal.

It was 1942. The British high command ruled that the RAF must not bomb a convoy of armed Nazi freighters which collected itself in Bordeaux Harbor. Might kill too many bystanders and weaken the French resistance movement. So the call went out to the Royal Marines to handle the job. Ten volunteered, Bill included. Two lived through the great adventure that followed.

Bill and his mates were taken by submarines to the mouth of the Gironde River and put into five small canoes, two men to a cockleshell. They paddled 75 miles to their destination, moving by night and hiding and sleeping by day. It took five days and nights. One canoe overturned and its men drowned. The Krauts intercepted two others, and shot the men aboard. Bill's canoe, commanded by Maj. H. G. Hasler, D.S.O., O.B.E. reached the side of the six moored German ships on the bitter night of December 7.

Over the side went the major, dressed in a frogman's suit. He attached a dozen limpet mines to the bottoms of three of the ships. The remaining cockles took care of the other three ships. An acid fuse gave them seven hours in which to put distance between themselves and the explosions. The major and Bill headed for the shore, as planned, and managed to work their way to a town 100 miles away, where a British spy arranged for their safe travel home. The other two men were caught and shot. Years later, Bill testified against the German naval officer whose diary revealed that he had ordered that these men be shot. I asked Bill how the trial came out.

"He hung," Bill said with a shy smile.

Market Scores Sixth New Record In Eight Sessions

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—The stock market, which has been advancing for five consecutive weeks began a new week today by scoring its sixth record high in eight sessions.

Metals, building materials, steels and a handful of selected issues were in demand, with numerous gains of 1 to 3 points and a few in the neighborhood of 6 points. Losses were under a point in most cases.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 50 cents to a new high of $189. Today's market was bolstered by another batch of encouraging business reports. The Commerce Department reported that corporations paid out 12 per cent more cash dividends in January than in the like month a year ago. The American Iron & Steel Institute said the steel mills turned out a record high tonnage last week and estimated the industry would operate at a near record 99.4 per cent of capacity this week.

The industrial component of the average rose 60 cents to a new high today. Rails advanced 30 cents and utilities lost 10 cents.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Good Company

Do you have guests at your home as often as you'd like them? Not enough time? Well, that? sounds like a very good reason. But it so happens that—although the number of women in careers increases—entertaining at home increases by leaps and bounds these days, too. Which must mean that the busiest of women learn how to step up their hospitality along with every other interesting part of their lives.

It's probably not necessary to give parties of any size, at least not often. But you're missing a lot if you don't frequently enjoy the company of one to four good friends under your own roof. It should be prefectly natural to ask them not too much in advance and to receive them without making a production of it. If you don't, or can't, what's wrong?

I'm afraid the big trouble is too often self-consciousness about your home. A rug needs replacing, there should be another big chair. I'm sorry if this is true, because I know no man ever knew the difference, and no woman guest ever let a point like this keep her from having a good time—certainly not if her hostess had a good time, too. What a pity that so many pleasant evenings never happen for reasons that really don't matter at all.

Of course there must be a standard for a home, but don't let it be a false standard of service or elegance that's impractical, and just now, quite out of style. Make your home the best home you can, but to live in, not to impress anyone—a home you can run well with the time and energy you have, not one that runs you. Then, you'll have those guests you're always talking about — and a woman is never more charming than when she enjoys being hostess in her own home.

Tomorrow — Cope with compliments.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 19 (INS)—If all goes according to schedule, Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas will be off to Rome again early next month to co-star in a picture.

"We have a story originally owned by Ingrid Bergman, but I can't tell you the title yet," said Arlene. "Fernando and I may join the annual sport rally, which means we travel in sport cars from Rome to Monaco. It's no race, but there are prizes for the car that gets there first. We have been invited and would like to join the parade."

Arlene says she gave up appearing in "Angels Don't Fly" with Anna Magnani because she had to get back to business on her lingerie line and to look after her house.

If Joe DiMaggio wants a movie job in "The Old Man and the Sea" it's his for the asking. In one sequence the old man is musing about baseball and he actually sees Joe at bat. If Joe feels he can't play the part they will probably insert a film clip of his active baseball days showing him batting in Yankee Stadium.

Director Fred Zinnemann left here yesterday to join Producer Leland Hayward in New York for the trip to Cuba where the picture will be made with Ernest Hemingway very much present, on April 25. Spencer Tracy, the star, heads, of course, in the same direction.

The party Mary Pickford started out to give for the silent stars, has grown from 40 to 200. Danny Blum, who wrote a book on silent stars, is the honor guest.

Frances Marion is helping with the big event, which is scheduled for Easter Sunday. The list of silent screen stars invited is very interesting to those of us who go back to the old days. Just a few of them are: Edwin August, Gilbert Anderson (Bronco Billy), Vilma Banky, Rod La Rocque, Blanch Sweet, Francis X. Bushman, Kathleen Williams, George O'Brien, Claire Windsor, and many others.

Fess Parker, glimpsed coming out of the Medical Center in Beverly Hills, said he wasn't really ailing but was there for a checkup and to get his shots in preparation for his departure for London on March 29.

Fess is booked for a tour throughout the British Isles and the continent where he will attend openings of "Davy Crockett."

Amazing how Davy Crockett has hit London, and the kids over there are crazy about coonskin caps now. The song, "Davy Crockett," is one of the top numbers on the British hit parade. Interesting, because Davy is such a typically American figure.

The unusual Cinderella career of Marilyn Monroe will be climaxed when she hobnobs with British royalty June 28. Marilyn has accepted an invitation to appear at the London Palladium that night at a charity event which will be attended by members of the royal family. Admission is $150 a seat.

Marilyn has also been invited to Stratford-on-Avon June 8 to judge a beauty contest being staged to find a "Rose Queen of Shakespeare Land." This, I doubt she'll be able to accept. At that, her date June 28 takes her to Europe sooner than she expected to leave.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The ideal home Sheree North finally acquired in Santa Monica isn't so ideal. Her six-year-old daughter Dawn is pathetically allergic to the poison ivy growing around the house.

An invitation has been sent by Columbia University to Van Johnson to direct the annual class play this spring.

Gig Young and Virginia Grey seem to find life very pleasant together. They were at the Sportsman's Lodge again for dinner.

Dorothy Dandridge flies to London for a four weeks engagement at the Savoy Hotel. She won't be needed by 20th until June.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 19—(INS)—In all the to-do over rights to the Holy Land, specifically the terrible threat of war between Israel and the Arab world, Christian claims to at least the sacred places that would lie in the path of such a war are generally forgotten.

Each side rejects the Pope's plea that the U.N. place Jerusalem under the Trusteeship Council and take steps to protect the Holy Places elsewhere in Palestine.

Christ was born, reared, preached, died, was buried and rose again on land now under dispute by representatives of the two other great faiths of mankind. But difficulties in preserving the shrines of Christianity are not new. The land that knew His sandal knew also the boots of Romans, Byzantines, Arabs, Egyptians, Crusaders, Arabs again, Turks, and the British.

"We need a little of the spirit of the Crusaders," Father Ralph Gorman, editor of "The Sign," writes in the current issue. "They raised their swords in defense of the Holy Places. We can at least raise our voices. . ."

Cheer up! Time Magazine reveals that a Harvard senior named Richard Friedberg has solved this problem: Does each non-recursive, recursively enumerable set have the property that every recursively enumerable set is recursive in it?

Open the door for Richard.

Bill Sparks, D.S.M., former Royal Marine, is in this country bashfully drumming up business for the showing in the U.S. of the most popular motion pictured now playing in England, "Cockelshell Heroes." It's partly about Bill, a smiling man who wears the rough woolens of the English working man. Bill is a plastic moulder these days, which must seem rather tame to him when he thinks of the action which won him his medal.

It was 1942. The British high command ruled that the RAF must not bomb a convoy of armed Nazi freighters which collected itself in Bordeaux Harbor. Might kill too many bystanders and weaken the French resistance movement. So the call went out to the Royal Marines to handle the job. Ten volunteered, Bill included. Two lived through the great adventure that followed.

Bill and his mates were taken by submarines to the mouth of the Gironde River and put into five small canoes, two men to a cockleshell. They paddled 75 miles to their destination, moving by night and hiding and sleeping by day. It took five days and nights. One canoe overturned and its men drowned. The Krauts intercepted two others, and shot the men aboard. Bill's canoe, commanded by Maj. H. G. Hasler, D.S.O., O.B.E. reached the side of the six moored German ships on the bitter night of December 7.

Over the side went the major, dressed in a frogman's suit. He attached a dozen limpet mines to the bottoms of three of the ships. The remaining cockles took care of the other three ships. An acid fuse gave them seven hours in which to put distance between themselves and the explosions. The major and Bill headed for the shore, as planned, and managed to work their way to a town 100 miles away, where a British spy arranged for their safe travel home. The other two men were caught and shot. Years later, Bill testified against the German naval officer whose diary revealed that he had ordered that these men be shot. I asked Bill how the trial came out.

"He hung," Bill said with a shy smile.

Market Scores Sixth New Record In Eight Sessions

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—The stock market, which has been advancing for five consecutive weeks began a new week today by scoring its sixth record high in eight sessions.

Metals, building materials, steels and a handful of selected issues were in demand, with numerous gains of 1 to 3 points and a few in the neighborhood of 6 points. Losses were under a point in most cases.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 50 cents to a new high of $189. Today's market was bolstered by another batch of encouraging business reports. The Commerce Department reported that corporations paid out 12 per cent more cash dividends in January than in the like month a year ago. The American Iron & Steel Institute said the steel mills turned out a record high tonnage last week and estimated the industry would operate at a near record 99.4 per cent of capacity this week.

The industrial component of the average rose 60 cents to a new high today. Rails advanced 30 cents and utilities lost 10 cents.

Secrets Of Charm

Good Company

Do you have guests at your home as often as you'd like them? Not enough time? Well, that? sounds like a very good reason. But it so happens that—although the number of women in careers increases—entertaining at home increases by leaps and bounds these days, too. Which must mean that the busiest of women learn how to step up their hospitality along with every other interesting part of their lives.

It's probably not necessary to give parties of any size, at least not often. But you're missing a lot if you don't frequently enjoy the company of one to four good friends under your own roof. It should be prefectly natural to ask them not too much in advance and to receive them without making a production of it. If you don't, or can't, what's wrong?

I'm afraid the big trouble is too often self-consciousness about your home. A rug needs replacing, there should be another big chair. I'm sorry if this is true, because I know no man ever knew the difference, and no woman guest ever let a point like this keep her from having a good time—certainly not if her hostess had a good time, too. What a pity that so many pleasant evenings never happen for reasons that really don't matter at all.

Of course there must be a standard for a home, but don't let it be a false standard of service or elegance that's impractical, and just now, quite out of style. Make your home the best home you can, but to live in, not to impress anyone—a home you can run well with the time and energy you have, not one that runs you. Then, you'll have those guests you're always talking about — and a woman is never more charming than when she enjoys being hostess in her own home.

Tomorrow — Cope with compliments.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 19 (INS)—If all goes according to schedule, Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas will be off to Rome again early next month to co-star in a picture.

"We have a story originally owned by Ingrid Bergman, but I can't tell you the title yet," said Arlene. "Fernando and I may join the annual sport rally, which means we travel in sport cars from Rome to Monaco. It's no race, but there are prizes for the car that gets there first. We have been invited and would like to join the parade."

Arlene says she gave up appearing in "Angels Don't Fly" with Anna Magnani because she had to get back to business on her lingerie line and to look after her house.

If Joe DiMaggio wants a movie job in "The Old Man and the Sea" it's his for the asking. In one sequence the old man is musing about baseball and he actually sees Joe at bat. If Joe feels he can't play the part they will probably insert a film clip of his active baseball days showing him batting in Yankee Stadium.

Director Fred Zinnemann left here yesterday to join Producer Leland Hayward in New York for the trip to Cuba where the picture will be made with Ernest Hemingway very much present, on April 25. Spencer Tracy, the star, heads, of course, in the same direction.

The party Mary Pickford started out to give for the silent stars, has grown from 40 to 200. Danny Blum, who wrote a book on silent stars, is the honor guest.

Frances Marion is helping with the big event, which is scheduled for Easter Sunday. The list of silent screen stars invited is very interesting to those of us who go back to the old days. Just a few of them are: Edwin August, Gilbert Anderson (Bronco Billy), Vilma Banky, Rod La Rocque, Blanch Sweet, Francis X. Bushman, Kathleen Williams, George O'Brien, Claire Windsor, and many others.

Fess Parker, glimpsed coming out of the Medical Center in Beverly Hills, said he wasn't really ailing but was there for a check-up and to get his shots in preparation for his departure for London on March 29.

Fess is booked for a tour throughout the British Isles and the continent where he will attend openings of "Davy Crockett."

Amazing how Davy Crockett has hit London, and the kids over there are crazy about coonskin caps now. The song, "Davy Crockett," is one of the top numbers on the British hit parade. Interesting, because Davy is such a typically American figure.

The unusual Cinderella career of Marilyn Monroe will be climaxed when she hobnobs with British royalty June 28. Marilyn has accepted an invitation to appear at the London Palladium that night at a charity event which will be attended by members of the royal family. Admission is $150 a seat.

Marilyn has also been invited to Stratford-on-Avon June 8 to judge a beauty contest being staged to find a "Rose Queen of Shakespeare Land." This, I doubt she'll be able to accept. At that, her date June 28 takes her to Europe sooner than she expected to leave.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The ideal home Sheree North finally acquired in Santa Monica isn't so ideal. Her six-year-old daughter Dawn is pathetically allergic to the poison ivy growing around the house.

An invitation has been sent by Columbia University to Van Johnson to direct the annual class play this spring.

Gig Young and Virginia Grey seem to find life very pleasant together. They were at the Sportsman's Lodge again for dinner.

Dorothy Dandridge flies to London for a four weeks engagement at the Savoy Hotel. She won't be needed by 20th until June.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Television And Radio

The Problem Remains

HOLLYWOOD

Bing Crosby, as Nunnally Johnson has observed, is a national asset. However, he is a national asset that no one has yet figured what to do with on television and his latest effort, "High Tor," a 90-minute film shot especially for television and shown on CBS-TV last Saturday, is hardly the answer either.

This fairly major operation was shot in 12 days, an experiment watched with great interest by Hollywood producers who would normally take three or four times that long to produce anything of this dimension, and it's a shame the results were disappointing.

The root of the problem, it seemed to me, lay in Maxwell Anderson's old play, which had quite a lot of charm and an intermittent wit when done on Broadway years ago. The years have not treated the play kindly, though. This story of a sentimental codger who just wants to sit on his mountaintop and contemplate the view and live hand to mouth creaks like a rusty hinge in the prosaic light of today.

Up to Mr. Crosby's mountaintop come first a crooked judge and crooked real estate operator intent on swiping his mountain. This little bit of plot reminded me strongly of the old chestnut about the crooks trying to buy the old widow's land before they run a railroad through it. These were caricatures rather than characters and I just couldn't quite believe they existed.

The cream of Mr. Anderson's jest is the fact that the mountaintop is also inhabited by the ghosts of a band of Dutch mariners who had been marooned there some 300 years earlier and who naturally are getting a little restive about when their ship is coming to pick them up. As I recall them in the play, this was quite a rollicking roistering bunch, but the passage of years or perhaps just the transposition to TV seems to have robbed them of much of their gusto.

There was a romance between Crosby and a real live girl (Nancy Olson) and another romance between Crosby and a ghostly Dutch girl, very fetchingly played by Julie Andrews. There was also a trio of bank robbers who blundered into the proceedings. Mr. Anderson's mountaintop, in short, was not only crawling with people but crawling with plot.

But somehow I couldn't take any of these people or their problems very seriously. Mr. Crosby gave his usual easy-going relaxed performance but perhaps it was just a little too relaxed and easy-going for us properly to worry about the fate of his mountain. It seems to me that John Monks Jr., and Mr. Anderson, who adapted the play, fell between two stools. It wasn't farce and it wasn't for real. Also anything labelled comedy as this was, should have some laughs in it somewhere.

There was a moment when Miss Andrews and Mr. Crosby discovered each other that I found touching and charming but it was an unconscionable time in coming and it didn't last very long. Arthur Schwartz wrote seven new songs for the production and three of these "A Little Love, a Little While," "John Barleycorn" and "Once Upon a Long Ago" are very good songs, indeed, and Mr. Crosby sang them with his usual expert charm, but that was hardly enough to pull the show through.

So the problem of what to do with the national asset named Bing Crosby remains unsolved, at least as far as television is concerned. I'd like to see him wander through a live show some time, but the chances are pretty dim. "I've watched those poor fellows on the live shows, the sweat pouring out of them," says Mr. Crosby, "Not for me."

Groundbreaking At Martin's Mt. Set April 3

The beginning of reconstruction of U.S. Route 40 in Allegany County will be signalized by groundbreaking ceremonies on Martin's Mountain, Tuesday, April 3, at noon.

In the presence of state and local officials, Governor McKeldin will operate power equipment formally commencing the first contract which calls for the rebuilding of 2½ miles of Route 40 from a point on the west slope near the top of the mountain and extending down the east slope.

The State Roads Commission has awarded the contract to Bero Construction Corporation of Hampton, Va., at its low bid of $1,149,065.

The site of the ground-breaking ceremonies will be on Route 40 about 1½ miles east of the crest.

Offices To Be Decorated

The $320 estimate by Whitman and Cessna, local painting contractors, to redecorate the chambers of Chief Judge George Henderson and the office of Robert Thomas, court stenographer has been accepted.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

THE FATAL LEAD

WEST'S opening lead in the following deal certainly could not be strongly criticized, but it had fatal repercussions.

East dealer.

	♠ 5 2 ♥ 9 6 3 ♦ A 7 5 4 ♣ K 6 3 2
♠ J 10 9 8 6 4 ♥ 7 ♦ Q 10 9 2 ♣ Q 10	N W E S	♠ — ♥ A K J 10 8 5 2 ♦ J 6 3 ♣ J 9 8
	♠ A K Q 7 3 ♥ Q 4 ♦ K 8 ♣ A 7 5 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
3 ♥	3 ♠	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, with six trumps in almost perfect sequence, felt that the thing to do was to keep South from making any low trumps on ruffs—so he opened the jack of trumps.

To repeat, this was a highly persuasive lead, but it didn't work out well this time. When the distribution of the trump suit was revealed by East's showing out, South did exactly what West had feared, but he did it in reverse, so to speak. He took the first trick, cashed the diamond king, went over to the diamond ace and ruffed a diamond. He then cashed the ace and king of clubs, after which he ruffed dummy's last diamond with his otherwise worthless seven of trumps—and at the end West had good trumps for his own partner's tricks. South cashed in all five of his own trumps, two diamonds and two clubs, fulfilling the doubled contract for game and rubber.

Beyond question, many fine players would make the same opening lead that West made, and on the surface, there is much to be said for the choice. With such length in trumps, West does not particularly want to ruff any side suit—he prefers to use his trumps to draw declarer's. However, a different consideration might well induce West to open the singleton of his partner's suit. That consideration is that West will then probably have the chance to discard appropriately. Observe the effect of a heart lead. West could discard both clubs while East played three high hearts, and the outcome would be a two-trick defeat of the contract.

This little bit of plot reminded me strongly of the old chestnut about the crooks trying to buy the old widow's land before they run a railroad through it. These were caricatures rather than characters and I just couldn't quite believe they existed.

The cream of Mr. Anderson's jest is the fact that the mountaintop is also inhabited by the ghosts of a band of Dutch mariners who had been marooned there some 300 years earlier and who naturally are getting a little restive about when their ship is coming to pick them up. As I recall them in the play, this was quite a rollicking roistering bunch, but the passage of years or perhaps just the transposition to TV seems to have robbed them of much of their gusto.

There was a romance between Crosby and a real live girl (Nancy Olson) and another romance between Crosby and a ghostly Dutch girl, very fetchingly played by Julie Andrews. There was also a trio of bank robbers who blundered into the proceedings. Mr. Anderson's mountaintop, in short, was not only crawling with people but crawling with plot.

But somehow I couldn't take any of these people or their problems very seriously. Mr. Crosby gave his usual easy-going relaxed performance but perhaps it was just a little too relaxed and easy-going for us properly to worry about the fate of his mountain. It seems to me that John Monks Jr., and Mr. Anderson, who adapted the play, fell between two stools. It wasn't farce and it wasn't for real. Also anything labelled comedy as this was, should have some laughs in it somewhere.

There was a moment when Miss Andrews and Mr. Crosby discovered each other that I found touching and charming but it was an unconscionable time in coming and it didn't last very long. Arthur Schwartz wrote seven new songs for the production and three of these "A Little Love, a Little While," "John Barleycorn" and "Once Upon a Long Ago" are very good songs, indeed, and Mr. Crosby sang them with his usual expert charm, but that was hardly enough to pull the show through.

So the problem of what to do with the national asset named Bing Crosby remains unsolved, at least as far as television is concerned. I'd like to see him wander through a live show some time, but the chances are pretty dim. "I've watched those poor fellows on the live shows, the sweat pouring out of them," says Mr. Crosby. "Not for me."

Groundbreaking At Martin's Mt. Set April 3

The beginning of reconstruction of U.S. Route 40 in Allegany County will be signalized by groundbreaking ceremonies on Martin's Mountain, Tuesday, April 3, at noon.

In the presence of state and local officials, Governor McKeldin will operate power equipment formally commencing the first contract which calls for the rebuilding of 2½ miles of Route 40 from a point on the west slope near the top of the mountain and extending down the east slope.

The State Roads Commission has awarded the contract to Bero Construction Corporation of Hampton, Va., at its low bid of $1,149,065.

The site of the ground-breaking ceremonies will be on Route 40 about 1½ miles east of the crest.

Offices To Be Decorated

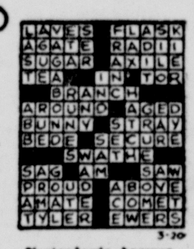

The $320 estimate by Whitman and Cessna, local painting contractors, to redecorate the chambers of Chief Judge George Henderson and the office of Robert Thomas, court stenographer has been accepted.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Contract Bridge

THE FATAL LEAD

WEST'S opening lead in the following deal certainly could not be strongly criticized, but it had fatal repercussions.

East dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North: ♠ 5 2 ♥ 9 6 3 ♦ A 7 5 4 ♣ K 6 3 2
West: ♠ J 10 9 8 6 4 ♥ 7 ♦ Q 10 9 2 ♣ Q 10
East: ♠ — ♥ A K J 10 8 5 2 ♦ J 6 3 ♣ J 9 8
South: ♠ A K Q 7 3 ♥ Q 4 ♦ K 8 ♣ A 7 5 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
3 ♥	3 ♠	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, with six trumps in almost perfect sequence, felt that the thing to do was to keep South from making any low trumps on ruffs—so he opened the jack of trumps.

To repeat, this was a highly persuasive lead, but it didn't work out well this time. When the distribution of the trump suit was revealed by East's showing out, South did exactly what West had feared, but he did it in reverse, so to speak. He took the first trick, cashed the diamond king, went over to the diamond ace and ruffed a diamond. He then cashed the ace and king of clubs, after which he ruffed dummy's last diamond with his otherwise worthless seven of trumps—and at the end West had good trumps for his own partner's tricks. South cashed in all five of his own trumps, two diamonds and two clubs, fulfilling the doubled contract for game and rubber.

Beyond question, many fine players would make the same opening lead that West made, and on the surface, there is much to be said for the choice. With such length in trumps, West does not particularly want to ruff any side suit—he prefers to use his trumps to draw declarer's. However, a different consideration might well induce West to open the singleton of his partner's suit. That consideration is that West will then probably have the chance to discard appropriately. Observe the effect of a heart lead. West could discard both clubs while East played three high hearts, and the outcome would be a two-trick defeat of the contract.

BEFORE the legendary Easter Bunny arrives Sunday, April 1 — a sure sign of spring — thousands of colorful Easter cards will pass through the post office in every city and town in the United States. It is perfectly proper, according to the National Association of Greeting Card publishers, to write a little note on the cards. And mailing them first class will insure prompt delivery, forwarding or return. This year's Easter cards are flowery, and colorful, and their messages are cheerful, reverent, sentimental or "special title." (International)

Marland Names Soto W.Va. Tax Commissioner

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 19 (AP) — Gov. William A. Marland moved Asst. State Tax Commissioner Joseph S. Soto of Whitesville up to the office of commissioner today as a successor to William R. Laird III of Fayetteville.

The appointment was announced at Marland's regular news conference. The 45-year-old Soto joined the Tax Department Aug. 1, 1941, as a deputy inspector and supervisor of public offices.

Laird was appointed by Marland last week to the U. S. Senate to fill, until after this year's general election and a new Senator is qualified, the vacancy caused by the death last month of Harley M. Kilgore, Beckley Democrat.

Soto has been assistant tax commissioner since May 1, 1953. From November of 1950 to that date, he held the title of administrative assistant in the department.

A native of Prudence in Fayette County, Soto attended New River State College; received an A. B. degree from Concord Coollege where his 19-year-old daughter now is enrolled, and holds a B. S. degree in accounting from Morris Harvey.

The new tax commissioner did not name an assistant immediately, explaining that a few days would be needed to make that appointment. Soto was named to serve as commissioner until the next session of the State Senate next January, when he will be subject to confirmation.

O'Daniel Plans Campaign On "Golden Rule"

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 19 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, who in 1938 became the first Texan to win a first-term Democratic gubernatorial nomination without a run-off primary, announced today he will run again in a "no holds" barred "crusade" for "clean, honest government."

"My platform will continue to be, as before, the Ten Commandments," and "my motto will continue to be the Golden Rule," the former hill billy flour salesman said.

His announcement over radio station WBAP ended with "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

He said he was making the race in response to "the avalanche of mail, telegrams, petitions and phone calls in response to a broadcast last week in which he asked the advice of his friends."

O'Daniel first built his following with the hillbilly band while plugging flour on a radio program.

Few of the politicians took him seriously in 1938 when he first entered the campaign with his band, his "pass the biscuits party" slogan and his promises of bigger pensions for old folk.

But he amazed the politicians by winning a majority vote over 12 other candidates, including some of the state's best known political figures. This gave him the Democratic nomination—tantamount to election to state office—without the usual runoff.

O'Daniel won again without a runoff. He next won a special U.S. senatorial election and was re-elected to a full term.

Mrs. Roeder Talks On Safety Program

WESTERNPORT — A talk on "Safety" was given by Mrs. Lucille Roeder, Cumberland, at a meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club recently at the Westernport Library. She is Allegany County chairman of women's traffic highway safety committee.

Mrs. Frances Dayton, safety chairman of the First District Federation of Women's clubs was in charge of the program and introduced Mrs. Roeder. Mrs. Dayton also conducted a home safety quiz.

A nominating committee to report at the next meeting was appointed, comprised of Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Mrs. R. C. Roberts and Mrs. William Smith.

Mrs. Lewis F. Engle, welfare chairman will be in charge of the program at the April meeting. Hostessess will be Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Thomas Dolan.

Basiliko, Offenberg Request New Trials

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 19 (AP) —Motions for new trials were filed today by two men convicted last week of conspiring to defraud the State Roads Commission on land the agency bought for highway projects.

In identical motions, Constas Gus Basiliko and Max Offenberg argued that they were deprived of a fair and impartial trial because of the way the prosecution handled its case.

They said they would not have chosen to be tried together had they known the State would produce as a prosecution witness Ben DuPre, a former right-of-way engineer for the commission.

Montgomery County Circuit Court was stunned when he showed up to testify for the State under a promise of immunity. He said he fed the defendants allegedly secret information about where new highways were planned and received remuneration amounting to about $9,000.

Teachers Attend Maryland Meeting

GRANTSVILLE — Foster A. Riggs, principal of Grantsville Elementary School, chairman of the Garrett County Teachers Association and a member of the State Teachers Association attended a meeting at the MSTA Building in Baltimore Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster A. Riggs and son Foster Jr., and Miss Opel were guests over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin and daughter Diana at Perryville, following the teachers meeting in Baltimore.

Cresaptown Teen Club Reports On Activities

CRESAPTOWN—A report on the activities of the recently-organized Cresap Teen Club and the listing of chaperones for that group for the next three months featured a meeting of the Cresaptown Community Council, last Friday at Cresaptown School.

John Yoder presided at the meeting, while the Teen Club report was presented by Charles Wendt, chairman of the club's advisory committee. Attendance at the dances sponsored weekly by the teenage unit has been increasing steadily, Wendt stated, with there being 170 present at the last dance prior to the meeting.

Organizations which are to furnish chaperones for the next three months are Cresaptown Homemakers, Mrs. Alice Borror, chairman; Potomac Valley Lions Club, John Yoder, chairman, and Civil Defense unit, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, chairman.

Lester Sherman, chairman of the summer playground committee, was instructed to present a report at the meeting scheduled May 18.

A ways and means committee, which is to formulate plans for raising funds for the benefit of the summer playground unit, was appointed by Yoder. Joseph Wenrick was named chairman, with Mrs. Arlie Borror and Mrs. Lester McGill as assistants. The funds will be especially needed by the committee in case it is decided that a trained recreation director is needed to carry on the recreation program, Yoder pointed out.

The council recently reelected officers, all of whom will serve one-year terms.

BEFORE the legendary Easter Bunny arrives Sunday, April 1 — a sure sign of spring — thousands of colorful Easter cards will pass through the post office in every city and town in the United States. It is perfectly proper, according to the National Association of Greeting Card publishers, to write a little note on the cards. And mailing them first class will insure prompt delivery, forwarding or return. This year's Easter cards are flowery, and colorful, and their messages are cheerful, reverent, sentimental or "special title." (International)

Marland Names Soto W.Va. Tax Commissioner

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 19 (AP) — Gov. William A. Marland moved Asst. State Tax Commissioner Joseph S. Soto of Whitesville up to the office of commissioner today as a successor to William R. Laird III of Fayetteville.

The appointment was announced at Marland's regular news conference. The 45-year-old Soto joined the Tax Department Aug. 1, 1941, as a deputy inspector and supervisor of public offices.

Laird was appointed by Marland last week to the U. S. Senate to fill, until after this year's general election and a new Senator is qualified, the vacancy caused by the death last month of Harley M. Kilgore, Beckley Democrat.

Soto has been assistant tax commissioner since May 1, 1953. From November of 1950 to that date, he held the title of administrative assistant in the department.

A native of Prudence in Fayette County, Soto attended New River State College; received an A. B. degree from Concord College where his 19-year-old daughter now is enrolled, and holds a B. S. degree in accounting from Morris Harvey.

The new tax commissioner did not name an assistant immediately, explaining that a few days would be needed to make that appointment. Soto was named to serve as commissioner until the next session of the State Senate next January, when he will be subject to confirmation.

O'Daniel Plans Campaign On "Golden Rule"

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 19 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, who in 1938 became the first Texan to win a first-term Democratic gubernatorial nomination without a run-off primary, announced today he will run again in a "no holds" barred "crusade" for "clean, honest government."

"My platform will continue to be, as before, the Ten Commandments," and "my motto will continue to be the Golden Rule," the former hill billy flour salesman said.

He said he was making the race in response to "the avalanche of mail, telegrams, petitions and phone calls in response to a broadcast last week in which he asked the advice of his friends."

O'Daniel first built his following with the hillbilly band while plugging flour on a radio program.

Few of the politicians took him seriously in 1938 when he first entered the campaign with his band, his "pass the biscuits party" slogan and his promises of bigger pensions for old folk.

But he amazed the politicians by winning a majority vote over 12 other candidates, including some of the state's best known political figures. This gave him the Democratic nomination—tantamount to election to state office—without the usual runoff.

O'Daniel won again without a runoff. He next won a special U.S. senatorial election and was re-elected to a full term.

WESTERNPORT — A talk on "Safety" was given by Mrs. Lucille Roeder, Cumberland, at a meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club recently at the Westernport Library. She is Allegany County chairman of women's traffic highway safety committee.

Mrs. Frances Dayton, safety chairman of the First District Federation of Women's clubs was in charge of the program and introduced Mrs. Roeder. Mrs. Dayton also conducted a home safety quiz.

A nominating committee to report at the next meeting was appointed, comprised of Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Mrs. R. C. Roberts and Mrs. William Smith.

Mrs. Lewis F. Engle, welfare chairman will be in charge of the program at the April meeting. Hostessess will be Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Thomas Dolan.

Cresaptown Teen Club Reports On Activities

CRESAPTOWN—A report on the activities of the recently-organized Cresap Teen Club and the listing of chaperones for that group for the next three months featured a meeting of the Cresaptown Community Council, last Friday at Cresaptown School.

John Yoder presided at the meeting, while the Teen Club report was presented by Charles Wendt, chairman of the club's advisory committee. Attendance at the dances sponsored weekly by the teenage unit has been increasing steadily, Wendt stated, with there being 170 present at the last dance prior to the meeting.

Organizations which are to furnish chaperones for the next three months are Cresaptown Homemakers, Mrs. Alice Borror, chairman; Potomac Valley Lions Club, John Yoder, chairman, and Civil Defense unit, Mrs. Kenneth Lee, chairman.

Lester Sherman, chairman of the summer playground committee, was instructed to present a report at the meeting scheduled May 18.

A ways and means committee, which is to formulate plans for raising funds for the benefit of the summer playground unit, was appointed by Yoder. Joseph Wenrick was named chairman, with Mrs. Arlie Borror and Mrs. Lester McGill as assistants. The funds will be especially needed by the committee in case it is decided that a trained recreation director is needed to carry on the recreation program, Yoder pointed out.

The council recently reelected officers, all of whom will serve one-year terms.

Basiliko, Offenberg Request New Trials

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 19 (AP) —Motions for new trials were filed today by two men convicted last week of conspiring to defraud the State Roads Commission on land the agency bought for highway projects.

In identical motions, Constas Gus Basiliko and Max Offenberg argued that they were deprived of a fair and impartial trial because of the way the prosecution handled its case.

They said they would not have chosen to be tried together had they known the State would produce as a prosecution witness Ben DuPre, a former right-of-way engineer for the commission.

Montgomery County Circuit Court was stunned when he showed up to testify for the State under a promise of immunity. He said he fed the defendants allegedly secret information about where new highways were planned and received remuneration amounting to about $9,000.

Teachers Attend Maryland Meeting

Methodists To See "Miracle Of Love"

MIDLAND—The Midland Methodist Charge will present an Easter film called "Miracle of Love," it was announced by Rev. Louis L. Emerick.

The film will be shown in the Shaft church Wednesday, March 21 and in the Midland church Thursday, March 22. Both services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

The story gives the interruptions of a minister in preparing his Easter sermon by members of his congregation and his own family who have spiritual needs. He is discouraged with his sermon efforts until, late at night, he realizes he has been preaching his sermon all day.

The public is invited to attend.

Governor Vetoes Foreign-Owned Brewery Bill

Contends It Harms Industrial Promotion

ANNAPOLIS, March 19 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today vetoed a bill to ban any foreign-owned corporation from brewing beer in Maryland.

He said the bill, aimed at keeping the Carling Brewing Co. from building a 12-million-dollar plant in the Baltimore area, would be "contrary to the continuing efforts of the federal government to build good will through international trade."

He also said it "would have a deleterious affect in the highly successful efforts of Maryland, its political subdivisions and its various business and civic associations to bring new business and industry into the state in these years of growth and expansion."

McKeldin thus tossed back to the General Assembly one of the hottest potatoes it has turned up in recent years. The bill had brought protests from Maryland trade groups and the U. S. State Department as well as Canadian interests.

The assembly, which passed the beer ban last month by resounding margins in both houses will act on his veto at its next session in 1957.

The controversial bill cleared the Senate 21-4, three votes more than would be necessary to override a veto, and the House passed it 83-34, nine votes more than required if no delegates were to switch their positions as a result of the executive action.

Brewers Request

The bill had been requested by Maryland brewers who said they were afraid Carling and its parent firm, Canadian Brewers Ltd., would resort to "unfair competition" to drive them out of business.

Sponsored by Senate President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert), it would require that 51 per cent of the stock of any brewery in Maryland be owned by U. S. citizens.

McKeldin said the bill, if allowed to become law, "would have all the attributes of class legislation plus the impropriety of prejudgment against a company whose practices of business have not yet had the privilege of trial in Maryland."

"I take this action without criticism of either the Maryland companies who caused its introduction or the majority of members in the General Assembly who passed the measure and sent it to my desk" he said in a five-page veto message to Senate President Goldstein.

He said it was not difficult "to understand the quick concern of (Maryland brewers) at the apparently rather sudden prospect of having a highly successful competitor enter the field of their immediate operations."

And he expressed opinion that the short, 30-day session in which the bill was introduced "did not give many of the legislators time to consider the long range affects of such legislation."

International Aspects

"They viewed the question from a purely local point of vantage," McKeldin said. "They were not aware at the time of the international repercussions which since have developed, of the concern later to be expressed to me by the State Department of the U. S. government, or of the unfavorable impact which the legislation was destined to make on substantial and representative spokesmen for American business and industry."

McKeldinsaid he had read the report of Canadian government agency concerning price wars to eliminate brewery competitors. This was used by proponents in arguments for the bill.

"While I do not condone some of the practices attributed therein to Canadian Breweries Ltd., McKeldin said, "I have taken cognizance of the fact that many of the circumstances stressed in the report are dated a score of years ago and more; also that they occurred under Canadian laws and not under those of the United States or Maryland.

"Beyond that, I am especially cognizant of the fact that Carling, while a subsidiary of the Canadian company, is an American corporation, chartered in Virginia and already operating breweries in the United States and distributing its products on a nationwide basis."

He said he had letters from Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland describing the Carling brewery in Cleveland as a "good citizen" and "an asset to the city of Cleveland."

"I am confident that the well established brewing companies in Maryland and the enterprising business men who own and operate them can hold their own against any new competition in the Baltimore market area." McKeldin said.

Cumberland Girl Scouts Reach Registration Goal

Active membership in the Cumberland Girl Scouts is now registered at 705 Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Girl Scouts, Miss Olive Hurlburt reported to the board of directors last night. The goal for this year had been set at 700. This is a steady increase in active participation in the program.

Miss Hurlburt explained that there are many girls interested in scouting and there are requests for some new troops. The problem, as in most organizations of this type, is finding enough adult leaders, willing to serve as troop committee members, troop leaders and assistant leaders. The training program of adult leaders continues, and recruiting of adult leaders is also a continuing program she said. In addition to the girls who are actually actively engaged in regular troop programs, there are about 150 adult members active throughout the council, Miss Hurlburt noted.

People interested in taking an active part in the program, and who are willing to take the 16 hours training required of scout leaders will be welcomed at the Scout House, the executive said.

The board of directors which is the governing body of the Cumberland Council last night endorsed a plan of the Community Chest of which it is a member agency, for an educational program on chest agency activities.

Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, Girl Scout council president said she had been requested by chest officials to present the idea to the board, and a letter was read from H. D. Barber, outlining the program.

Each member agency is asked to furnish several persons who will attend training sessions to learn about all the agencies. These people will then make Community Chest educational talks and presentations to various employe groups and employers in the city.

Mrs. Isiminger said she will submit the names of six board members to the chest, and they will participate in the program.

Theodore P. Foote, newest member of the Girl Scout Board, as chairman of the Membership-Nominating Committee, was introduced. Mrs. Isiminger also announced the appointment of Miss Pauline Fisher as chairman of the Troop Camp Committee.

Committee reports were made and the board urged that all committees complete their programs and budgets. The program of each committee will cover the next two years, and budgets for the programs will be prepared on a year-at-a-time basis.

Miss Hurlburt, said that 400 reservations have been made for the Girl Scout annual Mother-Daughter dinner to be held Thursday at St. Mary's Hall, Oldtown Road. She also noted that Miss Mary Jane Howell has been elected patrol leader of the combined patrol of local and Hagerstown girl scouts who will attend the Girl Scout National Roundup at Highland Park, Mich., this summer.

City Asks Study Of Alley Plan Along Creek

The City of Cumberland has asked the Corps of Engineers to check on the possibility of building a service alley along the flood wall on the east side of Wills Creek between Baltimore and Frederick streets.

The idea was proposed several weeks ago by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

He said Mayor Roy W. Eves has pointed out that plans for Section IV of the Wills Creek channel work show the new flood wall will be considerable distance from the existing walls, and that benefits to the city would be considerable if an alley could be provided for delivery trucks serving business firms along the busy thoroughfare.

Mayor Eves pointed out studies would be needed to determine how much the walls would have to be strengthened, since they are not designed to withstand lateral pressure.

X-Ray Survey Is Underway

The annual Chest X-Ray Survey moved into its fifth day yesterday as the mobile unit began a two-day stop at the A & P Market on Greene Street.

It will remain at the market today from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Wednesday will be at the Bowling Green Fire Hall from 1 to 3 p. m. and then move to the Cresaptown School for a 3:30 to 7 p. m. visit.

The unit will be in LaVale Thursday at the Liberty Trust branch from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and at the LaVale Fire Hall from 1:10 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Friday's schedule calls for the unit to be at the Mt. Savage Health Center from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Officials of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association hope that at least 500 people will visit the unit each day during stops in this county.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley, president, has urged that people, as far as possible, have X-Rays made while the unit is in their community, since the schedule has been set up to give as many people as possible an opportunity to get a chest X-Ray.

Ministers Make Plans For Easter

Service Set At Fort Hill

Six local clergymen will participate in the annual Easter sunrise service which the Cumberland Ministerial Association will sponsor in the Fort Hill High School auditorium at 6:30 a. m. April 1.

The assignments were announced at the monthly meeting yesterday of the Ministerial Association in the George Williams room of Central YMCA.

Rev. Frederick J. Eckert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will deliver the invocation. Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren, will read the responsive reading. Rev. David C. Streett, vicar of Holy Cross and St. Philip's Episcopal churches, will read the Scripture lesson. Rev. Norris Lee Cook, pastor of the Barrelville Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service of Morning Prayer. Rev. Cornelius B. Davis, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, will preach the sermon. Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor of First Methodist Church, will give the benediction.

Donald Paye, a leader in Hi-Y Club activities, will give the offertory prayer and members of the Central Boys 4-H Club will serve as ushers.

At its meeting yesterday the association also approved plans for a family relations program. It will include newspaper articles, counseling both by clergymen and a psychiatrist and will stress worship of the entire family together. The group also voted to sponsor a softball league for girls.

A three-man committee was appointed by the association to make periodic visits to the city and county jails and to the county home, county infirmary and Sylvan Retreat. Rev. Streett was appointed chairman and will be assisted by Captain Daniel K. Biggs of the Salvation Army and Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church.

Albert D. Darby Jr., a member of the special gifts committee for the Cancer Crusade, offered a brief explanation concerning the fund drive to be held late in April and urged the clergymen to make announcements concerning the campaign or publish notices in their church bulletins.

Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, spoke on "Marriage and Family Counseling" at the luncheon which followed the meeting. Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Baptist Church, and Lt. James Pappas of the Salvation Army, were welcomed as new members.

Youth To Face Morals Charge

A 20-year-old Cumberland youth was charged in Trial Magistrates Court with carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old local girl yesterday.

Larry Graham Patton waived a preliminary hearing and bond was set at $1,000 for his appearance before the April grand jury for Allegany County on the charge. Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Patton to Allegany County Jail in default of the bond.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty said the offense took place last September while Patton was employed by the girl's father and boarded with her family.

Patton originally was brought to Juvenile Court last February on a charge of contributing to the young girl's delinquency. He escaped from a constable in the county building by climbing out a window of a wash room in the building.

The youth was picked up about two weeks later by Lt. James E. Van of the Cumberland Police Department and confined to the county jail to await yesterday's hearing.

The State's Attorney's office indicated the girl would be charged with being a delinquent minor. She at present is in custody of her parents.

Conference Set On Extra Costs For Flood Work

City Asked To Pay $89,000 For Sewer

City officials are going to Washington, D. C., tomorrow to talk with the Corps of Engineers concerning added costs to the flood control project.

The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the office of Sen. J. Glenn Beall.

Mayor Roy W. Eves told the Mayor and Council yesterday a primary reason for the meeting is a charge of $89,000 which the city is expected to assume for the relocation of a sewer by the Corps of Engineers.

City Engineer Charles Nuzum said the present flood wall along Wills Creek has hundreds of pipes through it from basements of properties in the area to connect with a sewer in the creek.

No Openings Allowed

Engineers have ruled that no openings are allowed through the new flood wall and plan to put an interceptor sewer behind the new wall, connecting all the pipes to it. Under existing agreements the city is liable for relocation of utilities. This type of expense, it was pointed out, is something unforeseen by the city and of which it had no warning.

Other such added financial matters are to be discussed.

These include a sewage condition in Ridgeley which Nuzum said yesterday would cost $3,000 to correct.

The problem is the result of sewer gas odors emanating from the sewer at Mineral Street in Ridgeley. Nuzum and R. E. Dexter, project engineer for the Army Engineers' met with the Ridgeley Flood Control Committee last Wednesday.

The committee said its main complaint was a health problem caused by four open manholes along a combination storm and sanitary sewer constructed in connection with flood control. Due to drainage flowing through the pipe and open grates on top, gasses escape. The only time it is not objectionable is when sewage is diluted by storm water.

To correct, it will be necessary to seal the tops of manholes and construct new catch basins with built-in traps so gases can't escape, Nuzum said. Dexter estimated cost at $750 each or a total of $3,000.

Nuzum said the Engineers should be notified the manholes are unsatisfactory and new sump traps should be installed.

Condemnation Actions

In other flood control action yesterday council agreed to start condemnation proceedings as follows:

Property of Theodore F. Shaffer for which it approved payment of $1,462.50 to the U. S. Treasurer for proceedings and administrative expense; Jeanette Gross et al., two tracts, with $3,003 to the Treasurer for costs; and Charles R. Wenrick heirs with $2,951 to the Treasurer for costs.

Council rescinded condemnation action involving the property of Frank D. Taylor. Satisfactory settlement has been reached, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said.

Amended was an order to pay $3,185 to the U. S. Treasurer instead of $4,094 for condemnation proceedings involving the Ridgeley athletic field. Finan said the government has agreed to assume a greater share of acquisition costs on a square foot basis and reduced the city's share of the cost.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, speaking in connection with the Ridgeley matter, said he believed the West Virginia town should share costs of the sewer correction, too.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan added that the question of the additional money is important enough that all members of council should be at the meeting in Washington.

Buchholtz said he believed records of money spent should be taken along and that City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson should be present.

C Of C Booklets Spread Fame Of The Queen City

The most popular publications of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce are four guidebooks which tell the story of the Queen City of the Alleghenies.

Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber, said 80,000 copies of the series have been printed during the last three years and that plans are being made to revise the booklets before the supply, now down to about 2,000, is exhausted.

The first is titled "Cumberland, Maryland," and tells in words and pictures the story of the city's people, their education and culture and medical and recreational facilities.

"Industries and Business" tells of the area industries which send their products over the seven seas and the business establishments which supply the needs of the Tri-State area.

It contains views of the Col. Thomas Cresap monument, Washington's headquarters, Emmanuel Episcopal Church—site of old Fort Cumberland, and the old Toll Gate House on Route 40.

"Cumberland, Scenic Center of Western Maryland," describes the tourist and recreational facilities of Western Maryland. Shown are views of The Narrows, Lover's Leap, wayside picnic areas, Fairgo and one of the many caves which abound in this area.

Saeli said supplies of the guidebooks are sent to automobile clubs, tourist information centers, convention halls and to departments of information of several states.

Copies are also forwarded to officers and location selection committees of organizations and societies which might hold conventions here.

For example, the booklets and other information available have been sent to officials of the Department of Maryland, American Legion, along with an invitation to hold their convention here in 1958.

Many libraries, both public and private, have been sent copies for their files.

School children throughout the country, Saeli said, write asking for information about Cumberland. They are mailed copies of "Cumberland Enterprise," a four-page publication which tells the same story of this historic city.

Brother Nicholas Writes Chapter In Caves Book

Local readers, who desire to learn more about caves, can obtain an interesting book at the Cumberland Free Public Library, "Celebrated American Caves," in which appears a chapter written by Brother G. Nicholas, F.S.C. a member of the faculty of LaSalle High School, and one of the leading cave explorers of the United States.

The book was donated to the library by W. Wallace McKaig and is sponsored by the National Speleological Society.

Caves are a world in themselves, a world of history and legend, of exploration and discovery. They are laboratories where scientists study the relics of some of the earliest Americans, and they are repositories for prehistoric life.

And, according to the editors of the book, caves are also the homes of some of the world's strangest and rarest creatures—eyeless fish and sightless salamanders, blood-drinking bats, and birds that fly in total darkness.

The chapter submitted by Brother Nicholas is titled "Bones and a Railway." The local Christian brother is also featured in Sunday's metrogravure section of the Baltimore Sun.

The cover of the magazine section shows the muddy boots of a cave explorer and the caption explains that the individual is starting down headfirst into a famous cave near Cumberland.

Springtime Makes Bow

Spring officially arrives today at 10:21 a. m., in the wake of the season's worst storm which blanketed the tri-state area with an accumulation of almost 14 inches of snow the past weekend.

Frostburg and Garrett County bore the brunt of the storm and freezing temperatures with 13¼ inches of snow unofficially recorded in the Mountain City. Most of Garrett County had about 13 inches and the mercury dropped to nine degrees above zero at Oakland.

Cumberland had an official recording of 4.2 inches of snow according to Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park.

Temperatures began to rise yesterday and the warm sun and easterly winds began to melt much of the ice, snow and slush. Yesterday's high in the city was 37 degrees, the low 21 and at 6 p. m. the mercury registered 33 degrees.

State Roads Commission officials said most of the highways were clear and travel conditions were much better and not so icy.

Forecast for the first day of Spring is fair and warmer.

Two Teen-agers Take Appeals

Two Cumberland teen-agers who were sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction March 12 by Magistrate Donald W. Mason on motor vehicle violations and assault charges yesterday filed petitions for appeals in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Magistrate Mason sentenced James M. McMillan, 18, of 11 Putman Street to 14 months in the House of Correction after the youth pleaded guilty to four motor vehicle violations stemming from a wild ride in South Cumberland on a motorcycle the boy had taken without permission.

McMillan was released on $1,000 bond pending his appeal. Magistrate Mason said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McMillan, posted the bond.

A companion of McMillan, Daniel S. Wilson, 17, of 13 Putman Street, was given a six months sentence in the House of Correction for assault with a deadly weapon. Mason said Wilson was with McMillan and threatened James Duffy, 19, of Elm Street with a knife.

Wilson is being held in Allegany County Jail pending the setting of his bond on the appeal. Magistrate Mason indicated the bond also would be $1,000.

The two youths were arrested by Officers James Swann and Wilbur E. Shank of the Cumberland Police Department Sunday, March 11. They were tried in Trial Magistrates Court the following day.

New York Firemen Get Safety Belts

Cumberland was ahead of New York City in installing safety belts in fire fighting vehicles, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan pointed out yesterday.

A New York paper, he said, this month carried a view of New York fire officials inspecting safety belts placed in vehicles after a series of accidents.

The Cumberland Fire Department, under the direction of Fire Chief Virgil Parker, began installing safety belts in all first line fire equipment last October 27.

Chief Parker said the belts will save lives, adding that when you see a hole in a windshield it is a good bet the person thrown through was killed or badly injured.

Visit Annapolis

Yesterday William A. Wilson, chairman of the board, and Matthew J. Mullaney, Democrat member of the board, were in Annapolis brushing up on voting laws with the assistance of the offices of the secretary of state and the attorney general.

Election officials were concerned principally with various technical problems encountered in changing over in some counties from the use of paper ballots to voting machines which will be required for the general election November 6.

Assistant Atty. Gen. David Kauffman of this city said it appears that all the counties with the possible exception of nearby Garrett will have the machines in operation for the May 7 primary. In Garrett, local officials are at an impasse in selecting the type of machine to be used.

Damage Suit Is Settled

According to the suit, the mishap occurred on December 14 as the defendant was traveling south on State Route 55 near Vale Summit. The car left the highway, hit some trees and came to a stop on its side.

The plaintiff sustained a fractured left arm and bruises and required hospital care. William Walsh was counsel for the defendant.

Governor Vetoes Foreign-Owned Brewery Bill

Contends It Harms Industrial Promotion

ANNAPOLIS, March 19 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today vetoed a bill to ban any foreign-owned corporation from brewing beer in Maryland.

He said the bill, aimed at keeping the Carling Brewing Co. from building a 12-million-dollar plant in the Baltimore area, would be "contrary to the continuing efforts of the federal government to build good will through international trade."

He also said it "would have a deleterious affect in the highly successful efforts of Maryland, its political subdivisions and its various business and civic associations to bring new business and industry into the state in these years of growth and expansion."

McKeldin thus tossed back to the General Assembly one of the hottest potatoes it has turned up in recent years. The bill had brought protests from Maryland trade groups and the U. S. State Department as well as Canadian interests.

The assembly, which passed the beer ban last month by resounding margins in both houses will act on his veto at its next session in 1957.

The controversial bill cleared the Senate 21-4, three votes more than would be necessary to override a veto, and the House passed it 83-34, nine votes more than required if no delegates were to switch their positions as a result of the executive action.

Brewers Request

The bill had been requested by Maryland brewers who said they were afraid Carling and its parent firm, Canadian Brewers Ltd., would resort to "unfair competition" to drive them out of business.

Sponsored by Senate President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert), it would require that 51 per cent of the stock of any brewery in Maryland be owned by U. S. citizens.

McKeldin said the bill, if allowed to become law, "would have all the attributes of class legislation plus the impropriety of prejudgment against a company whose practices of business have not yet had the privilege of trial in Maryland."

"I take this action without criticism of either the Maryland companies who caused its introduction or the majority of members in the General Assembly who passed the measure and sent it to my desk" he said in a five-page veto message to Senate President Goldstein.

He said it was not difficult "to understand the quick concern of (Maryland brewers) at the apparently rather sudden prospect of having a highly successful competitor enter the field of their immediate operations."

And he expressed opinion that the short, 30-day session in which the bill was introduced "did not give many of the legislators time to consider the long range affects of such legislation."

International Aspects

"They viewed the question from a purely local point of vantage," McKeldin said. "They were not aware at the time of the international repercussions which since have developed, of the concern later to be expressed to me by the State Department of the U. S. government, or of the unfavorable impact which the legislation was destined to make on substantial and representative spokesmen for American business and industry."

McKeldinsaid he had read the report of Canadian government agency concerning price wars to eliminate brewery competitors. This was used by proponents in arguments for the bill.

"While I do not condone some of the practices attributed therein to Canadian Breweries Ltd., McKeldin said, "I have taken cognizance of the fact that many of the circumstances stressed in the report are dated a score of years ago and more; also that they occurred under Canadian laws and not under those of the United States or Maryland.

"Beyond that, I am especially cognizant of the fact that Carling, while a subsidiary of the Canadian company, is an American corporation, chartered in Virgmia and already operating breweries in the United States and distributing its products on a nationwide basis."

He said he had letters from Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio and Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland describing the Carling brewery in Cleveland as a "good citizen" and "an asset to the city of Cleveland."

"I am confident that the well established brewing companies in Maryland and the enterprising business men who own and operate them can hold their own against any new competition in the Baltimore market area." McKeldin said.

Cumberland Girl Scouts Reach Registration Goal

Active membership in the Cumberland Girl Scouts is now registered at 705 Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Girl Scouts, Miss Olive Hurlburt reported to the board of directors last night. The goal for this year had been set at 700. This is a steady increase in active participation in the program.

Miss Hurlburt explained that there are many girls interested in scouting and there are requests for some new troops. The problem, as in most organizations of this type, is finding enough adult leaders, willing to serve as troop committee members, troop leaders and assistant leaders. The training program of adult leaders continues, and recruiting of adult leaders is also a continuing program she said. In addition to the girls who are actually actively engaged in regular troop programs, there are about 150 adult members active throughout the council, Miss Hurlburt noted.

People interested in taking an active part in the program, and who are willing to take the 16 hours training required of scout leaders will be welcomed at the Scout House, the executive said.

The board of directors which is the governing body of the Cumberland Council last night endorsed a plan of the Community Chest of which it is a member agency, for an educational program on chest agency activities.

Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, Girl Scout council president said she had been requested by chest officials to present the idea to the board, and a letter was read from H. D. Barber, outlining the program.

Each member agency is asked to furnish several persons who will attend training sessions to learn about all the agencies. These people will then make Community Chest educational talks and presentations to various employe groups and employers in the city.

Mrs. Isiminger said she will submit the names of six board members to the chest, and they will participate in the program.

Theodore P. Foote, newest member of the Girl Scout Board, as chairman of the Membership-Nominating Committee, was introduced. Mrs. Isiminger also announced the appointment of Miss Pauline Fisher as chairman of the Troop Camp Committee.

Committee reports were made and the board urged that all committees complete their programs and budgets. The program of each committee will cover the next two years, and budgets for the programs will be prepared on a year-at-a-time basis.

Miss Hurlburt, said that 400 reservations have been made for the Girl Scout annual Mother-Daughter dinner to be held Thursday at St. Mary's Hall, Oldtown Road. She also noted that Miss Mary Jane Howell has been elected patrol leader of the combined patrol of local and Hagerstown girl scouts who will attend the Girl Scout National Roundup at Highland Park, Mich., this summer.

City Asks Study Of Alley Plan Along Creek

The City of Cumberland has asked the Corps of Engineers to check on the possibility of building a service alley along the flood wall on the east side of Wills Creek between Baltimore and Frederick streets.

The idea was proposed several weeks ago by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

He said Mayor Roy W. Eves has pointed out that plans for Section IV of the Wills Creek channel work show the new flood wall will be considerable distance from the existing walls, and that benefits to the city would be considerable if an alley could be provided for delivery trucks serving business firms along the busy thoroughfare.

Mayor Eves pointed out studies would be needed to determine how much the walls would have to be strengthened, since they are not designed to withstand lateral pressure.

X-Ray Survey Is Underway

The annual Chest X-Ray Survey moved into its fifth day yesterday as the mobile unit began a two-day stop at the A & P Market on Greene Street.

It will remain at the market today from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Wednesday will be at the Bowling Green Fire Hall from 1 to 3 p. m. and then move to the Cresaptown School for a 3:30 to 7 p. m. visit.

The unit will be in LaVale Thursday at the Liberty Trust branch from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and at the LaVale Fire Hall from 1:10 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Friday's schedule calls for the unit to be at the Mt. Savage Health Center from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Officials of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association hope that at least 500 people will visit the unit each day during stops in this county.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley, president, has urged that people, as far as possible, have X-Rays made while the unit is in their community, since the schedule has been set up to give as many people as possible an opportunity to get a chest X-Ray.

The assignments were announced at the monthly meeting yesterday of the Ministerial Association in the George Williams room of Central YMCA.

At its meeting yesterday the association also approved plans for a family relations program. It will include newspaper articles, counseling both by clergymen and a psychiatrist and will stress worship of the entire family together. The group also voted to sponsor a softball league for girls.

A three-man committee was appointed by the association to make periodic visits to the city and county jails and to the county home, county infirmary and Sylvan Retreat. Rev. Streett was appointed chairman and will be assisted by Captain Daniel K. Biggs of the Salvation Army and Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church.

Youth To Face Morals Charge

A 20-year-old Cumberland youth was charged in Trial Magistrates Court with carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old local girl yesterday.

Larry Graham Patton waived a preliminary hearing and bond was set at $1,000 for his appearance before the April grand jury for Allegany County on the charge. Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Patton to Allegany County Jail in default of the bond.

Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty said the offense took place last September while Patton was employed by the girl's father and boarded with her family.

Patton originally was brought to Juvenile Court last February on a charge of contributing to the young girl's delinquency. He escaped from a constable in the county building by climbing out a window of a wash room in the building.

The youth was picked up about two weeks later by Lt. James E. Van of the Cumberland Police Department and confined to the county jail to await yesterday's hearing.

The State's Attorney's office indicated the girl would be charged with being a delinquent minor. She at present is in custody of her parents.

C Of C Booklets Spread Fame Of The Queen City

The most popular publications of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce are four guidebooks which tell the story of the Queen City of the Alleghenies.

Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber, said 80,000 copies of the series have been printed during the last three years and that plans are being made to revise the booklets before the supply, now down to about 2,000, is exhausted.

The first is titled "Cumberland, Maryland," and tells in words and pictures the story of the city's people, their education and culture and medical and recreational facilities.

"Industries and Business" tells of the area industries which send their products over the seven seas and the business establishments which supply the needs of the Tri-State area.

Cumberland, Maryland, Military Birthplace of George Washington, the third booklet, describes the part Cumberland played in the life of the first president.

It contains views of the Col. Thomas Cresap monument, Washington's headquarters, Emmanuel Episcopal Church—site of old Fort Cumberland, and the old Toll Gate House on Route 40.

"Cumberland, Scenic Center of Western Maryland," describes the tourist and recreational facilities of Western Maryland. Shown are views of The Narrows, Lover's Leap, wayside picnic areas, Fairgo and one of the many caves which abound in this area.

A special envelope has been designed for the series of booklets.

Saeli said supplies of the guidebooks are sent to automobile clubs, tourist information centers, convention halls and to departments of information of several states.

Copies are also forwarded to officers and location selection committees of organizations and societies which might hold conventions here.

For example, the booklets and other information available have been sent to officials of the Department of Maryland, American Legion, along with an invitation to hold their convention here in 1958.

Many libraries, both public and private, have been sent copies for their files.

School children throughout the country, Saeli said, write asking for information about Cumberland. They are mailed copies of "Cumberland Enterprise," a four-page publication which tells the same story of this historic city.

Conference Set On Extra Costs For Flood Work

City Asked To Pay $89,000 For Sewer

City officials are going to Washington, D. C., tomorrow to talk with the Corps of Engineers concerning added costs to the flood control project.

The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the office of Sen. J. Glenn Beall.

Mayor Roy W. Eves told the Mayor and Council yesterday a primary reason for the meeting is a charge of $89,000 which the city is expected to assume for the relocation of a sewer by the Corps of Engineers.

City Engineer Charles Nuzum said the present flood wall along Wills Creek has hundreds of pipes through it from basements of properties in the area to connect with a sewer in the creek.

No Openings Allowed

Engineers have ruled that no openings are allowed through the new flood wall and plan to put an interceptor sewer behind the new wall, connecting all the pipes to it. Under existing agreements the city is liable for relocation of utilities. This type of expense, it was pointed out, is something unforeseen by the city and of which it had no warning.

Other such added financial matters are to be discussed.

These include a sewage condition in Ridgeley which Nuzum said yesterday would cost $3,000 to correct.

The problem is the result of sewer gas odors emanating from the sewer at Mineral Street in Ridgeley. Nuzum and R. E. Dexter, project engineer for the Army Engineers' met with the Ridgeley Flood Control Committee last Wednesday.

The committee said its main complaint was a health problem caused by four open manholes along a combination storm and sanitary sewer constructed in connection with flood control. Due to drainage flowing through the pipe and open grates on top, gasses escape. The only time it is not objectionable is when sewage is diluted by storm water.

To correct, it will be necessary to seal the tops of manholes and construct new catch basins with built-in traps so gases can't escape, Nuzum said. Dexter estimated cost at $750 each or a total of $3,000.

Nuzum said the Engineers should be notified the manholes are unsatisfactory and new sump traps should be installed.

Condemnation Actions

In other flood control action yesterday council agreed to start condemnation proceedings as follows:

Property of Theodore F. Shaffer for which it approved payment of $1,462.50 to the U. S. Treasurer for proceedings and administrative expense; Jeanette Gross et al., two tracts, with $3,003 to the Treasurer for costs; and Charles R. Wenrick heirs with $2,951 to the Treasurer for costs.

Council rescinded condemnation action involving the property of Frank D. Taylor. Satisfactory settlement has been reached, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said.

Amended was an order to pay $3,185 to the U. S. Treasurer instead of $4,094 for condemnation proceedings involving the Ridgeley athletic field. Finan said the government has agreed to assume a greater share of acquisition costs on a square foot basis and reduced the city's share of the cost.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, speaking in connection with the Ridgeley matter, said he believed the West Virginia town should share costs of the sewer correction, too.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan added that the question of the additional money is important enough that all members of council should be at the meeting in Washington.

Buchholtz said he believed records of money spent should be taken along and that City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson should be present.

Brother Nicholas Writes Chapter In Caves Book

Local readers, who desire to learn more about caves, can obtain an interesting book at the Cumberland Free Public Library, "Celebrated American Caves," in which appears a chapter written by Brother G. Nicholas, F.S.C. a member of the faculty of LaSalle High School, and one of the leading cave explorers of the United States.

The book was donated to the library by W. Wallace McKaig and is sponsored by the National Speleological Society.

Caves are a world in themselves, a world of history and legend, of exploration and discovery. They are laboratories where scientists study the relics of some of the earliest Americans, and they are repositories for prehistoric life.

And, according to the editors of the book, caves are also the homes of some of the world's strangest and rarest creatures—eyeless fish and sightless salamanders, blood-drinking bats, and birds that fly in total darkness.

The chapter submitted by Brother Nicholas is titled "Bones and a Railway." The local Christian brother is also featured in Sunday's metrogravure section of the Baltimore Sun.

The cover of the magazine section shows the muddy boots of a cave explorer and the caption explains that the individual is starting down headfirst into a famous cave near Cumberland.

Springtime Makes Bow

Spring officially arrives today at 10:21 a. m., in the wake of the season's worst storm which blanketed the tri-state area with an accumulation of almost 14 inches of snow the past weekend.

Frostburg and Garrett County bore the brunt of the storm and freezing temperatures with 13¼ inches of snow unofficially recorded in the Mountain City. Most of Garrett County had about 13 inches and the mercury dropped to nine degrees above zero at Oakland.

Cumberland had an official recording of 4.2 inches of snow according to Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park.

Temperatures began to rise yesterday and the warm sun and easterly winds began to melt much of the ice, snow and slush. Yesterday's high in the city was 37 degrees, the low 21 and at 6 p. m. the mercury registered 33 degrees.

State Roads Commission officials said most of the highways were clear and travel conditions were much better and not so icy.

Forecast for the first day of Spring is fair and warmer.

Two Teen-agers Take Appeals

Two Cumberland teen-agers who were sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction March 12 by Magistrate Donald W. Mason on motor vehicle violations and assault charges yesterday filed petitions for appeals in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Magistrate Mason sentenced James M. McMillan, 18, of 11 Putman Street to 14 months in the House of Correction after the youth pleaded guilty to four motor vehicle violations stemming from a wild ride in South Cumberland on a motorcycle the boy had taken without permission.

McMillan was released on $1,000 bond pending his appeal. Magistrate Mason said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McMillan, posted the bond.

A companion of McMillan, Daniel S. Wilson, 17, of 13 Putman Street, was given a six months sentence in the House of Correction for assault with a deadly weapon. Mason said Wilson was with McMillan, and threatened James Duffy, 19, of Elm Street with a knife.

Wilson is being held in Allegany County Jail pending the setting of his bond on the appeal. Magistrate Mason indicated the bond also would be $1,000.

The two youths were arrested by Officers James Swann and Wilbur E. Shank of the Cumberland Police Department Sunday, March 11. They were tried in Trial Magistrates Court the following day.

New York Firemen Get Safety Belts

Cumberland was ahead of New York City in installing safety belts in fire fighting vehicles, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan pointed out yesterday.

A New York paper, he said, this month carried a view of New York fire officials inspecting safety belts placed in vehicles after a series of accidents.

The Cumberland Fire Department, under the direction of Fire Chief Virgil Parker, began installing safety belts in all first line fire equipment last October 27.

Chief Parker said the belts will save lives, adding that when you see a hole in a windshield it is a good bet the person thrown through was killed or badly injured.

Visit Annapolis

Yesterday William A. Wilson, chairman of the board, and Matthew J. Mullaney, Democrat member of the board, were in Annapolis brushing up on voting laws with the assistance of the offices of the secretary of state and the attorney general.

Election officials were concerned principally with various technical problems encountered in changing over in some counties from the use of paper ballots to voting machines which will be required for the general election November 6.

Assistant Atty. Gen. David Kauffman of this city said it appears that all the counties with the possible exception of nearby Garrett will have the machines in operation for the May 7 primary. In Garrett, local officials are at an impasse in selecting the type of machine to be used.

Damage Suit Is Settled

A compromise settlement of a damage suit in which the plaintiff sought $1,500 for injuries sustained in an auto accident, has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court with the injured person getting $648.25 and costs.

The suit was filed by Frances Ann Lippold, a minor, through her parents Frances Leonarda Lippold and Richard Lippold, of Christie Road. Leslie J. Clark represented the plaintiff.

Defendant in the suit was Mary Margaret Woods, of Lonaconing, who was the driver of a car in which the Lippold child was a passenger.

According to the suit, the mishap occurred on December 14 as the defendant was traveling south on State Route 55 near Vale Summit. The car left the highway, hit some trees and came to a stop on its side.

The plaintiff sustained a fractured left arm and bruises and required hospital care. William Walsh was counsel for the defendant.
